SUMMARY.

The Allies demand the relinquishment of Crete, the ceding of the Aegean Islands, and the delimitation of Thrace.

Adrianople must be surrendered also. An answer is demanded by 4 o'clock to-day.

Failing the acceptance of these conditions, the Allies will break off the negotiations.

The Allies are said to have learned that Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander, is unable to resume hostilities.

Most of the London press are convinced that the Powers must intervene if the Conference fails.

A Turkish sailing ship, through striking a floating mine in Smyrna Bay, was accidentally blown up.

Two thousand Turks, the garrison of the island of Chios, are said to have surrendered unconditionally.

Liberal newspapers declare that the Government does not intend to precipitate a general election.

A "grievance hearer" was appointed by the London North-West Railway Company to investigate the men's complaints.

After a prolonged experiment the company profess themselves satisfied with the results.

Spanish revolutionaries are planning a great coup by means of a general strike.

Lord Hardinge is troubled by deafness as a result of the bomb explosion.

He suffers from want of sound rest owing to the constant aching of his wounds.

Breton fishermen refused to adopt new methods for securing more plentiful catches.

In consequence 116 sardine factories, affecting 50,000 people, have now been closed.

The Portuguese Cabinet has resigned. Senhor Almeida is attempting to form a Ministry.

Mr. Wm. Rockefeller's whereabouts are still unknown. He is wanted to give evidence regarding the alleged money trust.

The remains of the late Mr. Whitelaw Reid were given an impressive funeral on Saturday.

Mr. Taft, Mr. James Bryce, Sir Ernest Shackleton, and Mr. Roosevelt were present at the ceremony.

Motor bandits raided a jeweller's shop in Chicago and escaped under fire of the police.

Final returns for Blayney on Saturday slightly improved the position of Mr. Beeby.

Mr. Beeby has now 1157 votes, Mr. Whittington 1799, and Mr. Johnston 1121.

The second ballot will be taken probably in about a fortnight.

Mr. Beeby considers the significant feature of the contest was the falling away of the Liberal vote.

At a Cabinet meeting the Premier expressed great satisfaction at the fight put up by the Labour candidate.

He hoped that in the second ballot no Labour vote would be given of the Conservative side.

Mr. J. Grant, general secretary of the P. L. L., declares every Labourite should do his best to defeat Mr. Beeby.

A straight-out opponent was better than one supposed to be "as good as a Labour man."

Mr. A. A. Lysaght, the well-known Wollongong solicitor, has been selected by the southern miners for the State Parliament.

The majority of the men declare that the existence of the Labour party has not improved their condition.

The Political Labour League is getting ready for Federal and State elections.

Nominations are invited for the Federal seats of New England, Robertson, and Eden-Monaro.

The executive is taking active steps to secure for Labour the State seat of Yass.

Mr. Willis, Speaker of the N.S.W. Assembly, has been interviewed on his arrival at Auckland.

He said he believed public opinion favoured "wiping the Wadeites out of existence."

He looked forward confidently to a public endorsement of his attitude as Speaker.

"I feel confident we have not lost ground in the country," said Mr. M'Gowen (Premier) yesterday.

Mr. Flowers, Vice-President of the Executive Council, endorsed the Premier's views.

The next general election must take place under the redistribution scheme approved by Parliament.

Delays at the State printing office confront the Government with a serious difficulty.

The office at present is absolutely congested, the block practically amounting to a state of chaos.

Mr. Fisher states that the Queensland loan renewal is not the first transaction of the kind at 4 per cent.

The new system of cheap week-end cables was brought into operation on Saturday.

Messages will be charged for at the rate of 6d a word, with a minimum per message of 12s.

Cable letters thus despatched from Sydney will be delivered by post in England on Tuesday.

Mr. Justice Hodges has been constituted a Royal Commission regarding the Chinn allegations.

The Federal Executive Council has asked him to report on the case as quickly as possible.

The holidays appear to have had an unsettling effect on miners in South Coast collieries.

To-day's meeting of employees has been postponed, pending the publication of Judge Scholes's report on the Russell case.

Considerable agitation is caused by the situation in South Maitland mining fields.

Rev. M. J. O'Reilly says it is too soon to speak with much confidence of the New Bursary Endowment Act.

Judge Scholes's report on the Russell case was made available on Saturday.

His Honor found that Russell was dismissed for an offence of which he was innocent.

H. H. Hardwick, the well-known boxer and swimmer, has retired from active amateur sport.

The ptomaine cases at Wanganui, New Zealand, now number over 200, some being reported at New Plymouth.

No deaths have occurred. Doctors are puzzled as to the cause of the epidemic.

A 5-year-old girl was bitten by an adder at Nabiac, and died shortly afterwards.

While walking at Fitzroy last night a miner named Ingham received a revolver bullet in the thigh.

Some youths had been noticed previously in the locality, one of whom carried a revolver.

The new receiving depot of the British Immigration League was opened on Saturday at the Glebe.

Mr. A. A. Dangar, in the presence of a large gathering, performed the opening ceremony.

Over 1000 Chinese attended the first annual picnic of the Republic of China at Cabarita on Saturday.

Retail prices of fruit should be at least 25 per cent. cheaper than it is at present.

Heavy supplies are available, but the big drop in wholesale prices has not affected retail values.

Many retail dealers are making from 100 to 200 per cent.

English mails by the Maloja, dated London, Friday, December 6, are expected for delivery at the G.P.O. to-day.

Sydney, Melbourne, and Adelaide Stock Exchanges re-open to-day after the Christmas and New Year holidays.

A High-Grade Suit and a Guinea Saved—That's My Offer to You

It is to the go-ahead, keen-witted young fellows of twenty or sixty that I wish to speak to-day.

You've heard of Beau Brummell, the famous English dandy.

He said, "All doors open to the well-groomed man."

And he knew.

Nowadays we would say that commercial and social success comes easiest to the man of brains—and smart attire.

But here's the point.

To be well dressed a man need not be extravagant.

Let him accept my offer, and he'll get a high-grade, fashionable suit at a guinea less than he'll pay elsewhere.

Just look what I can do for you.

I will make for 63/- a Suit that will equal the Credit Tailor's 84/- Suit.

I can do that because I haven't the heavy expenses and bad debts of the credit tailor.

I sell for cash, and I buy at the mills for cash.

This simple and economical plan leaves me free to give my whole attention to the making of perfect Suits. For note this—

Every Suit I make carries this Money-back Guarantee:—

I, FRANK FANNING, Specialist Tailor, hereby undertake to make a Suit of Clothes to your entire satisfaction, and in the event of the Suit proving unsatisfactory in any respect I agree to refund the whole of the purchase money.

You see, I am bound to please you in everything. But I know I can do that.

The fabrics I use were all carefully selected. My staff is composed entirely of expert Cutters and Tailors.

All my Suits are made to fit snugly, look smart and neat, and keep their shape.

Well, there's no need to say more.

Just come in and examine some of the suits awaiting delivery.

Better come to-day while you're thinking about it.

Remember, my offer is to save you a guinea and to give you complete satisfaction, or hand back every penny you paid.

A WORD TO COUNTRY RESIDENTS. I can save you a Guinea too. Write to-day for my Style Book and 72 Patterns, Self-measurement Form, and Tape. You can be fitted as accurately as if you had been measured in my Showrooms.

My other Suits are 42/, 50/, and 70/ to Measure. Representing Suits at 63/, 70/, and 90/ to Order elsewhere.

FRANK FANNING

SPECIALIST TAILOR,

189 GEORGE-ST. WEST, near Grace Bros.
468 GEORGE-ST., near Market-st.
And at 30 OXFORD-ST., next Winns', Drapers.
231 BOURKE-ST, MELB. (Opposite Theatre Royal).

Mr. Frank Fanning,
Specialist Tailor,
189 George-street, near Grace Bros.
Please send me patterns of your suitings from 42/ cash to order. I may not order a suit, but I am sufficiently interested in your guinea-saving proposals to inspect your samples.

CHAPTER II.

I FIND MYSELF IN DISGRACE.

When a man of my years contracts love he often has it in a malignant form. True, I had not lived through two and thirty springs without an extra beat in the pulse at the approach of a woman; all men are made that way unless there is something missing in their machinery. I had treasured a dropped glove, I had stolen a kiss, if that can be called stolen which there was little effort to defend; but I must have been a sore trial to Master Cupid in his more serious moods, for with a new spring I had cast the glove away as rubbish, and seen many lips which pleased me better than those I had touched. Now, as it were, a shot at a venture had gone home deeply. There was a sudden singing in my heart; and for a serving maid!

It was absurd. A glance, a few words, a kissed hand, were surely small matters; yet no argument could do away with this new experience which stirred within me, and which was not without a sense of pain. I did not call it love, even your physicians cannot always diagnose a disease so promptly; besides, the symptoms were misleading. No thoughts of a wife, a home, and peaceful days, came to my mind; longings more primitive than these had possession of me. I wanted to take this woman and hold her by force, against her will if necessary, hold her until she surrendered. I wanted to dare any man to touch her, or even to look at her; to crush everyone who should presume to declare there was any woman in the world her equal. The fact that she was a serving maid counted for nothing. The world had made a mistake. From a momentary vision of red lips and a rounded chin I had judged her beautiful, and that high breed in hand and foot must make her a queen whatever men might call her. It should be my mission to show the world its folly, and set this woman on a throne worthy of her.

For two days duty kept me constantly about the palace. King Philip wore the crown only because he was a strong man, and must watch every corner lest an enemy should lurk therein. More than once a corner had been found which was not empty, and a speedy death had followed, or a dungeon at the Castle of Syere which was worse. During these two days I watched eagerly for my serving maid. Great events were at hand in Dravstadt; many guests were already lodged in the palace, and every hour added to the number. In passages and corridors I saw many serving maids, some pert and pretty enough, some so poor in charm that the trooper in the Guard who was proverbially unlucky with women would not have turned his head to look at them; but of my serving maid I caught not a glimpse.

So, waiting and watching, I hugged my secret, and then found it was no secret at all. It was on the third day that Huismann touched me on the shoulder.

"You have a key to the small door in the alley yonder?"

"Yes, Captain."

"I want it."

"Have you lost your own?" I asked, as I gave him the key.

"No, but I must have yours. Sorry, Heselton, but his Majesty's orders."

"I have committed some offence; may I know what it is?"

"That door is not put there there to assist you in your love affairs," he answered. "They are the King's words, not mine. I am not interested, but a word of warning, Heselton, the giving of that key was a sign of favour, and it is not wise to take liberties with the favours of a King."

"I thought it was for the King's safety; I never regarded it as a favour."

I said it a little hotly, and Huismann frowned, a danger signal it would be folly to ignore. He was the Captain of the Guard, a solid Teuton, who could roar and behave like a mad bull upon occasion, but was a good fellow after his fashion. For him there was only one point of view—his own; to argue with him was as useless as giving spectacles to a blind man. By slow deliberation he had arrived at a fantastic code of honour, as wrong-headed as it was unshakable; but to do him justice he lived up to it, which I counted for righteousness in him. Most men in the country had long ago come to the conclusion that King Philip seldom did what was right, although they kept their opinion to themselves; Huismann was convinced he could do no wrong; and took every opportunity of forcing this view upon all with whom he came in contact. It followed that the King thought a great deal of the Captain and that he was a dangerous man to offend. Policy made me friendly with him—yes, and inclination, too. I like a man who lives up to the light that is in him if that light be only the dim illumination of a rush.

"It was a small matter, easily explained," I said carelessly; "the rescue of a woman from her too forcible admirers. Do me a favour, Captain, and tell me who it was who talked of the affair."

"Let it rest," he answered. "If you are careful the King may be persuaded to return you the key."

"If I knew the man I would fit him for a bed in the hospital for a few days."

"I believe you would," laughed Huismann, "but how if the babbler were a woman?"

"A woman?"

"You're the kind of man likely to have more than one affair on your hands at a time, and women, grown jealous, play the devil. I remember, once in Berlin—" and then he stopped. It was a habit of his to give the prelude of a story which he never finished. Perhaps he feared to blurt out the reason why he had come to Dravstadt. "Ach! This is no time for tale telling. You will have your troop in the audience chamber of the palace by three o'clock, Heselton. The Count arrives this afternoon," and he turned on his heels and left me.

A woman! Was she, after all, like other serving maids, a babbler, incapable of a still tongue if by chance her powers of seduction were called in question by her fellows? Because a man had bowed and kissed her hand, must she boast of it, and perhaps seek to enhance her reputation by mentioning that it was no ordinary man who did it, but an officer in the Guard? Had I not had much work to do that day, I should have brooded over such thoughts. I was in the mood to be soured by them.

Great events were to happen in the capital consequent upon a marriage which the King had arranged after long scheming. There was to be feasting and much entertainment in the palace, a great military display was to be given in the royal park; the city was to be en fete and full of rejoicing for days; and for the poor much preparation had been made at the monastery of St. Cuthbert, where these humbler guests of his Majesty were to be fed. So the King sought to ingratiate himself with his subjects, and provide that nothing should interfere with his will.

I had made no close study of the rights of succession to the throne of Saxe-Oldenburg. It was an intricate business, and possibly no one could have said decidedly who the real and rightful heir was, for during half a dozen generations one family after another had seized the supreme power, and retained it just so long as they were strong enough to fight for it successfully, and diplomatic enough to escape the interference of the European Powers. A strong man had arisen in Philip the Fourth. Through rebellion and bloodshed he had fought his way to the throne, and, in spite of the fact that he was hated by the majority of his subjects, he had held it ever since. He had formed the Guard, binding to himself by good pay and a judicious blindness to their faults a set of reckless men who served their own ends in serving him. He had been twice married, but no children had been given him. His heir was a niece, Princess Suzanne, but more often spoken of as the Lady of Syere—a title which had some contempt in it. In the castle of that name, situated towards the northern frontier, she was virtually a prisoner. Although it seemed certain she had had no part in them, two risings had taken place with the avowed object of placing her on the throne in her uncle's stead. The conspirators had been cruelly dealt with, so I had heard, for the second of these risings took place before I came to Dravstadt; and the King had been pleased to grant the castle of Syere to his niece as a residence on condition that she did not leave it without his permission, and he took the necessary precautions to see that his conditions were complied with. Whilst he lived he was determined that she should not mount the throne, but he did not forget that she was the only one of his family left to come after him.

HEAD COVERED WITH CRUST LIKE SCALES.

Mays Cottage, Gallants-lane, East Farleigh, Maidstone, Eng.—"I was a sufferer from a kind of skin disease. My head became covered with a thick crust like scales of a fish, and the irritation was unbearable. My head itched fearfully, and my hair came out so that I was quite bald. I had suffered for years with this scalp irritation, especially in the spring and autumn, when it was almost unbearable. If I scratched it became a running sore. The spring of 1910 it came on worse than ever. My head was completely covered with a thick brown crust, and I was so distressed I did not know what to do.

"I began to use Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. After a few days the irritation stopped, and the crust peeled off like scales. I continued using the Cuticura Ointment and washing my head with Cuticura Soap. My hair began to grow again. In three weeks my head was clean. The crust came off in flakes as big and thick as a sixpence. In another three weeks my head was thickly covered with hair. Now I am entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. L. Marsh, January 15, 1912.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a sample of each, with 32-page Skin Book, will be mailed free on application to R. Towns and Co., Dept. M., Sydney, N.S.W.—Advt.

"THE PARISH PRIEST."

The quiet comedy of parish life, produced by Allen Doone at the Palace Theatre on Saturday night, afforded mental refreshment to a crowd of playgoers, pleased to be led from the high-road of bustling dramas and musical pieces, into the by-paths of domestic sentiment. The new story deals with the misunderstandings of two pairs of lovers. The Rev. John Whalen is the tolerant, kindly and affectionate counsellor, who makes them all happy again. A masterly tactician, and a most lovable man, is this Roman Catholic priest, and the portrait of the gentle and refined Irishman, with his underlying sense of humour, and his deep knowledge of human nature, is very tenderly drawn by Mr. Allen Doone. There are no great trials for the Rev. John Whalen. He is fortunate in missing the social tragedies which made the "Village Priest" so full of anguish in the French drama, translated by Sydney Grundy; nor does he resemble the hot-headed, impulsive Protestant pastor, shown us by Mr. Harry Plimmer, in "Lovers' Lane." The American stage evidently possesses a treasury of these pretty plays. Daniel L. Hart's new comedy is doubtless almost as widely known in the United States as "Lovers' Lane." But it has not such a variety of material in it, and harps too much, perhaps, upon the theme of reconciliation between loving hearts temporarily estranged. None the less the dramatist is a skilful writer, and keeps up the interest, nowhere more vividly than in the effective last act. The reception by the audience was remarkably cordial; some mirthful interjections from frivolous ladies in the stalls seem to have reached the ears of Mr. Doone without disturbing the rest of the house. The actor addressed a manly rebuke to the offenders at the end of the second act, and was warmly applauded; but we can assure him, that the interruptions were not audible in the dress circle, and therefore unheard in the gallery.

The curtain rises upon the lawn of Dr. Cassidy's house, with a beautiful view of a distant village nestling in the bosom of a well-wooded valley, bounded by a range of hills rising towards a sunset sky. Dr. Cassidy, the district surgeon, has just transferred his practice to his much-admired young assistant, Dr. Edward Walsh (so pronounced on the stage, but spelled "Welsh" on the programme), with a strong hint that he had better marry his handsome daughter, Agnes, who is an heiress. Agnes, who is a spitfire, has just broken off her engagement with Frank Dougherty, through jealousy, and, in a fit of pique, accepts her father's suggestion—and Walsh. Unknown to her, there is a serious complication. Walsh has been in love from childhood with the good priest's niece and ward, Helen Durkin, and is only proposing to marry Agnes for social and financial reasons. The Rev. John Whalen is pained beyond expression at the discovery of such treachery. Vainly he tries to dissuade young Walsh from such a shameful act, reminding him that "there was no necessity for a Hell until the serpent Ambition stole into the hearts of Men." The old pastor thinks deeply over the situation, longing to spare his sweet-natured, sincere-hearted ward the sorrow that lies before her. His masterly pulling of harmless little strings, his patience, his humour, and his tact in achieving this, form the play. For one thing he insists that Walsh shall himself tell his youthful playmate that he intends to throw her over. The news first reaches Walsh's brother, Jim, a working miner, whose honest heart is filled with rage at the idea of such treatment to their little Helen. The girl runs in just after the old priest has separated the two brothers, who have come to blows, and sees that something is wrong with "the only father she has ever known." One of the most touching scenes in the play occurs where she makes the brothers carry her on their clasped hands, as in childhood, to kiss her guardian "good night." It is then that her heart is rent by the disclosure that Walsh's engagement to Agnes has been announced in the family, and is to be made public. In the last act, brightened by a delightfully humorous scene between Father Whalen and Michael Sullivan, an old retainer, the diplomatist breaks down the stubborn pride which has prevented Agnes from confessing that the man she really loves is Dougherty. He further contrives that the fortunate Dougherty shall hear the sweet admission from an inner room. "Come, be sensible, Agnes, and make a good bargain. By the way, the bargain-counter is the first door to the right!"; and the mystified girl, passing through it, finds herself in her lover's arms. The reconciliation between the shamefaced Walsh and the deeply-injured Helen is even more difficult. Playgoers should not miss seeing it—so naturally managed, so touching, and so satisfactory.

Hitherto Mr. Doone has won popularity here as a romantic Irish actor, appearing chiefly in costume parts with songs in every act. On Saturday, strange to say, he proved strongest in a line of character quite remote from all his previous efforts. The result raised him in the estimation of Sydney playgoers, who will henceforth remember him as the elderly, frail-looking Father Whalen, the very picture of a scholar and a gentleman, irreproachably dressed, and with a gold-topped blackthorn stick, upon which he slightly leans. The actor was too subdued in the first act, where he was sometimes almost inaudible, but his portrait of the gentle-voiced, dignified cleric with his gift of quiet humour was perfectly drawn. The whole piece was played in a pure comedy vein. Miss Edna Keely, with her happy, girlish voice, was admirable as Helen, who, in her youthful sorrow, wept afresh at the sight of the altar, which touched her vision as "a blaze of memories." Mr. Ronald W. Riley played with care and acceptance the difficult part of the remorseful, soft-hearted Walsh, unequal to persistence in a bad action, which brought tears to Helen's eyes. Miss Ethel Bashford conveyed a good idea of the haughty, easily-angered Agnes; and Mr. Clive Farnham showed discretion in handling the thankless role of Dougherty. Mr. Frank Cullenane's emotion as Jim, the generous miner, was convincing, though necessarily the burly toiler looked a little out of place on Dr. Cassidy's lawn; and he shared in a comedy scene with Miss Ethel Grist, an actress of broad humour, whose confidence carried off the improbabilities of Katherine Corrigan's vivacity. Mr. Tom Buckley, with a rich, pleasant brogue, caused many a laugh as Michael Sullivan, a loquacious Irish man-of-all-work; and Mr. Onslow Edgeworth's anger in the last act as the aged Dr. Cassidy was naturally expressed. "The Parish Priest" should fill the house for some time to come.

CHINESE TRADE.

FUTURE BENEFIT TO AUSTRALIA.

"WE WANT A FAIR DEAL."

Over a thousand Chinese attended the first annual picnic of the Chung Wha Mun Kwok, or Republic of China, which was held at Correy's Gardens, Cabarita, on Saturday.

At the conclusion of dinner patriotic speeches were delivered from the platform outside the pavilion. It was evident that the Chinese present were proud of their country's new nationhood. References to the Republic and to the men who fought for it were loudly cheered.

Mr. Yee Wing, who presided, said the new Republic was an outward sign of the determination of the Chinese to prove themselves in the eyes of the world. They owed a lot to Dr. Sun Yet Sen, whose patriotic actions had enabled China to assume a foremost position among the nations. He hoped this celebration would be the forerunner of many others to keep in memory China's birthday as a republic. (Applause.)

Mr. Samuel Chan proposed "The Day We Celebrate." He said the new order of things should result in material benefit to Australia. But to bring that about there should be a certain amount of reciprocity between the Commonwealth and China in the matter of laws. He did not desire Australians to act to their own detriment, but he hoped that they would recognise the necessity of making more elastic provisions for the interchange of commercial, educational, and missionary facilities between the two countries. The only way Australia could have access to China's markets was by genuine international comradeship, with due regard to self-preservation. All the Chinese asked was for a fair deal, and he thought Australia would benefit by it.

TRAM AWARD.

BRISBANE COMPANY'S APPEAL.

THE RULE NISI.

With reference to the order nisi granted last Thursday to the Brisbane Tramways Company by the Chief Justice of the High Court (Sir Samuel Griffith), in connection with the appeal against the award of Mr. Justice Higgins in the Federal Arbitration Court, some additional particulars have been obtained.

Mr. Feez, K.C., and Mr. Henchman, of Queensland, who were instructed by Messrs. Thynne and Macartney, of Brisbane, and Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Company, of Sydney, did not argue the legal points involved in the 5th and 6th grounds of appeal at any great length, it being only necessary to make out a prima facie case for an order nisi for a prohibition. The main affidavit read in support of the application was that of Alfred Graham Stephens, Traffic Superintendent of the Brisbane Tramways Company, and at present acting manager of the company, in the absence of Mr. Joseph S. Badger, the manager. His statements, which are borne out by the resolution passed on Friday by the Brisbane Tramways Employees' Association, are substantially to the following effect. After referring to Mr. Justice Higgins's award he proceeds:—With a large number of members of the employees, I have been on terms of considerable intimacy in connection with the performance of my duties, and they have been in the habit of consulting me in respect of their duties, and even their private affairs. It is part of my duty to receive and consider any complaints and grievances from members of the Traffic Department, and I have always been in a position to be conversant with the feelings and wishes of the great majority of the company's employees. I know of the existence of no feeling of discontent or dissatisfaction with the wages, hours of labour, and other conditions of employment on the part of such employees, save as regards the matter of increased wages on April 1 and July 1, 1911, the circumstances as to the request for which, and the grounds thereof, are detailed in my evidence before the Court, and except with regard to the question of the right to wear the badge of membership of the association, at no time in the year 1912 did the employees of the Traffic Department, or any of them, or of any department, approach me, or, as I verily believe, the manager, or any other officials of the company, with a request for the redress of any grievances, or the granting of any further privileges with respect to hours, wages, or other conditions of labour, or with respect to any of the matters dealt with in the said award; nor has there been to my knowledge, or that of the manager or any other officials of the company at any time during such years, any dispute between the company and its employees or any of them with reference to any of the matters mentioned in the logs and prices, or any of the matters dealt with in the award.

At all times during 1910 and 1911, and, except with regard to the matter of the badge during 1912, the company and its employees, so far as my knowledge and that of the manager and other officials goes, were working in perfect harmony, and, except with regard to the badge, no dispute existed as to any of the matters mentioned in the logs, or in the complaints, or as to any of the matters dealt with by the award, or at any time during such years. At the hearing before Mr. Justice Higgins, 65 employees (with the exception of one), who had formerly been members of the Brisbane Tramways Employees' Association, gave evidence that they had no desire that the complaints should be proceeded with, or that the claimant association should represent them in any way whatever, and that they were thoroughly satisfied with their wages, and all the conditions of their employment, and that they had no grievances whatever or any dispute with the company. The company is aggrieved by the award, and is desirous of obtaining a prohibition against the enforcement of the same on the ground that the learned President of the Court had no jurisdiction to make the award as to the matters, or any of the matters, dealt with thereby.

The formal grounds of appeal are:—(1) That there was no dispute between applicant company and any member of the claimant association at any material times, or as to any matters dealt with by the award; (2) that there was no such dispute extending beyond any one State; (3) that there was no such dispute extending to Queensland; (4) that at the time of the making of the award there was no person in the applicant company's employment who was interested in the award; (5) that section 40 of the Commonwealth Conciliation and Arbitration Act, 1904 and 1911, is ultra vires, so far as it purports to authorise the Court or President to direct what preference shall be given to unionists; and therefore that part of the award which directs preference to be given to the members of the claimant association is invalid; (6) that the award is bad, as being contrary to the Queensland Industrial Peace Act, 1912, section 34 of which prohibits preference.

The order nisi was made returnable before the High Court at Melbourne on February 24, with liberty to applicants to file further affidavits if required. It is expected that it will be some time later than the date mentioned before argument is taken on the motion to make the order nisi absolute.

MOTOR MISHAP.

SUNKEN HYDROPLANE.

SUCCESSFULLY RAISED.

The hydroplane Rainbow, which took a sudden dive to the bottom of the harbour last Thursday morning while travelling at 35 miles an hour, was raised on Saturday afternoon, with the assistance of divers and hoisting machinery and a lighter.

On being lifted to the surface the hydroplane was taken to the boatyards of Mr. William Holmes, at M'Mahon's Point, for repairs. She was considerably damaged. A large hole 3ft long and 9in wide had been torn in the flooring. It was a clean hole, and the flooring surrounding it was not split.

Mr. Holmes stated that the new floor would be in the vessel by Wednesday, and she would race on Saturday next in the motor boat championship. Her engines were only slightly damaged. Two other hydroplanes will be launched at the same yards on Wednesday next, the Peerless, for Mr. Monk, of Manly (the Rainbow's owner), and Excuse Me, another speedy craft, for Messrs. Taylor and Harvey. All three hydroplanes will compete in the motor boat championship.

SAVINGS BANK COMPETITION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In announcing that the Commonwealth Savings Bank is about to commence business in this State, you made reference to the efforts of the manager, Mr. Miller, to secure the absorption of the State Savings Banks by the newly-created Federal one. With this end in view, Mr. Miller placed himself in communication with the several State Ministries, apparently in the belief that he could succeed where Mr. Fisher had failed. Questions submitted by me in the Senate elicited the information that, in taking this course, Mr. Miller was acting on his own initiative, that, though the Government approved, it had not instigated the renewed negotiations.

To my mind, Mr. Miller's action is highly reprehensible. By it he has projected himself into the political arena. It ought not to be overlooked that that gentleman is where he is to carry out the duties assigned to him by the Act under which he holds his appointment. Nowhere in that Act is there any authority for him to enter into negotiations for the absorption of the State banks, any more than there is for him to seek to absorb or nationalise the existing private banks. The question of the future relationship of the Federal Savings Bank to the State Savings banks is a political question—is indeed one of the political questions which will play a part in the coming election, and as such is not among the duties assigned to Mr. Miller.

It was understood that at the time of his appointment that gentleman had expressed himself as determined that the bank, while under his control, should be free from political influence. This is as it should be, but equally imperative is it that the bank, as represented by its manager, should keep out of politics. Mr. Fisher might with every propriety, have renewed his efforts to swallow up the State banks, for that is the policy of his Government and his party. But I submit that it is an entirely different thing, when Mr. Miller, without even the doubtful justification of Ministerial prompting, elects to take a hand in a purely political matter.

Happily, Mr. Miller's efforts have failed. A very casual knowledge of politics would have warned him that they never had any chance of success. What the States refused to surrender to Mr. Fisher twelve months ago they were hardly likely to concede to Mr. Miller on the eve of an election, when the electors themselves will have an opportunity of making their wishes known regarding the attempt to direct their State banks to Federal control, and Federal purposes—those State banks which have not only satisfactorily served their individual interests as citizens, but which have also proved such valuable accessories to the functions of their State Governments.

I am, etc.,
E. D. MILLEN.

AMUSEMENTS.

CRITERION THEATRE.

"Milestones" drew another crowded audience on Saturday at the Criterion Theatre, where the artists, through under-playing, were occasionally inaudible in the back stalls—a matter which Mr. Julius Knight will doubtless see to. There will be another matinee of this charming comedy on Wednesday.

THEATRE ROYAL.

At the Theatre Royal "Faust" filled the house on Saturday, when the many supernatural suggestions of the drama, including the disappearance in a cloud of steam of Mephisto when defeated by Valentine, according forgiveness to Marguerite at the last, were generally admired, the Brocken dance being especially applauded. On Wednesday there will be a matinee.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

"Florodora" will be witnessed this evening by 140 of the Western Australian Cadets, who will march from their camp to Her Majesty's Theatre, and play their band en route and outside the playhouse before going in. The cadets will be the guests of J. C. Williamson, Ltd. "Florodora" drew an immense audience on Saturday. The Royal Comic Opera Company is now ready to produce "The Sunshine Girl" at any moment. There will be a matinee of Florodora on Wednesday.

ADELPHI THEATRE.

At the Adelphi Theatre two performances of "The Monk and the Woman" were required to meet the holiday demands for admission to this picturesquely-staged melodrama, in which Messrs. Geo. Cross, Thos. Lloyd, Kay Souper, Misses Bramley and Ferguson are prominently concerned. George Marlow, Ltd., accordingly announces an extra matinee for Saturday next.

WEST'S PICTURES.

Patrons of West's Olympia and Glaciarium Theatres at both the afternoon and evening performances were no doubt pleased to find on the programme a new play, "When the Mask Falls," with the popular favourite—Miss Asta Nielsen—in the leading role. The standard of Miss Nielsen's previous successes was well maintained in the present romantic drama. De Groen's Orchestra supplied the incidental music.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.

The star feature at the Crystal Palace Theatre to-day will be "When Woman Loves," an exciting drama, contrasting the love of two women, the one unscrupulous and desperate, the other confident. Other subjects include: "Mixed Sample Trunks," "Cook's Bid for Fame," and "Paying the Board Bill." Williams' Weekly issue of January 6, 1913, including the naval wedding of Staff-surgeon F. S. Robinson to Miss Grace Plunket-Acheson will also be screened.

THE J. D. WILLIAMS' THEATRES.

At the Lyric Theatre to-day the star feature will be "The Emerald Necklace," which shows how a priceless necklace becomes an object of exceptional interest and exciting action. The Colonial Theatre will screen "The Redskin Raiders," an exciting tale of pioneer life in the Great North-west. The star feature at the Empress Theatre will be "Patriotism." The scenes in this film have been taken by the Cines Co., in the Balkan War zone. A delightful love story has been woven round this series of war pictures.

GOUNOD'S "FAUST" AT TOWN HALL.

Mr. Ernest Truman (the city organist) has, through his indefatigable study, and performance of a long list of the classic operas, succeeded well in rousing public interest in them.

Gounod's "Faust" was chosen for interpretation on Saturday evening at the Town Hall. Mr. Truman treated the work with skilful hands, the performance being highly appreciated.

THE ALHAMBRA.

A new company of variety artists scored successfully at this theatre on Saturday. The management announces that the Ladies' Physical Culture Competition will conclude on Saturday night next, when also the lady surfers' cash prizes will be presented. In this week's vaudeville the position of honour goes to Vaughan and Berry, hand balancers and equilibrists, Carlton and Croon, serio comics and dancers, were effective, and Miss Nellie Dracosa, character comedienne, should not be missed.

THE PRINCESS THEATRE.

The new minstrel first part at Bain's on Saturday took a fresh lease of popularity, strengthened by quite a number of new artists. Hyman and Alton were excellent as comedy acrobats, and also Stratton and Gilbert, were prominent as comedy patter comedians. The Tyrells gave a very enjoyable turn, and Olive Robinson also showed a versatility of talent.

THE AUSTRALIAN.

A Parisian society drama in "Redeemed by Fire" was enthusiastically received on Saturday. Miss Shipway was heard to good effect in illustrated songs. To-day "The Work of His Hands" and "Vanity Fair" are distinctive films.

GRAND THEATRE.

"Death or Glory," a love story of the Napoleonic era, in which the "little corporal" himself was the central figure, headed the programme on Saturday. To-day the distinctive film is "The Oath of Stephen Huller," a modern society drama. A "Broncho Billy" picture is included, together with another drama, "The Informer," and the usual proportion of comics. "Winter Sport on Mount Kosciusko" depicts authentically the fascination of life in the snow clad regions.

AMERICAN THEATRE.

"When Youth Meets Youth," a pathetic drama; and "The Risky Experiment," a stage drama, appealed to large audiences on Saturday. To-day drama items figure largely on the list. There is one of western life, another "In the Tents of Agre," descriptive of Egypt, and also a pathetic film, "When Memory Calls," in among the usual representations of comedy subjects are:—"The Lady Killer" and "The Unlucky Mirror."

NATIONAL AMPHITHEATRE.

The National's standard of vaudeville entertainment is improving each week. Saturday's variety of turns could not fail to satisfy its most difficult patron. The time allotted to the Harmonising Bohemians in their entertainment within an entertainment is not begrudged. Their solos and part-singing, of much vocal merit, and yet not without humorous touches here and there, were greeted with hearty applause. Julius Roscius' tenor song "The Stars" deserves special mention. Julius Garrison's character-acting in "The Italian Fruit Seller" is distinctive in its emotional contrasts. Perdrini with his baboon also continues to achieve popularity. A newcomer to pique the audience's curiosity was "Zif," in some smart comedy cartoons. His turn had the advantage of novel ideas. Another welcome item was the return after many years' absence of the light-voiced tenor John Fuller, whose songs were well received. Other good entertainers in the programme were Le France, the Cliff Quartette, and Ted Herberte.

BUD ATKINSON'S CIRCUS.

Large crowds still patronise the circus and Wild West show of Bud Atkinson at the Moore Park Stadium. Unstinted appreciation was extended to the dry dive of Daredevil Desperado on Saturday. Trick horsemanship, exhibited in diversified styles by Russians, cowboys, Mexicans, Indians, and Australians, provoked great excitement among the spectators. While the De Coma aerialists, in trapeze gyrations, "Tex" M'Leod and his compeers in the skilful lariat display, the holding up of a mail-coach on the Western high road, as well as Joe Bailey's great feats, the Mangean troupe's acrobatic turn, and the many other stirringly primitive acts, made up an interesting entertainment.

KINEMACOLOUR.

Admiration and pleasure were freely expressed by crowded attendances at the Lyceum on Saturday afternoon and evening in relation to the Kinemacolour pictures shown there. Even after having seen the best of animated pictures in monotone one is obliged to marvel anew at the developments in cinematography; the exhibition of these films, in which the colours of the original subjects are faithfully reproduced without the agency of paint and brush. Two sets of scenes at the great Delhi Durbar were, as shown in Kinemacolour, most eloquent descriptions in action and colour, which cannot easily be forgotten by those who saw them. A series of Egyptian sunset scenes were characterised by singular charm, while a series of representations of well-known flowers moved the beholders to the heartiest applause at the true reproduction of colour and beauty. The remainder of the programme is well up to the Lyceum standard.

NEW ANGLICAN CHURCH.

The Archbishop of Sydney laid the foundation stone of a new Anglican Church at Roseville on Saturday. Last March the district was subdivided so as to make Lindfield and Roseville a new parish, and the new building is a sign of progress under the new regime. The pastor is the Rev. L. J. M'Donald. The church will seat about 240 persons. It is to be built of brick. The site is close to the railway station.

AWFUL BAD LEGS.

RESULT OF ACCIDENTS.

HUSBAND AND WIFE CURED BY ZAM-BUK.

Mr. W. J. Ward, of 244 Perth-street, Subiaco, Perth, W.A., says:—"While timbering in a mine at Mount Magnet, W.A., through insufficient light, I made a false stroke with an adze, which slipped and caught me on the shin, inflicting a terrible wound. The pain was dreadful, my leg swelled up to the size of two, and I was completely disabled. My leg soon got into a very bad state, and although I tried many remedies, and had medical attention, nothing eased the inflamed condition. The wound was gaping open, presenting a repulsive and angry appearance.

"Zam-Buk was recommended to me, and I commenced treating myself with this splendid balm. I dressed the injury night and morning, and in a few days the aching pain was relieved, and the swelling and inflammation reduced. As I continued with Zam-Buk the cut itself was cleansed and resumed a more healthy appearance. I persisted with Zam-Buk until the wound was completely healed and new healthy skin grown over.

"My wife, going into the kitchen one dark night, struck her leg against the front of the grate. The abrasion soon developed into an ulcer, around which the surface was black and blue from congealed blood. The wound refused to heal, and several times she went into hospital, and for over 12 months was an outdoor patient, but it did not get any better. After suffering for five years she commenced using Zam-Buk. This splendid balm quickly drew out all poisonous matter and cleansed the wound, giving it a chance to heal, which it did rapidly. My wife continued applying Zam-Buk until her leg was completely better. Now we are never without a supply of Zam-Buk handy." Zam-Buk is sold by all chemists and stores at 1/6 and 3/6 per pot.—Advt.

HOME FOR IMMIGRANTS AT THE GLEBE.

MR. A. A. DANGAR PERFORMING THE CEREMONY OF OPENING THE RECEIVING DEPOT FOR IMMIGRANTS AND LABOUR EXCHANGE ESTABLISHED BY THE BRITISH IMMIGRATION LEAGUE AT 57 HEREFORD-STREET, GLEBE.

IMMIGRATION.

FORWARD MOVEMENT

A DEPOT OPENED.

AUSTRALIA'S SAFEGUARD.

Nestling cosily amid a wealth of magnolia, pepper, and Norfolk pine trees, beyond a brick wall covered with ivy, stands the British Immigration League's Receiving Depot and Labour Exchange. The building is at 57 Hereford-street, Glebe, and will prove a valuable auxiliary in the cause of immigration.

The object that was largely instrumental in the establishment of the receiving depot was to afford new arrivals aid to secure employment on reaching Sydney, and to give them every reasonable facility to reach the scene of their new employment. With the assistance of the depot it is expected that the league will be able to import skilled artisans and competent labourers, with their families, and so expand the State's manufacturing and primary industries, and render more effective the defence of the country. Much interest was manifested at the official opening by Mr. A. A. Dangar on Saturday afternoon. Prior to the ceremony the supporters of the movement inspected the building. Unanimous appreciation was the keynote of the comments. Among those present were Captain and Mrs. Coltman, Archdeacon and Mrs. D'Arcy Irvine, Sir Henry and Lady Stephen, Alderman W. T. and Mrs. Tate, Mr. and Miss North, Miss Milner Stephen, Captain A. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Hain, Mr. and Mrs. Selwyn-Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. R. M'Millan, Mr. Sidney G. Palmer, the Rev. and Mrs. Alan Pain, Mr. A. A. Dangar, Mr. F. H. Corke, Mr. A. J. Warry, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Dixson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rickard, Mr. N. Phelps-Richards, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. Earp, Mr. and Mrs. Rudder, Mr. J. O. Fairfax, Captain and Mrs. C. M. Macnaghten, Mr. W. H. Friend, Mr. C. L. B. Garnett, Mr. Jas. M. Pringle, Mr. J. E. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Reichenbeim, Mr. R. Walter Hardie, Mr. H. C. Macfie, Mr. C. A. M'Bride, Mr. W. A. Oakley, Mr. H. J. Rumsey, Mr. H. P. Williams, and the Rev. H. Saumarez-Smith.

A USEFUL WORK.

The president, Professor Anderson Stuart, in his opening remarks, referred to the work of Mr. Dangar in connection with the league. As they knew, Mr. Dangar had given a large sum of money to the Dreadnought fund, and in order to utilise the money to the best advantage it was suggested by Mr. H. E. Easton, secretary of the league, that a portion of the money should be used for the establishment of a farm, to be called the Dreadnought Farm, for the training of lads. This had been done. And to assist the training of men for the Australian navy some of the money was spent on the naval college at Jervis Bay. It was due to Mr. Dangar's action that part of the large sum of money which he had contributed to the Dreadnought fund was devoted to the purposes of the league, and there were no better means of employing it than by the establishment of the depot. The materials were produced locally. The survey work carried out by Messrs. Oakley and Middleton was entirely gratuitous. (Hear, hear.) It was the prime object of the league to encourage to Australia men who had been subjected to discipline. Those who had been in the army or navy were particularly welcome, though discouragement had been offered to them by a Government minute. They knew that men had been prevented from coming to Australia. The following cable had been despatched on December 28 by the British Immigration League to the authorities in India:—"Please publish widely instructions re immigration reservists to this State ineffective; British Immigration League accepts responsibility and welcomes arrival all reservists good discharges, with minimum £5 landing money."

ADDRESS BY MR. DANGAR.

Mr. Dangar, who was enthusiastically received, said:—"While it is a great pleasure for me to be here to-day to open this depot, I cannot help thinking that whatever I have done is but a simple duty to the great Empire, of which Australia is a part. (Hear, hear.) I may be allowed to say that it is no lip service with myself; the Imperial idea has cost me a good many thousands of pounds from time to time, although I am an Australian. I am glad to say, and that no doubt is partly why I am here to-day, for which I thank the committee of the league, I not being one of their body. Upon it being decided to make use of the Dreadnought fund for other purposes, it became a question how the funds could best be utilised, and, as one of the trustees at that time, I strongly advocated devoting half of it to immigration and objects allied therewith, which was done, the whole of my subscription going to that purpose. One would have imagined that some of our Governments would have provided a depot for new arrivals, after their long sea voyage, especially of late years, when the absolute necessity for increased population became so apparent. Shame, I say, on the past and present Governments of New South Wales that they should have allowed such a state of things to exist, and that it should now devolve upon private subscriptions to establish a depot, which is to be an unsectarian institution, willing to give temporary shelter to all creeds, and find them work at the earliest opportunity. (Hear, hear.)

"Not long since, an attempt was made to stop time-expired soldiers and reservists coming here from India, unless they had £200. I have seen many of these men, and have had to do with some of them, and I say, without hesitation, no better immigrant can come to this country. Their naval and military experience makes them resourceful, and they quickly adapt themselves to new conditions. If we should, unfortunately, have to fight to retain Australia, their presence here would be invaluable. (Hear, hear.)

"Quite recently the Government of this State has gone back on its word in shutting down on assisted passages. We want more population, that is certain, and the only way to obtain it is to encourage and keep up a steady stream of immigration. This has not been done by any Government. Now they try to stop them altogether; it is infamous. The right to hold a country is the power to defend it, and that I firmly believe we shall be called upon to do ere long. Those who pooh-pooh the idea let them tell what they would do if Australia was totally cut off from the protection of Great Britain, and an enemy's fleet of armoured cruisers, carrying 12 and 14 inch guns, was outside the Heads—by no means an impossible situation.

THE AUSTRALIAN FLEET.

"The building of the fleet, we are committed to, will not save us, at any rate within the next 15 or 20 years, when, from all we read and hear, our fate will be decided one way or the other. I do not wish to touch on politics, but I have always held this belief. There has been a staggering increase of late years in the navy and army expenditure at home. In 1880 it was 26 millions odd; now for 1912 it is close on 72½ millions. The British taxpayers cannot, and will not, stand this rate of increase much longer. It would have been better for Australia and New Zealand to have paid an increasing yearly contribution for 10, 15, or 20 years, and then have started to build in ten years what is now to be constructed in 22 years. When the ships are ready they will be useless. But we are committed to a fleet of our own, and I suppose must make the best of it. It is to be hoped they will not all meet an untimely end before the 22 years have expired."

Mr. Danger went on to say that he did not think that in his heart of hearts Admiral King-Hall quite believed in a local navy. Immigration was established, and it was not going to be knocked on the head by Governments or anybody else. (Cheers.) He took the opportunity to commend Mr. Easton, without whose efforts there would have been no opening ceremony that day. (Cheers.)

THE PLAY OF POLITICIANS.

Mr. Arthur Rickard proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Dangar for opening the depot. It was sure, he said, that a fresh cause like immigration should be a matter for politicians to play battledore and shuttlecock with. It was a question that demanded statesmen; unfortunately, they had no statesmen, but politicians. The action of the Government was like that of a man who built up a business at great expense by organising and advertising, and then suddenly withdrew from that business when it was just reaching the position at which it would be most successful. To bring out wives and families of immigrants now cost £8, as against £6 previously. People were anxious to come here, but, unfortunately, they were being turned away. Recently 50 boys, from 16 to 18 years of age, had had to go to Victoria. He believed that hundreds of people had been turned away, and had had their deposits returned. This would give immigration a setback for a time. Politicians were incurring an immense responsibility in shirking their duty. That responsibility would come home to them some day; it was possible that they might be running rickshaws for the Japs. (Laughter.) Candidates should be questioned regarding immigration at next election.

DEFENCE OF THE EMPIRE.

In seconding the vote of thanks, Mr. Easton said that "everybody knew that the Empire was not for the purpose of aggression or adventure, but to uphold commerce and industry. These facts justified British naval supremacy in the face of the world. The want of a receiving depot had in the past seriously retarded the work of the league, and the members were grateful to all who have assisted and [illegible] to acquire the depot. Of those who had helped, the league particularly wished to thank Mr. A. A. Dangar, and the proprietors of the 'Sydney Morning Herald.' The latter, in February of last year, consented to start a subscription list in the 'Herald,' which was still open; and the former used his influence with the trustees of the Dreadnought Fund to donate a sum sufficient to enable the league to secure a portion of the Glebe premises. I hope you all may be so favourably impressed at what you have seen, that you will ask your friends to help the league to make full use of our vacant land, when new additional buildings will be commenced as soon as funds permit," concluded Mr. Easton.

The vote of thanks was adopted.

The home is a stone structure, solidly built, consisting of 10 rooms, to which additions are being made. The area of the grounds is 2½ acres on the heights of Glebe Point, in Hereford-street, overlooking Forest Lodge. Every convenience in the shape of hot and cold water baths, and sanitary arrangements have been provided, while the large washhouse and laundry has been fitted with washtubs, coppers, and heating apparatus, so that the immigrants will have every facility for washing their clothing and bedding after the voyage. The kitchen has been fitted with a large cooking range to provide for over 100 persons.

NORTH-EASTERN RAIN.

COOLER TEMPERATURES.

The low pressure system which has been responsible for widespread rains over New South Wales, has now almost passed away from the mainland, and its place has been taken by an extensive "high," bringing cooler temperatures. These temperatures should continue during the next couple of days, with the exception of those recorded in the north-eastern and coastal districts. Friday's temperatures were somewhat cooler than those experienced during the past few days, but at many places in the above-mentioned districts they extended into the nineties (degrees). At Mungundi 102 degrees prevailed, and at Mogil 100 degrees.

Further light to heavy rains fell in the north-eastern parts, excluding the north coast, the heaviest amounts being 267 points at Jerry's Plains, 227 at Uralla, 192 at Bulahdelah, 17 at Moree, and 177 at Nundle. Light to moderate falls also occurred over the central and south-eastern districts. The falls were again in many instances accompanied by thunder.

At 9 a.m. on Saturday it was still raining at places on the coast, Blue Mountains, the northern plain, slope, and tableland.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

NOTES.

Entries for the Australian Natives' Association Cup must be made on or before the 15th inst.

The annual M.D.R.A. individual matches will be fired at Randwick on Anniversary Day, leisure team. The prize list totals £[illegible].

The fourth round of the M.D.R.A. A grade matches is set down for February 1. The championship teams will shoot from the 900 yards mark, and the B grade teams from the 500 yards mark.

New [illegible] Rifle Club has organised a competition for a silver cup, five gold medals, and £35 in cash, to be shot on Easter Monday (March 24). The teams will consist of five from each club entered (entrance fee £1), and the conditions are seven shots and two sighters at 500, 600, and 700 yards. A number of prizes will also be given for individual shots.

The recently formed Australian Railway and Tramway Rifle Clubs Association has arranged an inter-state championship competition, which it is hoped will be fired at Randwick during the present month.

The gold medal for the highest individual score in the [illegible] Cup competition at Lithgow last week was won by A. J. Morris, of Peak Hill. Morris put up a score of 71 out of a possible 75.

A movement to bring about uniformity in sighters throughout Australasia was inaugurated by the Federal Council of the Rifle Associations in Hobart last week. Major Summons, of Victoria, was selected as the sole arbiter of sighters. At the last N.R.A. meeting in N. S. Wales trouble occurred over the variety of sights used by representatives of the various States. The suggestion of the federal council has to receive the approval of the State rifle associations.

M.D.R.A. GRADE MATCHES.

THIRD ROUND.

No less than 30 clubs were represented at the Randwick range on Saturday last. Forty-four of these were engaged in the third round of the Metropolitan District Rifle Association's grade matches, the others scored targets for club shoots.

The weather conditions were decidedly patchy, and are plainly evidenced in the details appended. Thick clouds hung over the range, which were broken at times by a few minutes of bright sunshine, and again by a slight drizzle of rain.

In the championship grade, shooting from the 900 yards marks, several alterations were made in the positions of the clubs, although Parramatta A team still retains the premier position, with an aggregate of 1040 points. Randwick A, who were 10 points behind Parramatta at the end of the second round, has come up to within 1 point of the leaders, while Western Suburbs A and Sydney A, who were within 1 and 2 points respectively at the end of the second round, are now 9 and 12 points behind respectively.

In the B grade matches Belmore has deposed Parramatta E from first place, while the latter team has dropped from first to thirteenth position in the aggregates. South Sydney B is only one point behind Belmore, having considerably improved its position.

P. Swinbourne (South Sydney) in the championship grade, and J. Brell (St. Marys), in the handicap grade secured the best individual scores, both putting up 48 out of a possible 50. Details:—

THE TEST OF TIME.

Father Time is the great revealer of all shams. Sooner or later he exposes the false and the make-believe. Only the things that are true and real can survive the test of time. Year after year, decade after decade, Beecham's Pills have been the one and only household medicine in many thousands of homes. In city and in hamlet, alike, they have been equally appreciated. And their popularity to-day is greater than ever. They have emerged triumphant from the trying test of time. This is because they are really efficacious in doing what they claim to do. What they promise they perform. They are a true remedy and a very real relief in all cases of indigestion, biliousness, constipation, sluggish action of the Kidneys, and the nervous troubles resulting from these conditions. Hence they exert a corrective and curative action upon the whole system. In all the qualities which commend themselves to the majority who require immediate and permanent return to health, Beecham's Pills stand supreme. Time has proved the value of

On the Charm of Reproduction Furniture.

This is the day of revivals, and the Cabinet Maker, in common with many of his brother craftsmen, has gone back to seek inspiration in the designs of our forefathers.

We have long been alive to the possibilities and the beauty of "reproduction furniture," or "period furniture," as it is sometimes called, and we have just now in our showrooms a particularly interesting display, comprising a Jacobean Dining-room, a Sheraton Dining-room, together with some delightful designs from Adams Brothers, who were so strong a force in the earlier part of the 18th century in the furniture and furnishing world.

To all who appreciate beautiful things with good taste, these examples of good furniture cannot fail to interest, and we should like anyone interested in furniture to call and see these without obligation to purchase.

EIGHTH ROUND COMMENCED.

RAIN-AFFECTED WICKETS.

NORTH SYDNEY'S OUTRIGHT WIN.

CENTRAL CUMBERLAND'S BRILLIANT HITTING AND GOOD BOWLING.

Wet week-ends are becoming fashionable in Sydney nowadays, much to the chagrin of followers of outdoor sports. On Saturday the cricketers played their matches in fine, cool weather, but the conditions underfoot were, in the majority of instances, not favourable for brilliant batting displays, for the wickets had not recovered from the soaking rain which fell on Friday, and also on Saturday morning.

In the circumstances, the usual heavy rungetting gave way, in some instances, to mere procession to and from the wicket. There were exceptions, however, Central Cumberland, Redfern, University, and Burwood batsmen scoring substantially. During the afternoon no fewer than 121 wickets fell for 1780 runs, which gives an average of 14.71 runs per wicket.

As was only to be expected on the damaged wickets, some sensational play took place, but the bowlers had their failures as well as their successes. North Sydney put up a wonderful performance by defeating Middle Harbour outright in one afternoon—a very rare feat, as it was accomplished in less than 3½ hours of actual play, thirty minutes being lost between the innings. Dr. Hordern and Hopkins were the trundlers who did all the damage. The former has now taken 58 wickets at an average of 8.96 per wicket. In this match 30 wickets fell during the afternoon for 237 runs. North Sydney have thus strengthened their position as leaders in the competition.

A contrast to the North Sydney-Middle Harbour match was supplied by that at Waverley between the local team and Central Cumberland, when the latter, after dismissing Waverley in 33.1 overs for 88 runs, hit up 285 runs off 35.1 overs—at the extraordinary rate of 8.14 runs per over. The remarkable run-getting performance was confined to two men—Cranney and E. L. Waddy—who scored 235 runs out of 285. Both hit brilliantly, and scored their runs very fast. The spectators were kept in a wild state of excitement whilst the hitting proceeded.

At Redfern Oval the local team are on the high road to a three-point victory against Balmain, having scored 294 for the loss of eight wickets against 89. As University dismissed Petersham for 41 and two for 20, and scored 191, they are also "on velvet." Thus it seems likely that the three leading teams will be "as you were" at the end of play on the 18th inst.

The matches between Burwood and Paddington and Glebe and Sydney were devoid of sensation, though Burwood and Glebe are leading on the first innings.

In five of the six matches the side going in first failed to reach the century, and their opponents gained a lead. In the other instance, Paddington, although they scored 112, were headed by Burwood easily.

E. L. Waddy was the only century maker during the afternoon, closely followed by H. Cranney with 91. Several bowlers gained honours, Dr. Hordern taking eleven wickets for 52, Hopkins nine for 53, R. J. A. Massie eight for 33, H. L. Collins seven for 57, and Emery six for 45.

Following are the results of play:—

North Sydney, 117 and none for 4, defeated Middle Harbour, 53 and 65, by ten wickets and 3 runs.
University, 191, against Petersham, 41, and one for 20.
Redfern, eight for 294, against Balmain, 89.
Central Cumberland, 285, against Waverley, 88 and two for 12.
Glebe, eight for 165, against Sydney, 73.
Burwood, three for 152, against Paddington, 112.

THE HONOUR LIST.

BATTING.

E. L. Waddy, 144 (87 min.) W. J. Stack, 62.
H. Cranney, 91 (50 min). F. Rix, 59.
J. C. Barnes, 69. F. Buckle, 57.

BOWLING.

Dr. H. V. Hordern, eleven for 52 (five for 26 and six for 26). R. J. A. Massie, eight for 33 (seven for 18 and one for 15).
A. J. Hopkins, nine for 53 (five for 21 and four for 32). S. H. Emery, six for 45. W. Watson, five for 18. C. Kelleway, five for 31.
H. L. Collins, seven for 57. E. Bull, five for 48.

North Sydney established a record in first grade cricket by winning outright, and thus securing three points in one afternoon. Middle Harbour batsmen were completely overwhelmed by H. V. Hordern and A. J. Hopkins, who bowled unchanged throughout both innings. Hordern's record was eleven for 52 and Hopkins' nine for 53. The wicket assisted the bowlers, but could hardly be termed thoroughly soft. The ball rose awkwardly from the pitch at times, and both Hordern and Hopkins broke sharply enough to disconcert, perhaps, even better batsmen than the majority of Middle Harbour men showed themselves to be. The "Villagers" were sent in on losing the toss, and their first innings realised 53, made in as many minutes. North Sydney then hit up 117 in 65 minutes, it being evident in the later stages of the innings that the batsmen were intent on quickly obtaining a lead of a fair margin of runs, and getting Middle Harbour in again. Due credit must, however, be given Gee (four for 33) and Bull (five for 48), who took full advantage of what assistance the pitch could give. Middle Harbour's second attempt produced 65, made in an hour, the innings terminating at 5.54. North Sydney thus required two runs to complete the win, and B. Long hitting a four off the second ball, the Shoremen secured a ten wickets' victory. The principal run-getters for North Sydney were Moore (26), L. Minnett (25), and Hordern (22), but the bowlers won the match. For Middle Harbour, Bull (23) and H. Woolcott (21) were the only batsmen to score 20 in the two innings. Both batted well.

At Waverley Oval all phases of cricket—good and bad, slow and brilliant—were witnessed. Waverley batsmen took until 4 o'clock to score 88 against Central Cumberland, Pye (four for 28) and Strange (two for 12) bowling with deadly effect. Hazlitt made his reappearance with the team, but he is not in form yet. Waverley batsmen displayed little enterprise in negotiating the bowling, Thomas (22) being a notable exception. Their judgment, too, in running between wickets was lamentably weak, three batsmen being run out. Cumberland fielded fairly well, but their catching was not sure. So far the cricket had been of a commonplace character. Now came the sensations. E. L. Waddy and Cranney commenced batting at 4.10, and at 4.49 they had passed Waverley's total. Then, acting on instructions, the batsmen hit at almost every ball. In 11 minutes the score jumped from 89 to 153. In two overs 44 runs were scored, thus:—6 6 4 2 2 6 6 2 4 2 4. Newton was hit for three sixers in succession, and another sequence of three sixes was supplied by O'Connor and Newton. Cranney scored 91 in 50 minutes by the aid of 34 scoring strokes, which included five sixes and nine fours. He played magnificent cricket, and made his runs out of 153, Waddy being 60 when Cranney was run out. Waddy continued to score at an extraordinary rate, carrying his total from 60—made in 50 minutes—to 144 (made in 87 minutes). He hit 18 fours and seven sixes, the ball humming to and over the pickets with the speed of a rifle shot. Between them Waddy and Cranney made 84 scoring strokes, of which 39 were boundaries. Waddy's strokes are as follow:—1 4 1 1 6 4 4 1 1 4 2 1 1 1 1 4 1 3 1 1 6 1 4 1 3 4 4 6 2 4 2 4 1 2 6 6 4 4 4 6 4 1 1 4 1 6 2 4 4 1. There were very few bad strokes among them, and when the ball was lifted it generally fell over the pickets. Cumberland scored 285 runs off 211 balls. Waverley scored 88 runs off 199 balls—a vivid contrast. Waverley bowling analysis presented a remarkable appearance, especially that of P. Newton, who delivered 42 balls, as follows:—. . . 1 1 . 1 1 . 4 1 6 6 6 4 2 2 6 . . 6 . . w 4 4 4 . . 6 4 w 6 4 . 1 . 6 . 2 4, 92 runs and two wickets. Gregory (two for 18) and Flynn (two for 44) were the only other bowlers to take more than one wicket. As Waverley have lost two wickets for 12 in their second innings, Cumberland should achieve an outright win.

At Petersham Oval the wicket was very difficult and slow drying. University quite surpassed the local team, who in 50 minutes were dismissed for 41 runs. Norris was the only batsman to reach double figures—14, thirteen of which came from one over from Single. Massie, seven for 18, and Stack, three for 1, were unplayable. University's start was even worse than that of Petersham. When Minnett was run out in attempting a second run, four wickets were down for five runs, of which three were sundries, but M'Elhone and Single raised the total to 36. At 42 M'Elhone was struck on the cheek by a ball from Unsworth, and retired temporarily. The blow necessitated a visit to Lewisham Hospital. Lane and Stack added 71 for the sixth wicket. M'Elhone came in again, but did not add to his score. Stack and Massie added 50 for the ninth wicket, the innings closing with University leading by 150 runs. Stack batted for 77 minutes for 62, which included six fours and three sixes. Massie hit two sixes and four fours in his 37 not out. Unsworth was the most successful bowler, securing four for 32. Petersham's second attempt was an improvement on the first, one wicket falling for 20 before stumps were drawn shortly after 6 o'clock, the light being defective.

Redfern have already obtained a first innings lead in the match with Balmain, at Redfern Oval, and an outright victory seems likely. Emery and Mailey dismissed the visitors for 89, the only batsman to show good form being Folkard, who scored 24. Both "home" bowlers were in deadly form, Emery securing five for 45 and Mailey four for 41. In 2 hours and 20 minutes the home team knocked up 294 for the loss of eight wickets. Barnes batted in his customary dainty style for 69, in which were 10 fours and a six. Rix played with freedom for 59 (five fours and three sixes) and Emery also hit out lustily for 42, including three fours and three sixes. With a lead of 205, Redfern are certain to declare in their quest for a three points win.

At Rushcutter Bay Watson and Kelleway, as bowlers, placed Glebe in a very strong position by dismissing Sydney for 73. R. Fusedale and E. Hall top-scored with 17 each, Morris (10) being the only other double figure contributor. Kelleway took five for 31 and made the ball jump. Watson, who was tried first change, took five for 18 in six overs. Glebe performed much better than Sydney with the bat, losing eight wickets for 165. Warren Bardsley made his first appearance of the season, and batted neatly for 23, which included a six. Buckle's 57 was a chanceless effort, which included seven fours. He hit three fours off one over from Coffey. Cotter's 37 in 19 minutes was the batting tit-bit of the afternoon. He hit three sixes, three twos, and three singles. Kelleway, who made 13, was nearly caught first ball in the slips, but the decision was in his favour. Collins' left-handed bowling proved deadly, seven Glebe batsmen falling to him for 57 runs, scored off 17 overs.

At Pratten Park the initial first grade match was commenced between Paddington and Burwood. As a result of the afternoon's play Burwood have gained a lead on the first innings, having dismissed Paddington for 112, and then hit up 152 for the loss of only three wickets. Mahoney (30) was the only Paddingtonian to score more than 20. All the five Burwood batsmen who went in reached the double figures, and sundries reached 20. Ward Prentice, making his reappearance since his return from America with the Australian footballers, hit up 43. Diamond made 20 and J. S. Taylor is 37 not out. Dive, four for 54, and P. W. Docker, four for 29, performed excellently as bowlers for Burwood, but none of the Paddington trundlers met with marked success.

THE VALUE OF CLOVER.

As we become a nation of small stockowners we shall probably give more attention to some of those crops that prove to be valuable contributors to the fodder supplies. There are many of these comparatively well known in a general sense, but the benefits of which are not properly appreciated. In this category comes clover, which may be found in isolated patches on most farms in the State, but which is properly cultivated and encouraged in only a few instances. Yet its succulent leaves are much relished by stock, who will generally seek out and consume whatever patches there may be on the farm. In New Zealand, where the production of artificial fodders has long been impressed on sheep farmers by the exigencies of an export trade in lambs, many farmers cultivate clover with excellent results, either for feeding off or cutting for hay. Like certain other succulent fodders, however, stock have to be fed on it carefully. Cattle will become blown on clover at a certain stage more quickly than on almost any other crop—due to some extent to their relish of this plant causing them to gorge themselves.

Before the feeding value of clover, however, many farmers place its manurial properties. Its greatest peculiarity is its capacity for extracting nitrogen from the atmosphere. It has been calculated that it can extract 100lb per acre, valued at £2, where it would only cost about 7s an acre to seed the soil with red clover, so that a good profit may be derived from utilising this crop for regenerating paddocks. It also takes from the ground for its own use phosphoric acid, lime, and potash, and if the plant is ploughed in these go back in improved form, as they have been brought from a lower stratum by the penetrating roots of the clover, and they are distributed more evenly by the decaying roots and stems. In sandy soils, clover is very valuable as a green manurial crop, as the decaying vegetable matter enriches the soil in humus and increases its power to retain moisture. The air is enabled to circulate better in the soil, and the reproduction of bacteria is encouraged.

The Americans have been investigating the value of the clover plant, both from the manurial and stock-feeding aspects. Prof. W. P. Brookes carried out exhaustive inquiries at the Massachusetts experiment farm, and his conclusions have been looked for with much interest. He is most enthusiastic in his advocacy of clover. He regards it as among the most valuable of all fodder crops. Where stock are kept, he says, it will probably not be found advisable to use clover as green manure, as it can be better utilised by feeding or cutting for hay. But where certain varieties of fruit are grown it is an excellent crop to supply humus to the soil. The most valuable feature of the plant, he recognises, is its capacity to take nitrogen from the air, and nitrogen is a costly manure. On the other hand, the mineral constituents taken out of the soil are comparatively cheap, and could easily be replaced. The permanency of the crop is illustrated by the fact that some of the plots have not been broken up for 24 years. The plants are, as a rule, comparatively short-lived, so that it is clear that as the plants die other plants spring up from the seed to take their place. From the stock point of view the great value of clover rests in its supply of protein, which is essential to the formation of flesh. Hay made from grasses contains only 6 to 8 per cent. of protein; but it may contain as much as 12 to 14 per cent. when made from clover. Prof. Brookes summed up his conclusions by saying that, "For four important reasons clovers are among the most valuable of forage plants. First, the manurial cost of their production is low; second, they are richer in protein than most of the forage crops—far richer than grasses; third, they enrich the soil in nitrogen as well as subsoil it, so that the following crops are almost invariably good; fourth, in permanent mowings they ultimately so enrich the soil in nitrogen that the grasses as well as the clovers make vigorous growth."

SCHEDULE OF THE ROYAL SHOW.

PRIZE LIST, £6000.

The schedule of the Royal Show, which opens on March 15, is being distributed amongst the exhibitors. For this show the council of the Royal Agricultural Society has increased the prize-money from £5000 to £6000, which is about the richest list so far offered for a show in Australia. The most noticeable increase in prizes are in horses, cattle, and farm produce.

Some of the awards in the horse section are now very substantial. The first prize for a blood stallion is £20, and the champion award is £15. Similar provision is made for trotting or pacing stallion, while the draughts are even more liberally treated. The first prize for heavy Clydesdale stallion is £25, and the champion award £25. There are four prizes in the aged class, the same in the three-year-old class, and five prizes in the two-year-old class. All the prizes for hacks and harness horses have had attention, and now the firsts are nearly all £10 each. Ponies have also received recognition. The society has adopted an excellent classification for stud ponies; thus, instead of grouping them all under the common designation of ponies, there are now classes for hackneys and Welsh, while in the general division only pony-bred animals are allowed to receive prizes. The mares have not been forgotten in the schedule, and in these classes there are some very rich awards. Some increases have been made in the classes for hunters, and the schedule for the trotting contests is very handsome.

In cattle £250 has been added to the amount previously voted for the section, and the awards run £12 for first prizes, and £15 for a champion.

Close attention has been given to the farm produce section, in which a number of classes have been added for exhibitors who have not won prizes at a Royal show. Every product of any importance now finds a place in the schedule, and it is well worth while for producers of the best to compete at the show for the good prizes offered.

Additions also have been made to the dairy produce classes, and a class has been included for butter made during the progress of the exhibition.

The prizes in the pig classes have been added to considerably, and changes have been made also in the sheep section.

The council will make an effort this year to give women's work its proper position in the Royal show. The prizes have been largely increased, and special work has been picked out for good awards. The section will be set up in the fine building, formerly occupied by the Government with its farm produce. Glass cases are being made for the protection and exhibition of the fine work, and the building is being made comfortable for ladies, and altogether the section should prove much more attractive than it has been in the past.

Although the show will be held some three weeks earlier than in 1912, the secretary states that inquiries for schedules and entry forms, and for information concerning the show, are very numerous, and it is believed that the exhibition will be even larger than in 1912.

The first entries for the show are due on the 20th inst., which is the closing date for wheat. After that there are some butter export classes due on February 10. Wines must be in on February 11, export classes of cheese February 12, horses February 15, and the other sections of live stock and other classes in close succession.

HOLSTEINS.

The Minister for Agriculture (Mr. Trefle) is allowing the State dairy expert (Mr. O'Callaghan) to act temporarily at the request of the New Zealand Holstein Association in selecting New South Wales Holsteins eligible to be entered on their stud book. The idea is to protect Holstein buyers in New Zealand, who want to impart new blood. Breeders whose cattle pass the test will be able to advertise it in New Zealand. Prospective buyers there will consult the Holstein Association, and will be able to tell at a glance from what New South Wales breeders of the stock to buy.

RABBITS ON CROWN LANDS.

The man on the land is bound at his peril to keep rabbits down, but the work in this direction is nullified by reason that lands owned by the Crown are allowed to remain as breeding grounds without any attempt being made to clear such lands of the pest. A letter was recently sent to the Department of Agriculture by one of the pastures protection boards, asking for permission to use their funds in the destruction of rabbits on Crown lands. A reply was received to the effect that the Minister's approval to the request had not been given. The board has now decided to forward a copy of the department's reply to other boards, with a view to having an alteration made in the law so as to enable the funds of the various pastures protection boards being used for this purpose.

A Pianola or a Pianola Piano as a Gift Will Afford a Lifetime's Enjoyment.

With the aid of the Pianola you can play at once without previous study or practice any piece of music from the simplest song to the most difficult classical selection.

One reason for the Pianola's popularity as a gift is that it furnishes lasting pleasure. Most gifts, no matter how great their cost, soon lose their novelty. But the fascination of the Pianola renews itself with each new piece of music.

With a catalog of over 15,000 pieces to select from, you can always have bright new music in the home. The latest successes are added often sooner than the sheet music itself is placed on sale.

It is a peculiarity of good music that the more you hear of it the more you want. And the Pianola keeps step with your growing musical appreciation, leading constantly into pathways of greater and greater allurement.

The Pianola.
A separate attachment in cabinet form, which may be used with any piano, and removed from the piano when not in use.
Pianola, Metrostyle; Pianola, Themodist; Pianola, Grand — 42 guineas up.

The Pianola Piano.

Steinway Pianola Piano; Weber Pianola Piano; Steck Pianola Piano; Stroud Pianola Piano — 115 guineas up.

The Grand Pianola Piano.
Combining the world's three foremost grand pianos with genuine Pianolas, thus forming single instruments. When used for hand-playing the Pianola practically disappears.
Steinway Grand Pianola Piano; Weber Grand Pianola Piano; Steck Grand Pianola Piano — 300 guineas up.
Moderate Monthly Payments. Liberal allowance on pianos of other makes taken in exchange.

The Steck Boudoir Grand Piano.
Price, 140 Guineas.
In Walnut, Rosewood, Ebony Art Cases.

Pianos without Pianolas.

If you are considering the purchase of a piano of the conventional type, do not make your selection until you have visited Pianola Hall. Here are the headquarters of two of the world's most famous pianos—the Weber and the Steck. Here will also be found the Stroud, a piano of widely-recognised excellence. These pianos range in price from 45 guineas upwards, purchaseable upon exceedingly moderate terms. In its respective class, each represents the highest possible piano value that can be obtained.

Used Pianos of Celebrated Makes.

The Exchange Department presents unusual opportunities at this season. In this department are to be found pianos bearing the names of the best-known makers, such as Bechstein, Bluthner, Steck, Ronisch, Feurich, Lipp, etc. These pianos have come to Pianola Hall in exchange for the Pianola Piano, the Piano that everyone can play. They have come from Sydney's finest homes—have usually had little or no use and are practically undistinguishable from new, either in musical quality or appearance. It is now understood that the exchange Pianos at Pianola Hall constitute real "bargains" in the fullest sense of the word. Moderate Monthly Payments.

Important.

Do not make the mistake of supposing that any piano-player is a Pianola. The genuine Pianola, with its vital and exclusive improvements, the Metrostyle, the Themodist, etc., can be obtained only in the STEINWAY, WEBER, STECK, and STROUD PIANOS. In buying an imitation the purchaser sacrifices the many important advantages which have given the Pianola its world-wide success.

We stock over 100 Pianola Pianos, in Burr Walnut, Circassian Walnut, Rosewood, Mahogany, Oak, and Ebony Art Cases. We are Open Friday Evenings.

DAIRYING.

BYRON BAY.—A meeting of dairy farmers, Councillor Armstrong presiding, was held for the purpose of forming a herd-testing association at Byron Bay. There was much interest shown in the matter by those present. Over 1000 cows were registered. The cost of testing was struck at 2s per head per annum. The dairy expert, Mr. M'Innes, was present, and explained what was necessary for the farmers to do.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BOWRAVILLE.—The rainfall for December was 539 points, bringing the total for the year to 43.48 inches. Owing to lack of interest on the part of dairymen on the Nambucca, the Macksville Agricultural Association has withdrawn the prize of £2½ for butter fat competition. Only three entries were received.

BATHURST.—The ballot in connection with the Agricultural and Pastoral Association resulted in the election of the following:—T. W. Anderson, C. Armstrong, W. W. Bucknell, H. J. Barnham, C. R. Brett, A. J. Brownlow, Dr. Busby, H. Butler, G. G. Callaghan, J. Cassidy, H. W. Churches, C. V. Clifton, Joseph Cox, W. H. Crago, J. Dowling, J. Fleming, John Godfrey, Joseph Godfrey, W. Godfrey, S. S. Hunt, H. H. Hackney, J. C. Larnack, Donald Locke, Theodore P. Murphy, Dr. J. Brook Moore, S. M'Kibbin, J. M'Intyre, D. M'Millan, J. M'Phillamy, R. S. M'Phillamy, F. Palmer, R. W. Peacock, J. Pratley, A. Rigby, G. W. Rutherford, J. Simmons, J. Goden, A. W. Stewart, G. Sutherland, C. H. Suttor, H. C. Suttor, A. G. Thompson, F. J. Tonkin, S. Williams, E. K. Wolstenholme.

CARCOAR.—Harvesting operations throughout this district will be practically completed at the end of this week. The majority of farmers are now busily engaged drawing in and stacking. It has been an excellent season, and splendid yields have been obtained right throughout the district. Not one failure occurred, and it is many years since such good all-round yields were obtained. Farmers around Neville and Shaw End went in this year for growing malting barley, and have met with splendid success. Tooth and Co., of Sydney, practically induced them to undertake growing, and guaranteed them not less than 4s 6d per bushel for it; but should any rise in value take place the rise will be granted to them; whilst if it should fluctuate and the market price become lower than 4s 6d they will still receive the guaranteed price. The oat crops are yielding an average of 40 bushels to the acre. The country around Neville, Shaw, and Lyndhurst presents a picturesque appearance, being dotted all over with haystacks and sheds full of hay. One insurance company has accepted fire insurance risks of £5000 on crops, all of which were gathered off areas within a radius of 10 miles in the Mandurama, Neville, and Shaw districts; but as these values are for insurance purposes only, and represent only about one-half of the real yield within that district, it will be seen that fully £10,000 worth of crops can be reckoned on. The potato crops, although healthy and showing strong growth, require more rain to spur them on to maturity. A little trouble is being experienced with these crops owing to the depredations by the sandfly, or Rutherglen bug. Given steady rain, however, good potato crops will also be gathered this year.

COOTAMUNDRA.—The wheat yields throughout the district are above the average, many crops reaching 18 to 20 bags to the acre, nine bags being exceptionally low. One farmer had Comeback wheat growing alongside Federation in the same paddock, sown in the same week under the same condition. Federation is 3ft high, and Comeback 4½ft high. The former yielded 15 bags to the acre, and Comeback nine bags.

GOULBURN.—The recent hailstorm did much damage to orchards east of Goulburn. In one or two cases the whole crop was destroyed. The Rutherglen bug is seriously damaging the potato crops, which are also failing for lack of moisture. Rabbits are very plentiful on the river frontages. At Breadalbane, where the road is wire-netted on both sides, many rabbits have died through being unable to obtain water.

GERRINGONG.—Welcome rain fell here tonight. So far 56 points have been recorded this year. The total fall for last year was six inches over the average.

NABIAC.—Altogether for the month of December 6.25 inches of rain fell, and the district is now looking well. Cattle kept in good condition all through, but the district was looking very dry until the recent rains. Dairying is in full swing, and the local co-operative butter factory is getting all it can do. Maize crops are mostly well forward and promising. The output of this district in sawn timber was over seven million square feet for last year, besides an enormous quantity of girders, piles, railway sleepers, and telegraph poles. The Government is to blame in denuding our coastal forests of all straight ironbark saplings for telegraph poles, taking down as small as 6in x 6in. This has been going on for some years.

PARKES.—Some good records are being put up on the Adavale Estate, where 2200 acres have been cropped this season. From 400 acres of this 2614 bags of wheat, 800 bags of oats, and 180 tons of hay have been taken. Harvesting operations are not quite completed, but a general average of between 18 and 19 bushels is expected. Mr. P. W. Lorimer, a share farmer on the estate, has carried out some interesting experiments on fallowed land, with and without manure, with the following results:—Federation, 26½ acres, 40lb. superphosphate 270 bags, average 30½ bushels; 29 acres, 28lb super, 305 bags, average 30½ bushels; 11 acres, no manure, 331 bags, average 22½ bushels; Yandilla King—25½ acres, 40lb superphosphate, 258 bags, average 30½ bushels; 70 acres, 28lb super., 439 bags, average 26 1-3 bushels; 32 acres, no manure, 211 bags, average 19½ bushels: grand total 208 acres, 1814 bags, average 26 1-6 bushels. From unfallowed land adjoining an average of six bags was taken.

THE FARMER'S BROKEN CONTRACT.

A case of interest to members of the farming community relative to the recovery of a deposit, under unusual circumstances, was recently decided in one of the Courts of the other States. Three farmers negotiated with another for the purchase of some land. A deposit of £50 was paid, and the parties consulted the manager of a local bank, who noted down the terms. A further deposit was then made, and an agreement drawn up in the terms arrived at by the parties, but at the last moment the would-be purchasers repudiated it. A request was then made for the return of the deposit money, which the vendor promised to repay next season if he had a good harvest.

The dispute ultimately came before the local Court, where the magistrate held that the deposit money should be returned by the defendant to the plaintiffs. An appeal was made against this decision, and it was sought to retain the deposit on the grounds that the plaintiffs had forfeited it through failure to carry out the agreement.

The Chief Justice said the fact that the vendor had informed the would-be purchasers that he would repay them the £50 deposit if he had a good harvest indicated that he agreed to the repudiation of the agreement or contract, and that in reality the contract was at an end. It was clear that the vendor had accepted the position with which he was faced. Under the circumstances, the decision of the Court below, that the £50 was recoverable by the would-be purchasers, was right, and the appeal must therefore be dismissed, with costs.

FRUITGROWERS' ASSOCIATION.

DUTY ON AMERICAN APPLES.

FRUIT NOMENCLATURE.

The monthly meeting of the executive of the Fruitgrowers' Association of New South Wales was held at Castle Hill on Saturday, Mr. John Neil, president, being in the chair.

The Union S.S. Co. of New Zealand wrote in regard to the request of the association for shippers to be allowed to send their consignments down to the wharf up till 10 a.m. on sailing day, that, as a matter of fact, the steamers had been taking the fruit, if not all, of the soft fruits on sailing day, but only up till 9 a.m. Several shippers expressed their satisfaction with this arrangement. To now make it 10 o'clock would probably not mean getting the fruit aboard until 11 o'clock, or even later. The company was quite prepared to give all reasonable assistance, and hoped the association would agree with them, that it would be just as well to let the time of receiving fruit for shipment remain at 9 o'clock.

Mr. C. Churchill Tucker wrote, bringing under the notice of the association a letter which appeared above his name in the "S. M. Herald" of the 1st instant, on the subject of the importation of apples from America. He stated that he had been requested to arrange for a deputation to wait on the Minister for Customs to urge that an increased duty be placed on American apples, but preferred that the matter should go through the Fruitgrowers' Association. He submitted that, in addition to apples, early pears and other fruit grown in this State were prejudicially affected by the imports from America. If the American fruit came to Australia after a certain date, early fruits in New South Wales would have a good market in other States. Mr. Wrench remarked that only the other day a trial consignment of 140 cases of apples was received from Japan. Mr. Fripp (secretary) mentioned that the matter of an increased import duty was turned down by the Australasian Fruitgrowers' Conference, held in Sydney recently. Mr. Wrench moved that the fruitgrowers' associations in the various States be asked to ascertain the feeling of their branches upon the question of having an increased duty placed on all green fruits entering the Commonwealth. This was seconded by Mr. Bennett, and carried.

The secretary of the Australasian Conference of Fruitgrowers, Melbourne, wrote, notifying the passing of the following resolution at the recently-held meeting of the conference in Sydney, regarding the nomenclature of fruit:—"That a pomological committee be appointed, to consist of one departmental member in each State, appointed by the Government of that State, and of two members nominated in each State by its dominant association, and that this committee report to the next conference." He asked to be advised of the names of the two members of the association nominated to act on the committee. Mr. W. J. Allen, fruit expert of New South Wales, had been appointed convener of the first meeting, which would be held not later than the end of April next. The president and Mr. Chilton were appointed to act on the committee.

BOXING.

READ OUTPOINTS PICATO.

Strenuous at all times, but marked by little, if anything, clever or noteworthy, such was the contest between Jack Read and Frank Picato, decided at the Stadium on Saturday night, and won by the former on points after the full twenty rounds had been traversed.

The men were very equally matched as regard weight and reach, but such was not the case in the matter of condition, for Read was never more fit, while Picato, who returned to Australia with Dave Smith, was not nearly as well as when he put up the remarkable series of contests with Hughie Mehegan last year. That his opponent was not quite as well as he might have been was early realised by Read, who from the start decided to make the contest a strenuous one. This style of boxing, of course, suited Picato, with the result that disaster more than once loomed ominously before Read, whose wonderful condition, together with his opponent's partial physical unfitness, enabled him to see the full journey out. At it was, however, Picato pushed Read to the utmost, and at the finish there was very little between the two men. The two judges decided in favour of Read. Mr. Arthur Scott was referee.

BARRETT DEFEATS DEPENA.

PORT KEMBLA, Sunday.

A boxing contest took place at the Star Stadium yesterday between Peter Depena, of Sam Langford's training camp, and Frank Barrett, of Wollongong. The contest went the full 20 rounds, Barrett getting the decision.

BRISBANE, Sunday.

Owing to wet weather the boxing contest between Frank Thorn and Alf. Morey was postponed until Wednesday night.

PITTWATER PICNIC REGATTA.

PETREL WINS YACHTS HANDICAP.

The seventh annual Pittwater picnic regatta was held successfully on Saturday. Though showers fell in the morning, the afternoon was an ideal one for the sport. There was a large attendance, and the flagship, Erringhi, was laden with a full complement of patrons. Almost every point of vantage on land was occupied. Motor launches from Bayview, Church Point, and Newport wharfs conveyed passengers to the flagship.

Mr. F. J. S. Young was commodore, and the following were the officials:—Sailing: Starter, Mr. S. J. Keegan; judge, Mr. F. S. Adams; timekeeper, Mr. T. L. M'Nally; umpire, Mr. G. J. Perkins; handicappers, Messrs. W. Boulton, E. J. Miles, and John Roche. Rowing events: Starter, Mr. B. Cormack; judge, Mr. C. Hawksford; timekeeper, Mr. C. J. Atkinson; umpire, Mr. A. Davis; timekeeper, Mr. C. J. Atkinson; umpire, E. J. Miles, J. M. Simpson. Motor boat events: Starter, Mr. S. J. Keegan.

The All Yachts Handicap was the principal item, and although only four entries were received great interest was centred in the race, which was won by Petrel (skipper W. D. M. Taylor) by 4m 3s. The second prize went to Rawhiti (scr.), which just got up in time to beat Aoma (24m) by a second. The contest was most exciting. The Thelma was a long way back fourth.

After the regatta a public dinner was held at Greig's Newport Hotel, at which Mr. J. Williams presided. Subsequently a continental took place in the grounds adjoining the hotel, where the prizes won at the regatta were handed over by Colonel Ryrie, M.P. Allcomers' Yachts Handicap, under the auspices of the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron and Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club. First prize, £20; second, £5.

Petrel (skipper, W. D. M. Taylor), 17m 1
Rawhiti (E. E. Sayers), scr. 2
Aoma (C. Fleming), 24m 3
Thelma (C. Lloyd), 6m 4

All got away well to their respective flags. Aoma was first round Lion Island, and was closely followed by Petrel, but a long way in the rear came Rawhiti and Thelma. Passing the Basin, Petrel and Aoma were within a few yards of each other, when the latter lost her topsail, and she fell to leeward. Some little time was lost in righting her. In the meantime the Petrel was increasing her lead. The times when rounding the flagship were:—Petrel, 3h 42m 16s; Aoma, 3h 44m 27s; Rawhiti, 3h 53m 49s; Thelma, 3h 56m 15s. A sailer's breeze favoured the Petrel, and she won by 4m 3s. A splendid race was witnessed for second prize, Rawhiti getting the verdict by a second. The finishing times were: Petrel, 5h 22m 2s; Rawhiti, 5h 26m 5s; Aoma, 5h 26m 6s; Thelma, 5h 36m 17s.

BLAYNEY'S SECOND BALLOT.

Liberalism has every reason to be satisfied with the result of the first ballot at Blayney. It was scarcely to be expected that Mr. Withington would have scored so heavily as to have rendered a second ballot unnecessary, for the fight was not one in which there was a straight-out trial of strength between Labourism and Liberalism, but a triangular duel, in which personal predilections could not but play an important part. So far we have the gratifying result that, whatever happens, a discredited Government must be the loser. And in the second contest the odds are greatly in favour of the Liberal candidate. Provided all those who voted for Mr. Withington and for Mr. Beeby on the first occasion continue to support their first choice, then the latter must gain 642 Labour votes before he reaches the level of his opponent. The leeway he must make up is thus a heavy one. Nor does it seem likely that votes on the first occasion cast for Mr. Johnston will on the second occasion be added to Mr. Beeby's score, for each one of these 1121 voters must feel that the ex-Minister is a traitor to the cause they hold so dear. It cannot even be reasonably expected that those who hold the strings of the Labour organisation at headquarters will use any influence they possess in favour of one whom they cannot but regard as a political acrobat. The Labour party has just as much as, if not more than, the Liberal party to lose if a new and hybrid party is created. Its existence would be anathema to the caucus. Instead of the secret Labour conclave ruling the country, as it has been doing of late, it, in the event of the third party holding the balance of power, would have to bow its collective head to the independent machine. This being so, there is no reason for doubting that both the Labour and the Liberal organisations will be of one mind in doing their level best to scotch the intruder on their joint preserves.

The second ballot will be held during the next three weeks. The Parliamentary Elections (Second Ballot) Act, which became law in 1910, provides that no candidate shall be deemed to be elected unless he has received an absolute majority of votes, that is unless the votes cast for him exceed those cast for his opponents. In such cases where this majority is not secured a new election must take place on a date to be fixed by proclamation, but which shall be not less than fourteen nor more than twenty-one days after the close of the poll on the first ballot. The contest will then be confined to those candidates who stand first and second on the list as the result of the earlier trial of strength. But there is no provision in the Act that restricts voters on the second occasion to those who have voted on the first. So if there be more than 1799 Liberals on the roll in the Blayney electorate, there is no reason why they should not bestir themselves more than they did when first the opportunity came for them to do their duty. This is more than a decision as to whether Mr. Withington or Mr. Beeby is to be permitted to wear a free railway pass and be paid at the rate of £500 per annum for a portion of a year. Were that all it would be indeed a thankless task. But there is here an opportunity to give an object-lesson to the country of how solid are the ranks of Liberalism, and how discredited is the Administration of which Mr. Beeby was till lately one of the most striking personalities. The Liberals of Blayney are expected to be an example and an encouragement to those who adhere to similar principles throughout the State. It behoves them to do their duty like men.

Liberals must not forget that each vote cast for Mr. Withington adds one nail to the coffin of the worst Government that we have ever experienced in this State. It is true that Mr. M'Gowen does not think that the Government of which he is at least the nominal leader has done too badly at all. He challenges our comments upon the prosperity of the State during the last twelve months, and attempts to find in them a justification for his policy. He forgets, however, that Governments cannot make any country prosperous; the most they can do is not to hinder its prosperity. The people are prosperous because they have been industrious, and the seasons have been comparatively favourable to them, while the prices of their chief products have been high. The Government can claim no thanks for any of these conditions. In taking a large part of surplus labour off the market, and putting it on to Government works made possible through the vast expenditure of loan money, the Government has certainly tended to effectively decrease production. In introducing the day-labour system the Government has been guilty of squandering the public funds in a way the seriousness of which will not be fully realised till the interest bills come in. In shutting down on immigration the Government is guilty of a flagrant attempt to create an artificially high labour market in favour of those whose votes have been instrumental in getting it into office, not knowing nor caring ought as to the permanency of its creation. The remarks of speakers on Saturday at the opening of the British Immigration League's receiving depot and labour exchange were to the mark, and may be emphasised in this connection. Labour is endeavouring to construct a workingman's paradise, but is building it on a foundation of sand. In excluding its white kindred from overseas it is, in effect, inviting yellow and other lower types of civilisation to come and convert its short-lived paradise into a Hades. Mr. M'Gowen would certainly like his critics to be silent when he and his colleagues are doing wrong. The easiest way to disarm those critics is to refrain from doing the things that they adversely criticise.

The Liberals of Blayney will need no reminder that, while the country has undoubtedly prospered during the last year in spite, and not on account, of Labour rule, it would undoubtedly have prospered still more had the Labour Administration not made some serious blunders. There can be no doubt, for instance, that much capital has been withdrawn on account of the introduction of the confiscatory Gas Bill. The story of the Government's improvident finance and its reckless disregard for those high principles of economy which the party, while out of office, was so fond of preaching, has received wide publicity abroad to our everlasting discredit. We know that the Agent-General has been at his wits' end to get money for the Government—money not to aid it to proceed further on the broad road that all prodigals instinctively follow, but merely to enable the Treasurer to pay the bundle of bills that are already overdue. The loan account was at the close of last month £3,242,271 overdrawn, and as the proceeds of the latest loan come in there will still be nothing to go on with till the money-lender abroad once more looks upon us with favourable eyes. Mr. M'Gowen may be pleased with this record, but we are not, and what is more we feel sure that whatever the measure of prosperity the State has experienced during the last twelve months it would have been still greater had these blunders never been perpetrated. The Liberals of Blayney, both those who voted on Friday last and those who did not, will do well to keep these things in mind when next the opportunity arrives for putting their principles to the test.

HOPES OF PEACE.

Events are shaping for a resumption of hostilities in the Balkans. The Turks have been given till to-day to comply with all demands of the allies. Otherwise the armistice will terminate in four days' time. All along the Turks, by failing to instruct fully their representatives at the Peace Conference in London, leading to reference to Constantinople on every point, have showed their hand of seeking by every possible delay to gain time, and still more time, to recruit their weakened forces. This has been their only chance. Both they and the allies know it, and it would be safe to say that were it not for the shadow of the Powers falling across the combatants the allies ere this would have lost all patience, and would have resumed the war. The allies know that if they do not pay heed to them there is the very probable danger of one or other of the great Powers vitally interested in the future of the Balkans putting forward claims which, if attempted to be enforced, would bring about a general European war. In such a case the provinces of Turkey would be distributed among the nations, but it would not be the States of the Balkans, mere minor Powers, which would profit much. Turkey for the present is standing firm at the proposals for her surrender of Adrianople and the Aegean islands. The retention of the former would still leave her a respectable footing in Europe. The latter she affects to regard as part of her possessions in Asia Minor, which there is agreement shall not be touched, for the simple reason that they would be of no use to the victorious States. But the Aegean islands are essentially Greek, and their possession would enable Greece to strengthen her command over the Aegean Sea. The aim of the Balkan allies is to drive Turkey out of Europe, and to bring peace to her Christian subjects. If Adrianople is retained there may still be the work to be done over again, for the Turk, in spite of revolutions, is the old Turk and his religious fanaticism impels him to persecution. There can be no wonder that the Christian States of the Balkans are prepared to give battle again and complete their work if completion cannot be accomplished by diplomacy.

There is one gleam of hope in the news of this morning. Remarkable optimism in regard to the peace negotiations prevails at Constantinople, and has produced an appreciable effect on stocks. Financial circles are peculiarly well informed when peace negotiations are afoot, and if stocks have been favourably affected in Constantinople it may happen that financiers in Constantinople have received information that at the last the Turkish delegates will yield. Then, too, consols on Thursday were considerably better, which is an indication that financiers in London are hopeful that there will be no more fighting. Were there a probability of hostilities being resumed, financiers would regard the chances of the widening of the area of conflict as having been increased, and consols would not rise. Both parties have felt the financial pinch, and there is little doubt that it was financial difficulty which disposed the allies to give their consent to an armistice instead of making further efforts to capture Adrianople and Chatalja. In the past it may be true that difficulties in raising money never stopped a nation from fighting when it was resolved on war, but to-day the cost of war is so great directly, and indirectly in the loss of trade, that exhaustion would soon supervene. And in this matter the allies are in the superior position. Their credit is still good. It is a question whether Turkey has any credit left. The attempt of Turkey to sow discredit among the allies by seeking to confer with them separately has failed. All that she can hope for is that the Powers will insist on the allies not being too exacting.

IMPERIAL CONSULTATION.

Mr. Harcourt's despatch to the overseas Dominions with regard to their consultation on matters of foreign policy and defence, and their representation on the Imperial Committee of Defence, is a document of historic importance. The offer which it conveys is the direct outcome of the Canadian contribution to the Imperial navy recently proposed by Mr. Borden's Government, but it is also the natural corollary of the proceedings of the Imperial Conference of 1911, and the events which accompanied it. For the first time on that occasion in the history of the British Empire, the accredited representatives of the Dominions were permitted to attend meetings of the Committee of Defence, were brought into touch with the high military and other officials in responsible positions in the mother country, and were given information with regard to the international difficulties and defence problems with which the Imperial Government has to deal. The Colonial Secretary's proposal is that there shall be an arrangement for continuous consultation on defence matters, and for the furnishing of information with regard to foreign policy, and that this shall be brought about by means of formal representation on the Committee of Defence. It may seem strange that the first concession to the demand of the Dominions for continuous consultation of a more effective character than has hitherto obtained should provide for organisation through a body other than the Colonial Office. But that body has little to do directly with the two most vital matters on which the Dominions have the right to receive information—the foreign policy and defence of the Empire. The British Prime Minister is President of the Committee of Defence, and all the members of the Government who are directly associated with the matters with which it has to deal are members of it. The desired ends are therefore more likely to be attained through this body than through the Colonial Office or a permanent secretariat of the Imperial Conference.

When the decision to permit representation of the Canadian Government on the Committee of Defence was first announced, we drew attention to some of the dangers which might follow from the too hurried recasting of Imperial organisation, which seemed to be a concomitant of the scheme announced a few weeks ago. Direct joint responsibility for the foreign policy and defence of the Empire may ultimately be both a desirable and inevitable outcome of the development of Imperial needs. But so radical a change in the organisation of the Empire ought not to be made without the most anxious consideration, lest the bonds that should strengthen may chafe. We are glad, therefore, to note that the present proposal does not necessarily connote anything more than provision for continuous consultation through the medium of the Committee of Defence, whose functions are to remain purely advisory in character. It was clearly impossible that Canada should be the only Dominion to which this privilege was granted. It may not be possible or desirable that, following the Canadian proposal, a Minister of the Commonwealth shall be resident in London in order that he may be able to attend the meetings of the Defence Committee. But it must be advantageous that the Federal Ministry shall be kept informed, continuously and unreservedly, through the High Commissioner or some other representative, of the changing phases of international relations and the altered needs for the defence of Imperial interests which they call forth. Again, it is only by the possession of the fuller knowledge which this scheme will make possible, and by gradually feeling their way in these matters, that the statesmen of the Empire will arrive at some enduring solution of the necessity for closer Imperial union. We have no doubt that the offer of the Imperial Government will be unanimously accepted by the Dominions, and that it will be regarded as a momentous change in inter-Imperial relations calculated to make for the greater efficiency and harmony of the Empire as a whole.

Week-end Cables.—The Secretary to the Postal Department announced in Melbourne on Saturday that the new system of cheap week-end cable messages had been brought into operation. Under this arrangement cable messages lodged for that purpose at any time during the week up to Saturday night will be forwarded as circumstances will permit to Great Britain and South Africa during the slack time for cable business at the week-ends. These letters will be charged for at the rate of 9d per word, with a minimum per message of 18s. They will be posted to the address at end of delivery, unless the sender pays an extra charge of ½d per word for telegraphing.

Lot of the Immigrant.—Mr. Easton, secretary of the British Immigration League, speaking at the opening of the new depot at the Glebe on Saturday, referred to the attitude of the Labour Government towards immigration. He stated that a man was present in the gathering who had been promised permission to nominate his wife and family at certain rates. He carried out his part of the bargain, but the Government had disclaimed the statements made by the Agent-General, and the advertisements from one end of the country to the other. Nothing was more discreditable than the virtual repudiation of a verbal or written contract made by the Government's agents. He hoped that the public of New South Wales would force the Government to carry out contracts verbally made. (Hear, hear.) Professor Anderson Stuart explained that the league was endeavouring to have the matter rectified.

Cricket Contrast.—On Saturday, in first grade cricket, two matches of widely different character were in progress on the rain-sodden wickets. The first, at North Sydney Oval, between Middle Harbour and North Sydney, was marked by batsmen struggling for runs against deadly bowling—the unorthodox of Dr. Hordern and the orthodox of A. J. Hopkins. Bowling through both innings, they dismissed Middle Harbour twice for a total of 118 runs. By scoring 117, and no wickets for 2, North Sydney won outright in a short afternoon's play. It was sensational out-cricket. At Waverley Oval a contrast was provided. Waverley were dismissed for 88, and Central Cumberland passed their total in 39 minutes without the loss of a wicket. Captain L. W. Pye created great amusement by standing up in front of the pavilion and signalling to Waddy, who had just hit a "sixer," to "have a go!" Cranney was the other batsman. The instructions were carried out to the letter. Cranney scored 26 off one over, and Waddy 18 on two occasions off an over. As the hitting proceeded the spectators roared their approval. The ball made impact with the pickets with a resounding thud, and frequently a spectator could be seen endeavouring to effect a catch some distance beyond the boundaries. So terrific was the hitting that 44 runs were scored off two overs, and 64 runs in 11 minutes! P. Newton delivered 42 balls for 92 runs, which were actually scored off 25 balls, at the rate of over two runs per ball. Waverley scored 88 runs off 33.1 overs, and Central Cumberland 285 off 35.1 overs, so that it may be seen at what a great pace the visitors got their runs. Eight runs per over should satisfy the most exacting enthusiast. Central Cumberland's meteoric hitting recalled that by Paddington against Waverley at Hampden Oval some seasons ago. On that occasion Victor Trumper scored 50 runs in 5¼ minutes, T. Rose being the bowler to suffer most.

"Nerves" on a First Night.—Mr. Allen Doone in the middle of a highly successful first night of "The Parish Priest" at the Palace Theatre on Saturday, was evidently hurt and offended to an extent which spurred him to quite eloquent protest at the end of the second act. The Irish actor-manager is apparently a fluent speaker when deeply moved, so that his remarks ran into much valuable space from a press point of view. But the pith of the whole matter was that the play had been staged all over the United States for years, and had been everywhere enjoyed and approved of by Catholic prelates and Protestant pastors. "Many had it moved to tears, and yet, after all the kindness he had received from Australian audiences, he had brought it to Sydney to be laughed at. (Here the listeners, who had been as quiet as mice whilst absorbing the atmosphere of a comedy they admired, gasped with astonishment.) Whether they liked the piece or not (threateningly) he would keep it on for the fortnight. (Delighted cheers.) He failed to see anything ridiculous in the comedy. But some ladies near at hand had stung him beyond endurance with irrelevant laughter and satirical comment. He must request them either to leave the house and recover their money at the box-office or behave properly. He was Irish, and must speak out. (Cheers.) Never had he—well, he admitted he was a bit overcome. But he now saw it wasn't a Sydney audience, but only one or two persons in it. (Cheers.) To make funny remarks in the auditorium when sentiment ruled the stage was not a sign of wit but ill-breeding." (Cheers.) The close of the speech found the actor-manager in high good humour as he added a few graceful words for his exit, so that a few minutes later, the song "My Old-fashioned Mother" proved him in excellent voice. As far as the mass of the audience was concerned, the cause of the trouble never reached their ears; and a little of it, at least, must be put down to "nerves," brought with him from America.

Australia's Liquor Law.—The following paragraph, clipped from the Macon (Georgia, U.S.A.) "Telegraph" has been forwarded for the edification of the Premier of Victoria:—"The Australian liquor law is the best in the world if you want to control the traffic and at the same time make it produce a revenue. In Australia they allow as many saloons as there are men who are willing to pay the nominal license, which is just enough to pay the registration fee. Every man who drinks or who expects to drink in a saloon must go to the city hall and take out a license, in the form of a brass check, on which is stamped a number, and for which he pays 5 dollars a year. This he must always carry with him, and before he can get a drink in a saloon he must display that brass check. If he is a native regular customer, a barkeeper looks over his books, and tallies his drink or drinks. If he is a stranger and has taken out his license, the new man is entered on the books with his number, and his drinks entered up against him. Failure to do this, or selling a man a drink without having been shown the brass check means the absolute and actual closing of the saloon, and there is no appeal. Every morning a black list is sent out from the city hall to each saloon, and woe betide any barkeeper who sells a drink to a man whose name is on that list. Then there is a public record of every man who takes a drink, and the number of drinks he takes in the course of a day, week, month, or year."

PERSONAL.

Mr. David Storey, M.L.A., left for Queensland last evening, and contemplates returning to Sydney about the 15th instant.

Professors Kirk and Laby, two of the New Zealand delegates to the Australasian Science Congress, will arrive in Sydney from Wellington by the Manuka to-morrow.

Mr. David Cunningham, who has been appointed Deputy Grand Secretary of the United Grand Lodge of Freemasons of New South Wales, was made presentations at the offices of Messrs. McMurtrie and Co., Ltd., Clarence-street, on Friday, the occasion being his resignation, as sample-room manager, after 21 years' service, to take up his new position. The employees' presentation consisted of a gold watch, and was made by Mr. C. J. Morton. Mr. G. Michaelis, managing director, supported by Messrs. G. and F. Nettheim, directors, presented Mr. Cunningham, on behalf of the firm, with a silver tea and coffee service.

Mr. Henry Edwards, Chief Clerk in Lunacy, who is on leave prior to retirement, was given a very cordial send-off on Thursday last. Many of the staff attended. Mr. C. H. Burnett spoke eulogistically of the services and high character of Mr. Edwards, who was for over 35 years in Government employment, and for quite 25 years of that period in the position he has now relinquished.

Mr. H. Pearce, who has been manager of the Hongkong branch of the New Zealand Insurance Company for some time, was a passenger by the Empire, which arrived from the East on Saturday.

Messrs. C. E. Oliver, engineer-in-chief of the Melbourne Water and Sewerage Board, G. Higgins, lecturer in engineering at the University of Melbourne, and G. Kermode, engineer for roads, bridges, and harbour works in Victoria, who are inspecting various dredging and reclamation works in New South Wales and Queensland, on behalf of the Victorian Government, left Sydney last evening for Newcastle. From there they will go to Brisbane and Tweed Heads.

Mr. J. R. Sinclair, M.L.C., of New Zealand, with Mrs. Sinclair and Miss Sinclair, will arrive in Sydney from London by the Maloja. Mr. Sinclair is the New Zealand representative on the Imperial Trade Commission.

Mr. M. B. Hanson, on the occasion of his retirement after 27 years' service with Kitchen and Sons, Ltd., Kent-street, was presented on Friday with a silver tea and coffee service. The gift was made on behalf of the staff by Mr. Maxwell, secretary, supported by Messrs. Beaumont and Hall.

NAVIGATION ACT.

RESTRICTIONS ON MAIL STEAMERS.

AUSTRALIAN CONDITIONS ON COAST.

The Navigation Act, which was passed by the Federal Parliament last session, has been reserved for the King's signature. This means that the Governor-General has seen fit to refer it to the Imperial authorities for consideration. Assent may be refused, or it may be deferred.

The measure as it stands contains drastic provisions in regard to the Australian trade. Notably the English mail steamers are considerably affected, as the measure has been designed to bring them under local conditions when they are in Australian waters; and foreign and subsidised vessels are excluded from coastal trade altogether. That is to say, the P. and O. Company will have to pay its lascars the rates ruling in the Commonwealth from the time the vessels arrive at Fremantle till they leave that port again on the return voyage, and will have to provide certain accommodation and lavatory and sanitary arrangements, etc.

The clauses relating to the coastal trade enjoin that licenses must be obtained in order that passengers or cargo may be carried to and from interstate ports. The foreign passenger liners are dealt with by a clause which says that a ship shall not engage in the "coasting trade" which is receiving, or for the preceding twelve months has received, directly or indirectly, "a subsidy or bonus from any foreign Government." Payment for "services rendered in the carriage of mails, passengers, or goods, at rates based solely on the actual commercial value of these services, shall not be taken to be a subsidy." This latter simply means that, say, the payment of the fare of an official by his Government will not be a subsidy or bonus.

The coastal licenses will be granted on condition that the seamen employed on a ship in any part of the coasting trade shall be paid "wages at the current rates ruling in Australia for seamen employed in that part of the coasting trade." Where the vessel goes beyond Australian ports the wages due under the section referred to must be paid before the ship leaves Australia. The P. and O. and Orient liners therefore would have to have a squaring up with their crews at Fremantle. In the event of the crews being originally engaged at higher wages than prevail in Australia, the original agreement will hold. An award of the Commonwealth Arbitration Court, which is binding or applicable to seamen in the coasting trade, is to be prima facie evidence on the subject. Where a vessel registered in Australia, or engaged in the coasting trade carries a library, as is the case with all modern passenger carriers, the seamen are to be entitled to obtain books from it, unless there is a library for their special use.

COMFORTS OF THE SAILORS.

The accommodation provisions state that in vessels registered in Australia, or engaged in the coastal trade, the owners must have the officers' rooms, the engine room, and the stokehole adequately ventilated. Each officer up to at least four must have a room to himself, containing not less than 184 cubic feet content, with separate entrance to the deck, and not opening directly into the engine-room.

In the case of "limited coast trade" vessel (which means sea-going ships exclusively engaged on short voyages to and from Australian ports within limits not exceeding a radius of 400 miles, to be prescribed) of less than 300 tons gross, each two officers are to have a separate room of 350 cubic feet content. In river and bay ships the accommodation is to be prescribed.

In the seamen's quarters each is to have not less than 140 cubic feet of space, and not less than 18 feet superficial, measured on the deck or floor, with not less than five feet between bunks at the forward or narrow end. The accommodation must not be below the winter load-line, must be adequately lighted, free from all goods and properly adapted for the preservation of the health and comfort of the seamen berthed therein." Inflow and out-take of air, and proximity to any prejudicial or unpleasant source of smell, are dealt with in special clauses. The bunks are to be made of metal.

On an open deck a separate mess-room is to be provided for the crew, but where in the opinion of the Minister impracticable structural alterations would be entailed it may be in some other part of the ship, or else there must be folding or sliding tables in the forecastle.

Sanitary, hospital, and lavatory accommodation, including bathrooms, as in the opinion of a medical inspector (nominated by the Minister) are sufficient, are to be provided, and in the case of steamships there must be an adequate supply of hot fresh water for the use of all those employed in connection with the engines. These provisions, and the one as to a separate mess-room, do not apply to river and bay vessels, but the owners of those boats are to make such provision as is prescribed for meal taking, and sanitary and lavatory accommodation, including bathrooms.

The foregoing are the main provisions for the arrangements as to the crews, and they must be complied with by the vessels from overseas before they may carry passengers or cargo from Sydney to Melbourne, from Fremantle to Adelaide, or from any port in Australia to any other within the Commonwealth.

PROVISIONS MAY BE HELD BACK.

There is one other clause in which great interest centres. It is as follows:—

"The Governor-General may, by order, declare that the carrying of passengers between specified ports in Australia by British ships shall not be deemed engaging in the coasting trade."

This takes out of the Act the whole of the provisions in regard to the P. and O. and Orient liners, and other British vessels, and places them in the hands of the Minister for Customs. It presumably is a provision which will, if applied, relate to British vessels as a whole without distinction.

OTHER PROVISIONS.

In general, the remainder of the Act is in agreement with the British Merchant Shipping Act, and parts of the New Zealand Act, and some clauses of the N.S.W. Act are embraced. It contains 425 clauses, and, in addition, regulations are to be drawn up, covering several matters. Naval vessels are exempt. In the preliminary paragraphs it is stated that oversea vessels carrying through passengers or cargo to ports beyond Australia, and the territories under the authority of the Commonwealth, shall not be deemed to be taking part in the coastal trade, and the Governor-General may declare that carrying passengers or cargo to or from Commonwealth territories and ports of Australia, do not bring vessels under the coastal trade provisions. An office called the Mercantile Marine Office, is to be established in each port as the Minister thinks fit, with a superintendent in charge.

TO SUPPRESS CRIMPING.

An important provision is included in the Act, put in with the object of combating the crimping evil, of which remarkable stories have from time to time been heard not only in Australia—Newcastle particularly—but from all over the world. No person, it states, other than a superintendent, a "seamen's inspector," or the owners or officers of a vessel, shall engage "or supply" seamen under a penalty of £50, or three months' imprisonment.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

Every foreign-going vessel and coastal trader, excepting the "limited coast-trade ships," shall, if she carries 50 or more persons (passengers and crew), must be equipped with efficient wireless apparatus, and carry a person holding a prescribed certificate of skill in operating it. The provisions are taken from the Imperial Wireless Telegraphy Bill of 1910.

FEDERAL LOANS.

MELBOURNE, Saturday.

Referring to-day to the loans to the States from the Commonwealth trust funds, the Prime Minister, Mr. Fisher, stated that the Queensland renewal was not the first transaction of the kind at 4 per cent. As Treasurer, he was in charge of those trust funds, and he had to see that they returned a fair current rate of interest. This was why the rate had to be raised to 4 per cent., not only for Queensland, but for all States.

MOTORING TROUBLES.

An interesting story of his experiences in the Northern Territory was narrated by Professor Baldwin Spencer on his arrival in Sydney by the steamer Empire from Darwin on Saturday evening.

Professor Spencer was appointed by the Commonwealth Government to investigate the condition of the aborigines. He has been travelling in the Territory for 12 months, including a motor journey of 1200 miles through more or less wild country, and trips to Bathurst and Melville Islands. A journey of a hundred miles or so is no light undertaking in the Territory. Roads are practically non-existent there, and one has to make his way as best he can along rough tracks, through thick scrub, and to negotiate innumerable creeks, and every now and then big rivers infested with alligators. "If," he remarked, at the outset of the conversation, "the people down south imagine that the officials in the Territory are enjoying a picnic, they are labouring under a very great mistake."

As a sample of his own experiences, Professor Spencer told a story of the trip he had made to Melville Island with a man named Joe Cooper, one of the best known of the buffalo hunters of the Territory. "I set out in a lugger from Darwin one very wild night," he said. "It was so wild that a steamer and a couple of other boats that had gone out turned back to seek shelter. However, Cooper went on, and I with him, and we had a pretty exciting time, I can tell you; in fact, I would not care about the same experience again. It took us three whole days to cover 60 miles. We were all the time in the teeth of a howling gale."

On Melville Island the professor saw some extremely interesting native ceremonies, especially one concerned with the burial of the dead. The natives on Melville and Bathurst Islands were, he stated, about the wildest of the aboriginals in the north, and the finest as far as physique was concerned. He secured some cinematograph pictures of their ceremonies, which he described as among the most weird and picturesque he had seen.

BUFFALO HUNTING.

Later on he went to the Alligator River to investigate the native tribes in that locality, and was the guest for a couple of months of one of the best known of the Northern Territory identities, Mr. Paddy Cahill, who lives in a very wild part with his wife, and has wonderful influence over the blacks. Cahill is a fine specimen of the Australian bushman, and he and Cooper were the first to start shooting buffaloes on horseback. This is as thrilling sport as any man could wish for. The horse, with the hunter on its back, sets out at full gallop after the buffalo, and the shot is not fired till the horse and buffalo are practically abreast. The instant the rifle is discharged the horse veers round to avoid the fall of the buffalo if the bullet has found its mark in the right spot, or the inevitable charge if it has not been killed outright.

THE ALLIGATOR RIVER.

The journey to the Alligator River is another of the interesting episodes of the professor's experiences. He set out from Darwin in an oil launch about 20ft long, the crew consisting of three black boys and a half-caste, who was supposed to understand the running of the boat. It was not till they had got some distance away from Darwin that he discovered that none of them had ever been to the Alligator River, and had only a hazy idea where it was. There was no chart aboard, and they simply had to hug the coast, and, as it were, feel their way around. All went well till the second night out, when they struck a mud bank, and were left high and dry when the tide went out. They floated off next day, and made for a distant point, and kept their eyes open for two islands that he knew were some little distance from the mouth of the river. An ordinary map of the territory, which the professor happened to have with him, was shown to the half-caste skipper, but was as much a mystery to him as would have a page of hieroglyphics or of shorthand. However, it enabled Professor Spencer to locate the position, and by-and-bye the two islands he was in search of were sighted. They made for a narrow strait between the islands, and soon were in trouble again, the boat running on to a reef. The situation was a perilous one for a time, but fortunately the tide was rising, and after a while they got off and negotiated the passage safely. They found out afterwards that the proper course was round the northern island, and not by the passage they had taken. The coast was fringed for miles with mangroves, and the next difficulty was to find the right opening. After trying this one and that one, they eventually got into the river proper, and proceeded up it 80 miles till they came to Mr. Cahill's station.

Professor Spencer spent about two months there investigating the habits and customs of the aborigines, and watching the performances of various ceremonies. In certain respects the customs of the tribes in this part of Australia differed from those of the natives in other districts. He had been especially anxious, he said, to visit this part because it was inhabited by a very large number of natives, and would, he thought, probably form a very important reserve for the aborigines in that locality. Mr. Cahill had already been appointed a temporary superintendent of the natives in the Alligator River district. Professor Spencer travelled down the East Alligator River, and then down the South Alligator River with Mr. Cahill, and afterwards, in company with him, went overland till they struck the railway line between Darwin and Pine Creek.

HARD WORK AND GOOD HEALTH.

"My next trip," the professor went on, "was in a motor car with the Administrator (Professor Gilruth). We went down the telegraph line as far as Newcastle Waters, and then eastward till we struck Boorooloola station on the Gulf. From there we travelled northward to the Roper River, and back to Darwin. We had a great many experiences on this motor journey, which is probably the roughest one that has yet been undertaken in Australia, but it showed us how important a factor motor traction will probably be in the opening up of the Territory. At present there are practically no roads up there, and one has to follow rough tracks across the country, making travelling very hard indeed. We were continually stuck up by creeks, and time after time had, with chains and tackle, to spend hours in dragging the car across the beds of the creeks and up steep banks. On one occasion it took eight hours' solid work pulling on the chains to get the car across a creek, and on another occasion we spent seven hours in levering the car out of the sand, and making a corduroy track in order to traverse a sandy strip half a mile in width. We realised after our experience on this trip that it was quite possible for a white man to do pretty hard physical work in the Territory; in fact, we found that the harder we worked the better we were in health, and that is—at all events in the interior of the Territory—the experience of everyone."

MOST PRIMITIVE RACE.

As far as the question of the treatment of the aborigines was concerned, he said that the principal object of his mission had been to formulate a policy, but he could not discuss this matter in a definite way till he had reported to the Federal Government. He did say, however, that he thought it was possible that a scheme might be devised whereby the aborigines might both be preserved and become useful members of the community. The question was a very difficult one, and would require careful handling. The natives were an extremely interesting people, and in their customs were probably the most primitive human beings existing at the present time. This made it all the more difficult to deal with them when they came into contact with the higher civilisation.'

Professor Spencer, who is to lecture before the meeting of the Australian Scientists' Association, in Melbourne on Wednesday, left for the southern capital by last evening's train.

IS IT PEACE?

THE ALLIES' DEMANDS.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.

DECISION MUST BE REACHED TO-DAY.

LONDON, Jan. 3.

The peace conference adjourned to-day until Saturday, when the delegates of the Allies will demand a final answer as to the fate of Adrianople, which the Turkish delegates did not discuss to-day.

The Allies demand that the Turkish delegates shall accept by 4 o'clock on Monday the following terms:—

(1) The relinquishment of Crete.

(2) The ceding of the Aegean Islands.

(3) The delimitation of Thrace, leaving Adrianople in the hands of the allies.

Failing acceptance of these terms by the Turks, a rupture in the negotiations will follow.

LONDON, Jan. 4.

The Turks proposed a boundary starting near Adrianople, leaving the city in Turkish territory, thence following the river Arda westward to Lasos Bay, and eastward to the island of Thasos. They were prepared to renounce Crete to the Great Powers, on condition that they were not asked to cede other islands.

The allies replied, regretting that the Turks ignored the results of the war. They added that they would be justified in ceasing the negotiations forthwith, but would prove conciliatory by delaying the decision till Monday.

Thereupon Reshid Pasha stated that he would be prepared to reply on Saturday afternoon.

Later.

The conference was not continued to-day. At the last moment Reshid Pasha suggested that it be postponed till Monday.

Dr. Daneff, the Bulgarian delegate, states that the Turkish delegates want further instructions before proceeding.

The Turks, on the other hand, state that the adjournment will give the allies time for reflection. The Turkish instructions regarding Adrianople and the islands in the Aegean Sea, they add, are quite definite.

The delegates representing the Balkan allies declare that unless the Turks comply with all demands by Monday hostilities will be resumed four days later.

THE TURKISH PLIGHT.

LONDON, Jan. 4.

The "Daily Telegraph" asserts that the allies have received information to the effect that Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander, has informed the Grand Vizier that he is unable to resume hostilities.

WILL THE POWERS INTERVENE?

LONDON, Jan. 5.

Most of the newspapers are convinced that the Powers are bound to intervene if the conference fails.

TURKISH OPTIMISM.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 4.

Remarkable optimism has prevailed in regard to the peace negotiations, producing an appreciable rise in stocks.

SINCE THE ARMISTICE.

ATHENS, Jan. 4.

Since the armistice over 7000 Greeks and Turks have been killed and wounded.

A DETERMINED KING.

SOFIA, Jan. 4.

King Ferdinand, addressing a deputation from the Sobranje (Bulgarian National Assembly), said that if a settlement was not reached he would not hesitate to resort to arms to compel an equitable satisfaction of the sacrifices made by the allies.

ACTIVITY IN ROUMANIA.

BUCHAREST, Jan. 4.

Officers of the reserve have been ordered to join the colours.

VESSEL [illegible] UP.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 3.

The Ottoman sailing vessel Theodorus, which was carrying a cargo from Dikili, on the west of Asia Minor, to Velona, was accidentally blown up, through striking a floating mine in Smyrna Bay.

VOLUNTARY SURRENDER.

ATHENS, Jan. 3.

An official report states that two thousand Turks, who were garrisoning Chios, an island in the Aegean Sea, have unconditionally surrendered.

A STEAMER SUNK.

TERRIBLE WEATHER.

MANY LIVES LOST.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.

It is reported from Newport News that the steamer Julia Luckenbach has been sunk, as a result of a collision with the British steamer Indrakuala in Chespeake Bay.

The captain and his wife and 20 of the sailors were drowned. Six of the sailors clung to the rigging for hours, and were finally rescued, benumbed with cold.

A terrific storm was raging, and this, to a great extent, paralysed the efforts of the rescuers.

Later.

According to wireless reports, the Indrakuala rescued six of the crew of the Luckenbach.

The Julia Luckenbach was an iron steamer of 2100 tons. She was built at Rotterdam in 1882, and had been used for carrying oil in bulk. Her dimensions were:—Length 313ft, breadth 39.4ft, depth 29.9ft, and she was fitted with electric light and wireless telegraphy. She was owned by Edgar F. Luckenbach, of New York, and was previously known as the Zandam, and prior to that as the Styria.

The Indrakuala is a steel screw steamer of 6000 tons, belonging to the Indra Line, Ltd. She was built by C. Connell and Co., Ltd., of Glasgow, in 1912, and is 430ft long, 54ft broad, and 30.5ft deep.

TRADE UNION BILL.

DISCUSSED BY DELEGATES.

ACCEPTED BY CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Jan. 3.

At a conference of five hundred delegates representing two million trade unionists, Mr. A. Henderson, M.P., moved the adoption of a joint board's report recommending the acceptance of the trade union bill under protest, as an instalment of their requirements.

He urged that the powers given under the bill should be used in strengthening the Labour party's position. When the minorities were converted the trade unionists could go with a united front to Parliament and obtain a reversal of the Osborne judgment.

Mr. Stephen Walsh, M.P., in seconding the motion, declared that the bill restored in a very full and substantial degree the position held before the judgment.

Mr. Stuart, representing the Postmen's Federation, said that if the bill were accepted the Government would not reverse the judgment. Labour was always getting instalments, but never its full demands.

Mr. Smillie said he feared the acceptance of the instalments would retard the reversal of the judgment for many years. The bill proved that the Government distrusted the Labour party.

The motion was carried by 346 votes to 76.

THE ARBITRATION SPIRIT.

MR. TAFT AND THE PANAMA CANAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.

Mr. Taft announces that he is willing to agree to arbitration in regard to the Panama Canal whenever the point at issue is actually reached.

Senator Bacon, commenting on the announcement, said that the United States must submit to arbitration as the only way out of the difficulty.

Senator Townsend opined that the United States might as well abandon the Monroe doctrine as consent to arbitration.

Senator Cullom remarked that Congress could, of its own volition, impose tolls, without reference to any treaty.

Senator Stone said he would rather repeal the canal law than arbitrate.

Mr. Taft does not state what tribunal he desires. He roundly denounces the Senate for rejecting the Anglo-American arbitration proposal, and creating obstacles in the way of the world's peace.

SOUTH AFRICAN COUNCIL.

LONDON, Jan. 3.

General De Wet has resigned from the Union Council of Defence.

CAPETOWN, Jan. 4.

General De Wet's resignation is attributed to the Premier (Mr. Botha) declining to reconsider General Hertzog's reinstatement in the Ministry.

When asked in Melbourne on Saturday whether he would like to make any comment with respect to Mr. Harcourt's cable to the overseas dominions, the Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce) replied: "You had better see Mr. Fisher." The Prime Minister's remarks were very brief. He said "There is nothing new in that message. It is as old as the hills. The Federal Government decided that it was not necessary to have a Minister residing in England. There is no question of policy involved. We have Australian officers on the Defence Council. I have nothing to add to that statement, which I might mention has been made time after time."

MADRID, Jan. 4.

Senator Maura's resignation, with 92 Conservative Senators and Deputies, is due to King Alfonso's approval of a Cabinet composed of Liberals and Republicans, which breaks the tradition that the two monarchical parties shall rule alternately.

A sensation was caused last week by Senator Maura resigning, and the announcement that 92 other Conservative Senators and members of the Chamber of Deputies were also retiring as a protest against King Alfonso accepting Senor Romanone's assurance that his Government commanded a majority.

If the Nationalists recapture the seat they will have a majority in the representation of Ulster.

Colonel Pakenham, commanding the London Irish Rifles, will be the Unionist candidate, and Mr. Shane Leslie, a cousin of Mr. Winston Churchill, the Nationalist candidate.

James Hamilton, the second Duke, was 74 years of age, and married Lady Mary Ann Curzon, daughter of the Earl of Howe, in 1869. He succeeded to the Dukedom in 1885, being previously the representative in the House of Commons for Donegal, in the Conservative interest. The secretary to the Admiralty, Mr. M'Kenna, argued that the bill followed geographical lines, and parishioners living in parishes partly in either country could decide whether they would come within the provisions of the Act.

MINER RUSSELL.

AN INNOCENT MAN.

JUDGE'S REPORT.

DISMISSED ON FALSE REPORT

"Jarvie (manager of the Mount Kembla mine), believing a false report, and moved by a personal objection to Russell, dismissed him for an offence of which he was innocent. I have no doubt that the six other suggested breaches—two only of which are substantiated—are, as reasons for dismissal, after thoughts."

Briefly stated, this is the finding of Judge Scholes, who was recently appointed as a Royal Commission of Inquiry into the dismissal of James Russell, secretary of the Mount Kembla Miners' Lodge, from his employment as a miner in the Mount Kembla colliery, after 12 years of service.

JARVIE AND RUSSELL COMPARED.

The Royal Commissioner says, regarding the dispositions of the two principals to the quarrel:—"I am impressed that Jarvie is apt to think and assert evil against his adversary without basis of fact. I am convinced that he took a strong personal dislike to Russell long before he became manager of the mine, and has been ready to accept any tale and to suspect every mischief against Russell without due investigation.

"Russell is described by the mine officials as "a man of good character, a good miner, one of the best workmen, and as one who has always given the best value for his money.' 'He is aggressive at times,' and, by the under manager, is described as one who 'is at times objectionable in his demeanour.' I think this is a fair description of Russell. He is a man who, as secretary of the lodge, in his interviews with the management, presses the union's claims with energy and at times with aggressiveness, and in one instance he was assertive to the extent of being unmannerly.

"Jarvie states that he believes Russell 'hatches' all the mischief amongst the miners. There is no evidence of this; none was produced by Jarvie; it is only suspicion. On the contrary the officials of the miners' lodge, such as the president and treasurer, testify that Russell has always exerted his influence on the side of continuance of work and the settlement of disputes by constitutional means, and that he has maintained this attitude since his dismissal. This evidence is uncontradicted, and is given by men whose veracity I do not doubt."

In two instances where Russell was charged with having interfered with the management of the mine, the Commissioner found that Russell must be acquitted of the charges.

THE CAVIL TROUBLE.

After referring fully to the dispute in regard to the cavil in February, 1911, the Royal Commissioner says:—"Jarvie's complaint is that Russell 'hatched' this opposition to the cavil, and, when upon the deputation, acted in an insolent and overbearing manner. There is no evidence that Russell 'hatched' the opposition to the cavil. It was another instance of Jarvie's personal dislike to Russell breeding a suspicion unsupported by fact.

"Notwithstanding a resolution of the lodge, Russell admittedly succeeded in obtaining the drawing of the cavil, and promoted a continuance of operations 'under protest,' which have lasted up to a fortnight ago, when the whole question was referred to the newly constituted conciliation committee. Russell is entitled to the credit of using his influence in this instance in opposition to a stoppage of the mine.

RUSSELL UNMANNERLY.

"I am of opinion that what Russell did was not an interference with the management of the mine; but I find against him that he said in an offensive manner, 'The pillars can be worked day shift—I could work it,' and implied that Jarvie did not know his business, and in this was overbearing and unmannerly."

With reference to the fourth charge of interference with the management of the mine, respecting what a deputation from the lodge claimed as a "deficient" place, Judge Scholes says:—"I accept the evidence of Russell and Foye, and reject that of Jarvie, and find that Russell did not tell Foye that 'he was doing wrong,' and that Foye did not so report to Jarvie, and I acquit Russell of interfering with the management of the mine in this instance."

FINDING AGAINST RUSSELL.

The fifth charge related to a breach of rule 171, as follows:—'A person shall not go into any other than his own working-place, nor into any old workings, on any pretence whatever, unless by direct orders from an officer of the mine, or unless called upon to help in case of accident.'

The Commissioner says: "It is apparent that this rule is as important as it is strict. Russell is accused of having in June last ordered one M'Leod to leave his own working place and to work in Russell's working place. On the evidence I find that at the time that M'Leod came in Russell was away from the place with the shot-firer, but, on his own statement, I believe and find that he was concerned with his mates in bringing M'Leod into his place. I do not believe Russell's statement that he had spoken to the deputy and obtained his instructions 'to get in a man.' I have, therefore, to report that Russell, with others, was concerned in a breach by M'Leod of colliery rule 171, and that he also, in this instance, interfered with the management of the mine."

POSTING A NOTICE.

Regarding the posting of a notice by Russell calling a special meeting, and requesting all men who were paid short to bring their pay-sheets, the report states:—

"Jarvie claims that the posting of this notice was an interference with the management of the mine and a departure from the existing custom that men should first bring their short-pay tickets to him for correction. This notice was put up by Russell, under instructions given by the president, in the presence of a meeting of the lodge members, in consequence of many complaints from the members that their pay-tickets were short. I think the lodge officials were entitled to first investigate the matters, and that Russell, in putting up the notice according to the president's instructions, given in the presence of the lodge members, was acting within his duty, and not in breach of any custom."

"I have come to the conclusion that Russell must be acquitted of an attempt in this matter to interfere with the management of the mine by posting the notice, and am of opinion that he, in so doing, was acting according to, and within, his official duty. I think, also, that Jarvie took an exaggerated view of Russell's demeanour at the deputation, a view bred by Jarvie's personal dislike to Russell.

ANOTHER ALLEGED BREACH OF RULE.

"Respecting the claim of Jarvie that Russell issued orders to William Foye and Joseph Foye 'to work eight hours,' contrary to rule 196, the Royal Commissioner, after exhaustively reviewing the evidence, says:—"I believe Russell and William Foye, and disbelieve Joseph Foye, and find that Russell did not tell either William Foye or Joseph Foye that they should work only eight hours; that William Foye did not so report to Jarvie; that Joseph Foye did so report to Jarvie, and that Jarvie believed him. I acquit Russell of having broken rule 196, and am of opinion that the telling of Foye 'to work whatever hours you are told until the lodge decides the question' cannot be twisted into a breach of that rule."

GENERAL REMARKS.

Judge Scholes, in conclusion, remarks:—"It is a noticeable fact that up to July last Mr. Rogers was the mine manager, and, except in one instance, which is not one of those put forward by Jarvie, he never complained either of or to Russell. Mr. John Ryall is the under-manager, and he testifies that, up to the No. 5 incident in June last, although he discusses the miners' affairs daily with Jarvie, he neither knew nor heard of any misconduct on Russell's part.

"It is also a strange fact, if Russell is guilty of these seven charges, that from first to last Jarvie has never called Russell up before him and charged him with his supposed offences, informed him of his accusers, and given him an opportunity of confronting them, or warned him that his conduct was such as to provoke his dismissal.

REASONS FOR DISMISSAL.

"Jarvie now states that the reasons for Russell's dismissal are 'breach of colliery rules' and 'interfering with the management of the mine,' and gives the seven incidents hereinbefore reported. These are reasons additional to those given at the time of the dismissal.

"I find that the real ground for Russell's dismissal is Joseph Foye's false report to Jarvie that Russell had directed him to work eight hours when the management had ordered him to work nine. I find that Jarvie believed Joseph Foye's report, and acted on it. I find that Russell did not so direct Foye. The result is that Jarvie, believing a false report, and moved by a personal objection to Russell, dismissed him for an offence of which he was innocent. I have no doubt that the six other suggested breaches—two only of which are substantiated—are, as reasons for dismissal, afterthoughts."

DR. ROBERTSON EMPHATIC.

Dr. J. R. M. Robertson, managing director of the Mount Kembla Coal and Oil Company, stated emphatically yesterday that the company had not asked for the commission to be appointed, and that they intended managing their own colliery in their own way.

COMING ELECTIONS.

P.L.L. AT WORK.

MR. NIELSEN'S SEAT.

The Political Labour League is getting ready for Federal and State elections. The executive committee in New South Wales has decided to invite nominations from persons willing to contest the Federal seats of New England, Robertson, and Eden-Monaro. Mr. Austin Chapman was not actively opposed in the past because of his Labour sympathies, but of late he has, it is said, shown hostility to some of the party's proposals. The executive, furthermore, takes the view that the absence of a contest in Eden-Monaro tends to shelter the State members, Messrs. Wood and Millard.

The executive is determined that the want of organisation which lost to Labour the Blayney seat shall not apply to the coming State election at Yass. The general secretary, Mr. J. Grant, is notifying the branches of the league in this electorate to take the necessary steps to see that all electors are enrolled, and is suggesting that a joint meeting of the branches should be convened to take the necessary steps for the selection of a candidate. This combined meeting will be held at Yass at an early date.

In response to a request from a large number of branches in the new Macquarie electorate, it has been decided to convene a meeting of delegates of P.L.L. branches, to be held at the Trades Hall, Lithgow, on the 18th inst. The object of this meeting is to invite nominations from persons willing to contest the electorate and to initiate the work of the campaign.

WOLLONGONG SEAT.

MR. NICHOLSON TO BE OPPOSED.

In addition to the unrest prevailing on the South Coast over the Russell case, there is every indication of an early upheaval in the realm of politics.

At the aggregate meeting of miners held at Bellambi about a month ago, the feeling of a number of the men towards the present member (Mr. J. B. Nicholson) was hostile, while the president and secretary of the union both took occasion to severely castigate him. The opposition has now assumed a concrete form, and many of the men state openly that in order to get effective direct representation they require a man who will not be hampered by the caucus. A large proportion of the miners seem to have developed a hostility to the present political Labour party, and considerable criticism has been levelled at Mr. Beeby's Industrial Disputes Act, which renders men liable to have their wages garnisheed for striking. This is one factor, and another is the prosecution of a number of strikers.

But, apart from this, the majority of the men incline to the belief that the 20 years' existence of the Labour party has not materially improved the miners' condition. Other trades and callings, they say, may have secured advantages from awards and wages boards, but all the miner has won he flatters himself, rightly or wrongly, he has got by the strike. And that this is the weapon he still intends to use is only too apparent.

The announcement has been made that Mr. A. A. Lysaght, the well-known Wollongong solicitor, is to be put forward as the miners' choice for the State Parliament, and it seems to be assumed by those working for him that he will be returned, notwithstanding any opposition from either the Labour or Liberal party. It will be remembered that he successfully appeared for the men at the Royal Commission on the Kembla disaster 10 years ago, and it was he who defended the Clifton strikers two years ago, when the prosecution was forced to abandon all the cases, and pay each man 10s for time lost, together with costs.

But perhaps the immediate matter which has caused the men to regard him as a desirable representative is his handling of the Russell case. His address at the close of the commission is being freely quoted from by the men as showing their justification for the determined stand they seem resolved on taking.

THE BURSARIES.

HIGH SCHOOL SYLLABUS CRITICISED.

BATHURST, Saturday.

In a review of the education question, Rev. M. J. O'Reilly, C.M., president of St. Stanislaus' College, and a member of the Bursaries Board, comments on the recently-passed Bursary Endowment Act.

"It is too soon," he says, "to speak with much confidence of the measure. So much depends on the spirit in which it is administered, that time alone can solve the problems which group themselves around it; but it is something gained that, after having ploughed a lonely furrow for 40 years, the State should at length have become aware of our existence. As things are, we have equal rights at least on paper with the High Schools of the Department of Education, and we participate in equal terms with them in the bursaries that lead from primary to secondary schools, and thence to the university.

"It remains to be seen, however, how far the Bursaries Board will amend the High School syllabus in the direction required when, at the beginning of this year, it receives deputations with that object in view from the Catholic and non-Catholic registered schools, for it is agreed on all hands, failing some considerable modifications, that the syllabus would do serious harm to higher education in the State. During the short time that it has been in operation in the departmental High Schools it has met with much adverse criticism, which favours the hope that the skilled criticism of experts outside the department will carry much weight with the board."

SHOT IN THIGH.

A PEDESTRIAN'S MISFORTUNE.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Samuel Ingham, aged 49, miner, was walking along Gertrude-street, Fitzroy, to-night, when he was shot in the left thigh with a revolver.

Ingham thinks that the occurrence was accidental, as he believes he had no enemies. A woman told the police that a few minutes previously she saw a number of youths walking along the streets. One had a revolver in his hand. She heard the report of a revolver, and thought they were skylarking. Then she noticed that Ingham had been wounded.

"A SHOCKING ROAD."

SYDNEY HIGHWAY CONDEMNED.

BATHURST, Saturday.

The Mayor (Ald. A. Rigby), who has just motored from the metropolis, says that the Sydney end of the main Sydney-Bathurst road is in a shocking state, and he wonders at motorists attempting to negotiate it. The Bathurst locality roads are asphalt tracks in comparison, he adds.

OVER 200 POISONED.

DOCTORS PUZZLED.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Sunday.

The Wanganui ptomaine cases now total over 200. Some are reported at New Plymouth. No deaths have occurred. The doctors are puzzled. Some of the patients did not touch the ice cream which has been blamed for the trouble, yet the symptoms resemble those of ptomaine poisoning.

MINING MENACE.

ANXIOUS POSITION IN NORTH.

OFFICERS' ADVICE IGNORED.

WEST MAITLAND, Saturday.

The mining situation in South Maitland fields is causing considerable anxiety in the district.

Contrary to the advice of the officers of the Miners' Federation, the miners' lodges have resolved to hold an aggregate meeting on Monday, chiefly in regard to the abolition of the afternoon shift, and to ventilate other grievances. It is felt that holding such a meeting can only have the effect of precipitating a crisis.

Interviewed this afternoon in respect to the position, Mr. W. Brennan, general secretary of the Colliery Employees' Federation, stated that the position was such as to cause the executive officers the greatest anxiety. So far as the claims of the men were concerned, with respect to the afternoon shift, they, as well as a great majority of members, were in full sympathy with them, not only as regards payment, but for the entire abolition of the shift, knowing, as they did, the disabilities connected with the working of the same, but while such was the case, they had to recognise that, in their endeavours for betterment of conditions, it was necessary to proceed cautiously, and no matter what their feelings might be, to refrain from taking up a course which might prove detrimental to the best interests of the federation. Of course, there were times when men became so incensed at the treatment accorded them by the proprietors that they had to put their back to the wall, and fight as the only means of protest against such treatment, but invariably when a position of that sort had to be faced, the whole of the members had the matter before them, and had a say as to what course should be adopted, but, unfortunately, in the present case, a section of the federation decided upon a course which seems likely to involve the federation, without the whole of its members having been consulted.

"It is true," Mr. Brennan explained, "that the men have had to wait a long time for their case to be dealt with, and, in my opinion, far too long, but the case is listed, and in view of the fact that the proprietors' representatives have already refused to sit two hours a day longer, as requested, such time to be devoted to the hearing of this case, we fail to see how the course proposed can in any way prove beneficial. The position was discussed at a delegate board meeting on Thursday last, when a resolution disapproving of the action about to be taken, was carried, and three executive officers were deputed to attend the conference which was being held, and place the resolution before the men; also urge them to refrain from holding the proposed meeting; but, unfortunately, the advice we tendered was not accepted. On the following day the president, Mr. Watson, had a conversation with Mr. Cant over the telephone, and advised that a conference should be held between the proprietors and the lodges affected by the afternoon shift, to endeavour to bridge the difficulty that had arisen, but as Mr. Cant thought that the time was too limited nothing came of the suggestion. This morning Mr. Cant rang us up, and notified us that, in consequence of the proposed aggregate meeting on Monday, they were not prepared to sit on the joint committee on that date, and intimated further that, under the circumstances, they did not intend to sit again on the joint committee until they consulted their association. The executive officers at once issued urgent telegrams to the secretaries of the lodges concerned, strongly advising them to continue working, in the hope that even now at the eleventh hour the men concerned will see that they will be acting not only in their own interests, but in the best interest of the federation, by accepting such advice."

When asked if it was the intention of the executive officers to attend the aggregate meeting in the event of it being held, Mr. Brennan stated that in view of the fact that the meeting was convened without consulting the federation, and against the wishes and advice of the delegate board and executive officers, they could not attend, but must disclaim all responsibility in connection therewith.

THE SHIFT QUESTION.

FORGOTTEN PLEDGES.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

Once more an industrial storm is looming on the western horizon of the northern coalfields. Ten collieries on the South Maitland field are to be thrown idle on Monday because the miners are to hold an aggregate meeting to consider, among other things, the afternoon shift question. The third shift has already been abolished, and now the miners are seeking for the abrogation of the second shift. The officers of the Colliery Employees' Federation have done their utmost to prevent the meeting being held.

The miners have just concluded a holiday dating from December 24. The majority returned to work last Thursday, but many have not yet put in an appearance. The coal that has been sent down to the dyke to be loaded into steamers and sailing vessels during the past few days has been barely sufficient for requirements. Steamers have been delayed in the port for hours waiting for trucks of coal to arrive at the cranes. For the coming week there is every appearance of a repetition of those delays, which will undoubtedly be increased by the action of the Maitland miners in taking the day off.

The joint conciliation committee, which adjourned over the Christmas holidays, and which was to meet on Monday, has been deferred until the miners return to work. The committee will not sit while the mining employees are absent from their work. During the past month the attention of the committee has been taken up almost entirely with the claim for payment for small coal, and other important matters have been postponed for that claim to be heard. It was at the request of the colliery employees' representatives that the small coal claim should be continued until finished. The miners were anxious for it.

The present trouble refers to the abolition of the afternoon shift. When the chairman of the committee reconsidered the question of the abolition of the shift on the Maitland field his award stated that the miners were entitled to additional payment by way of reasonable compensation while employed on such shift; but he left the payment to be mutually arranged between the managers and the employees concerned. Failing settlement, the award continued, the matter was to be referred to the joint committee. The miners are dissatisfied, and, instead of placing their grievance before the committee, prefer to meet together to find out some other way of obtaining their wants.

The Maitland miners have evidently once more forgotten, or have totally ignored, the pledge which they made about the middle of November last. It reads: "That this combined meeting gives an assurance to the Colliery Employees' Federation that no stoppage of work will take place until every opportunity is afforded the executive and the joint committee to have any grievance amicably settled." Before that pledge was given a crisis threatened. The joint committee was being hampered and delayed by the stoppages for petty reasons in many of the mines in both the Newcastle and Maitland districts. They determined that that state of affairs must be changed, and they adjourned indefinitely until they could obtain the assurance of the miners being loyal to their pledges. Nearly seven weeks have passed since the assurance was given to the committee. During that time they have been loyal to their word, but now they have broken it.

WARSHIP BUILDING.

AUSTRALIAN TIMBERS NOT AVAILABLE.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce) was asked on Saturday what he thought of the recently-expressed intention of the New South Wales Government to place imported timber in the Commonwealth warships being built at Cockatoo Island. "Personally," he said, "I know nothing of the intention to disregard Australian wood. However, the New South Wales Government is in the position of a contractor, and it rests with that Ministry to say what wood shall be used. Our duty is to supervise and see that whatever is put into the ships is sound. The difficulty my department has experienced regarding Australian timber is not that it is unsuitable, but that it is not properly seasoned. It is not stocked in sufficiently large quantities."

HARDWICK RETIRES.

A GREAT SWIMMER.

BIG LOSS TO AMATEUR SPORT.

The selection of the team to defend the premiership title of the Sydney Swimming Club in the 500 yards teams' swimming championship of the State at the forthcoming State championship carnivals makes public the retirement of H. H. Hardwick, the club captain, from active participation in amateur sport.

Ever since his return from Stockholm, Hardwick has been considering the question of retirement, and has now definitely made up his mind. He will not be a competitor in the State championships, and will not again be seen in competitive swimming.

His withdrawal marks the close of an exceptionally brilliant career, as an all-round athlete. It is in amateur swimming and boxing that he is best known, but in Rugby football he has earned the reputation of being a fast, dashing forward, with the Sydney and Eastern Suburbs clubs, and has represented the metropolis. In boxing his skill and ability were known to but few, except his instructor, Arthur Scott, until, in the face of much adverse criticism, he was selected to represent Australasia in the boxing and swimming events at the Empire Sports Festival in London in 1911. How he justified his selection by defeating the British, South African, and Canadian heavyweight champions in less than one round each is a matter of athletic history.

In swimming his triumphs have been many and various. As a schoolboy he held both the Fort-street School and all-schools' championships. Swimming consistently in State championships for several years without conspicuous success, he finally won the 100 and 220 yards championships in 1907, and followed this by other successes in succeeding seasons. During one season he won all State championships in which he competed, from 100 yards to one mile. Hardwick has also been a member of the Sydney Club's water polo and premiership champion teams.

In Australian swimming championships he has represented his State during the past three years, and has at various times held the 220yds, 440yds, and 880yds Australian championships. He represented Australasia in the 100yds swimming championship of the British Empire in London, and by winning this and the boxing event, accomplished a brilliant double performance, which furnished the only success of the Australasian team.

On his return, he was nominated as a member of the Australasian team for the swimming events at the Fifth Olympic Games, at Stockholm, and the Olympic events formed the closing scenes of his athletic career. On the incapacitation of Longworth, the Sydney swimmer undertook the tremendous task of swimming in all free-style events, in order that Australasia might be represented, and was called on to swim every day for ten successive days in the heats and finals of the 100 metres, 400 metres, 1500 metres, and teams' race. This unique feat was unrivalled by any other swimmer at the Games, and the merit of the performance was shown by his final record against the most wonderful gathering of swimmers in the world of one first place (teams' race) and two third places. Hardwick has at various times defeated the most prominent Australasian swimmers over various distances, including Cecil Healy, M. E. Champion, and F. de Beaurepaire. Hardwick is personally one of the most popular men in sporting circles, and his high conception of sport and manliness finds its reward in the universal esteem in which he is held.

STORM AT SEA.

SHIP ON BEAM ENDS.

MAN WASHED OVERBOARD.

The Norwegian ship Gunda, which arrived yesterday from Marseilles with a cargo of tiles, had an exciting time towards the end of her voyage.

When the vessel was off the south-west of Tasmania, on December 27, she encountered a storm of cyclonic violence, which lasted for a couple of hours. The wind blew in terrific force, and placed the vessel practically on her beam ends. While the storm was at its height several huge seas broke on board in quick succession.

One of these washed the cook completely out of the galley, and carried him over the side of the vessel. Luckily, the same wave washed him back again, and he succeeded in grasping a rope and holding on.

The waves carried a large boat away and smashed another to pieces. Deckhouses and fittings were damaged, a couple of companion ladders being broken and washed overboard. The door of the forecastle was broken, and the water, rushing inside, flooded the bunks. Seven of the sails were blown out of the bolt ropes.

For about two hours the vessel lay with her starboard rail under water at the mercy of the waves which crashed over her. Her large dead-weight cargo of tiles made it even more difficult for her to battle against the elements, and Captain Andersen had to wait for the weather to moderate. Luckily, the wind abated, and the vessel righted herself. She experienced fine weather after this until reaching port.

A CAPTAIN KILLED.

DECAPITATED BY DERRICK.

WOLLONGONG, Sunday.

At Port Kembla jetty this morning a fatal accident occurred to John Roster, captain of the steamer Wandra, which is owned by Allen Taylor and Co. It appears that the steamer arrived just before 11 o'clock this morning, with a load of 10,000ft of timber for the Public Works Department, from Narooma. Shortly after arrival, unloading operations were commenced at low level jetty, and whilst this was in progress Captain Roster was standing on some timber at the edge of the boat, when the wire rope holding up the derrick broke, and the derrick came down on the captain's head, which was completely knocked off.

Captain Roster had been in the employ of the firm for 10 years. He was about 45 years of age, and leaves a wife and seven children, who reside at Macdonald-street, Leichhardt.

SHIPPING COMPANY.

CHANGE IN HOWARD SMITH CO., LTD.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

Alterations of consequence in the business arrangements of the Howard Smith Company, Ltd., are being made with the object of separating the shipping from the other assets of the company. The changes do not affect the position of the company towards its own shareholders, but have to do with the method in which the assets are held. The steamers and plant now owned by the company are to be acquired by the newly-formed Australian Steamship Company, Ltd., which has an authorised capital of £2,000,000. The issued capital will consist of shares to be held by the Howard Smith Company, representing a valuation to be made of the steamers, etc., taken over, and in the business management the Howard Smith Company will be managing agents for the Australian Steamship Company, the directors being the same for both companies.

TWO GIRLS DROWNED.

CAUGHT IN UNDERTOW.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

A distressing bathing fatality occurred at Warrnambool yesterday. The victims were two young girls, named respectively Frances Dorothy Wood, aged 16, and Helen Mary Easton, aged 12. Accompanied by two girl friends, Annie Webb and Mollie Smith, they went to the ladies' bathing reserve on the Sandy Beach. There was a nasty sea running, and the undercurrent was very strong. An unusually high wave came in, and caught the group. Miss Webb and Mollie Smith managed to scramble ashore, but the other two were caught in the undercurrent, and quickly carried beyond their depth. The bodies were washed ashore half an hour later.

BLAYNEY.

THE LABOUR BETRAYAL.

AN OUTSPOKEN M.L.A.

P.L.L. SECRETARY'S STRONG OPINION.

(BY OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

A new element has entered into the Blayney contest, which makes the return of the Liberal candidate at the second ballot almost an absolute certainty. There is a serious split in the Labour party.

The Political Labour League and the Ministry are at daggers drawn. The former, considering that the movement has been betrayed by the leaders, advise the Labour supporters to vote for a straight-out Liberal rather than for a political traitor. The Premier, on the other hand, urges his followers not to help return a "Conservative," and inferentially suggests that they should support Mr. Beeby.

Under the circumstances it is probable that large numbers of Labour supporters will decline to vote at all. They feel that they were betrayed by their leaders. This view is expressed in no uncertain way by Labour members who were in the electorate, and their statements are corroborated by various Liberals, particularly Mr. Varney Parkes, who has no doubt that a slight effort by the Ministers would have got their candidate into the second ballot. The member for Canterbury asks the pertinent question, "Was Labour sold?"

"BETRAYED!"

"We consider that the Labour movement was betrayed by our Ministers in the Blayney contest. If they had stood loyally by the Labour candidate, and if they had returned to the fight after the Christmas truce, we would certainly have got into the second ballot, and eventually would have won the seat."

This statement by Mr. Peters, M.L.A., voices with absolute candour what 90 per cent. of the Labour rank and file in the Blayney electorate are thinking. Early in the campaign Labour supporters were cheered by the promise that the full strength of the State and Federal Labour parties would be thrown into the fight in support of Mr. Johnston. But the Federal contingent did not put in an appearance, and the tate leaders fought halfheartedly, and after one fleeting visit to the scene bolted back to the metropolis.

"There is some talk," continued Mr. Peters, "of Ministers now taking up the cudgels on behalf of Mr. Beeby. But I have seen several of our members, and we feel if that is done we will oppose them. The feeling of the Labour electors was manifested by the hostile reception they gave Mr. Beeby as one returned in the train. I am certain that hundreds of them will refuse to support him in the second ballot. A lot of them will support Mr. Withington in preference to Mr. Beeby, who will at the second ballot only get about 25 per cent. of the Labour vote. But the rank and file are delighted with the splendid personal fight put up by Mr. Carl Johnston. Had he been given a fair deal by the alleged Labour leaders he would have won the seat. We appealed to the Ministers during the last three or four days to return to the fight, and had they come the Labour candidate would easily have defeated Mr. Beeby."

STATEMENT BY PREMIER.

There was a meeting of the Cabinet on Saturday, at the conclusion of which the Premier made the following statement:—

"I would like to give expression to the great satisfaction that I feel at the splendid fight put up by the Labour candidate. Mr. Johnston, and those who worked with him, were severely handicapped by a late appearance in the field, but, notwithstanding this and other drawbacks, his poll is a distinct achievement, and the manner in which he has conducted his campaign augurs well for his future. The Labour movement is distinctly fortunate in having young men of this type within its ranks.

"We are now face to face with the second ballot between Mr. Beeby and the Conservative nominee. The solidarity party has had its run in the first ballot, and, although an excellent fight was put up, our candidate, unfortunately, has been defeated.

"In connection with the second ballot, to those who so loyally adhered to Mr. Johnston, there are three courses open:—Firstly, not to vote at all; secondly, to vote for Mr. Beeby; and, thirdly, to vote for the Conservative.

"It may not be out of place for me to analyse the position. In regard to the first, I cannot emphasise too strongly the fact that it is the duty of every elector to record his vote, as it is one of the essential principles of our movement that the people should exercise the franchise.

"Then, again, the action of those supporters of Mr. Johnston at the first ballot in not voting at all at the second ballot would obviously have the direct effect of giving votes to Mr. Withington, against whose party they have all their lives been striving. I cannot for one moment believe that any of the votes that went to Mr. Johnston at the first ballot will be from any motive cast for the Conservative candidate.

"It may be confidently anticipated that all those followers of Mr. Johnston at the first ballot will on the occasion of the second ballot choose what they regard as the lesser of two evils. There is good reason for believing that the Conservatives have spent a mint of money in connection with this Blayney election, as far as it has progressed. One estimate that is entitled to respect has set the amount down at £3000. No doubt, the wealthy friends of the Conservatives will provide them with another £3000 if necessary to flood the electorate with literature, and in other ways endeavour to win on the second ballot.

"It is confidently hoped that the voters who supported the Labour candidate will not in such circumstances help to bring about the election of a Conservative."

"DEFEAT MR. BEEBY."

P.L.L. SECRETARY'S ADVICE.

"The results from the Blayney electorate we must admit," says Mr. J. Grant, general secretary of the Political Labour League, "are unsatisfactory. It was generally thought that if Mr. Johnston did not secure a majority, he would at least get into the second ballot. On the figures disclosed, there would appear to be only 1121 uncompromising labourites who are opposed to the creation of the third party.

"A second ballot is now necessary, and I say that there should be no hesitation whatever on the part of every Labourite who believes in maintaining the solidarity of the movement to do their very utmost to ensure the defeat of Mr. Beeby. It is much better to deal with a straight-out opponent than to have in Parliament a man who is supposed to be 'as good as a Labour man.' The movement has had altogether too much trouble with this type of representative to now give them any quarter."

NO VOTES FOR A TRAITOR.

LABOUR ORGANISER'S VIEW.

In referring to the disposal of the Labour votes in the Blayney second ballot, Mr. Lestrange, a member of the P.L.L. executive, who (with Mr. E. H. Farrar, M.L.C., president of the P.L.L.) was sent by the executive to look after Labour interests in the early stages of the fight, said: "I spent from the day after the resignation until the eve of polling day in the electorate. I visited many centres, and came into personal touch with a great many Labour voters, and I conclude that a majority of Labour voters in the Newbridge-Blayney end will be polled against the Independent in the second ballot, while the organised industrial Labour vote (members of the A.M.A. and A.W.U. in the electorate) will certainly not be given to a deserter of the movement. It is somewhat different with the Labour vote in the Oberon end of the electorate, which is more personal than political. While it is essentially democratic, it is not organised on party lines. Mr. Beeby may get the most of the 'Crick vote.' Of the Labour votes that go to the poll, I am of the opinion that a majority will be cast for the Liberal in preference to Mr. Beeby.

"I think the Second Ballot Act must stand condemned. Nearly 2000 voters, because of a minority of 20 votes, are compelled to disfranchise themselves or vote direct against their principles and beliefs. The letting loose of a great number of voters in an election in which they have no particular desire is a danger to pure politics, for candidates are apt to angle by devious means to secure their support. Another objection is when one party, if wealthy, can conduct a second ballot without feeling the financial strain, while the financially weak side cannot keep pace with them. A common-sense preferential system would be cheaper for the State and more satisfactory to all parties."

WAS LABOUR SOLD?

A LIBERAL MEMBER'S TESTIMONY.

Mr. Varney Parkes, M.L.A., yesterday supplied the following statement:—

The last seven days of the Blayney contest I spent in the electorate. I witnessed a system of electioneering in those centres where I canvassed and held meetings the like of which I have never experienced all the time I have been in public life. For four days I saw the Labour party's candidate being hurried here and there to address meetings which never eventuated, except in one case of a small unnotified gathering at Hampton, the fact being that no preparation was ever made for these meetings. Cards, literature, and letters for electioneering on the side of the Labour party lay unclaimed at post-offices and railway stations, addressed to secretaries who did not exist—really everything left in absolute drift, so far as the Parliamentary party was concerned. I heard it freely discussed that for the one or two tardy visits made by Labour Ministers, these Ministers made no preparation whatever, being glad to accept the graciousness of their opponents, and share as they best could meetings promoted by the Liberals. Numbers of important centres were left uncanvassed and unaddressed. The last night before the election exhibited in most centres a pitiful sight of neglect. Ministers and prominent members of the Labour party were non est, or had no meetings to address. At Tarana, the centre where I delivered my final speech, Mr. Crawford, M.L.A., appeared, or rather drifted—no one to meet or direct him, no meeting arranged, no chance even to hold one; left in an undeserved isolation. In all the centres that I spoke—eight in number—the efforts of Labour Ministers and party leaders were throughout an absolute blank, and yet there was an anxious desire for energetic action, advice, and leadership on the part of Labour supporters, who did the best under unfair treatment.

I have never witnessed such apathy of party in any election in my life. A prominent Labour supporter summed it up for Mr. Crawford. He said: "If you (the Labour party) are not fit to organise better than this, you are not fit to legislate."

Speculating over this utter neglect—if such as I saw in the south-eastern portion of the electorate occurred elsewhere—one cannot help but think that faithful supporters of Labour in the Blayney electorate were victims to a designed apathy. It might not be so, but all the appearances form striking evidence in confirmation. If so, it is deeply to the discredit of Labour Ministers and party leaders of the Parliamentary section. As a matter of fact, as it stands, was it honest politics? Were Labour electors in Blayney sold by Labour? Was it the sympathetic intention of his late colleagues that Mr. Beeby should win?

I am confident that a very slight effort on the part of the Government would have put their candidate into the second ballot.

MR. BEEBY'S RESPITE.

After his strenuous experiences in the west, Mr. Beeby returned on Saturday to Sydney, and enjoyed a welcome respite at Manly. To-night he will leave again for the seat of war, and renew the campaign at Blayney on Tuesday.

It is hardly likely that Mr. Beeby will continue the campaign on the negative lines he followed in the first ballot. In his next appeal to the electors it is almost certain that Mr. Beeby will put before the electors some positive statement with regard to the constructive policy of the progressive party. He sums up the contest, as far as it has gone, in the following words:—

"I admit that I am rather surprised at the result of the first ballot. As a result of my tour through the electorate, I quite anticipated polling 2000 votes. Owing to the short time at my disposal, I was unable to visit all the centres, while at about 20 polling-places I was only able to hold day meetings, the attendances at which were necessarily small. As against this, every centre in the electorate was visited in the evenings by speakers on behalf of both the Liberal and Labour parties. I am not venturing any prophesies as to the future; but, from what I know of the district, I expect to win on the second ballot."

"The significant feature of the contest," Mr. Beeby continued, "was the falling-away of the Liberal vote. At the last general election in a poll of 5000 the majority against the Liberals was 507. This time the majority against them was 460 on a poll of 1000 less.

"Towards the end of the campaign, I was warned that a number of electors would abstain from voting until the final ballot. The contest, on the whole, was a good-natured one, and, although it warmed up at the finish, I have no complaints to make. I tried to confine the election to the referendum issue; but the question now being eliminated from the contest, it will be interesting to see whether the electors are prepared to consider any alternative to the Liberal party. The personal element being now eliminated from the contest, the second campaign will continue more on the matter of policy."

FINAL FIGURES.

Paling's Yards is an isolated hamlet which during the campaign occupied very little of the time and attention of the campaigners. There were less than 20 votes there, and it was thought that Mr. Beeby regarded it as a pocket borough. But when towards the end of the count the Labour and Independent candidates were running neck and neck for second place, Paling's Yards suddenly assumed unprecedented importance. Possibly it might decide the fate of the day. But during the night the belated return arrived, giving one vote to Mr. Johnston, two to Mr. Withington, and a lucky 13 to Mr. Beeby, whose position in the second ballot was thus made secure, the final figures being:—

J. S. Withington (Lib.)	1799
G. S. Beeby (Independent)	1157
V. C. R. W. Johnston (Lab.)	1121

The law provides that the second ballot is to be taken not less than 14 days after the first ballot, and not more than 21 days after it.

VOTING PERCENTAGE.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

It was ascertained officially last night that the roll on which the by-election was fought was reduced by 1092 names, due to deaths, migrations, and the like.

Six names were added by the Revision Court, and 89 names were placed on the supplementary roll. The result was a total roll of 5625 persons entitled to vote.

The total polling works out at 72 per cent. of the number of electors on the roll—1 per cent. higher than either of the two previous elections.

BURYING THE HATCHET.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your report to-day of the closing night at Blayney you mention that "the Liberal executive gave permission to their opponents to address the meeting." This certainly reads well, in view of the strenuous fight then closing. It is in contrast to the views of the Liberal committee at Tarana, who, according to Mr. Varney Parkes, objected to allow their closing meeting to be interfered with. I was desirous of addressing a meeting at Tarana on Thursday night, but had to content myself with speaking on the hotel verandah after the small audience from the Liberal meeting dispersed. I do not say that I had any claim to share the meeting, and should have allowed the incident to pass but for the reported magnanimity of the Blayney Liberals.

THE SECOND BALLOT AT BLAYNEY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I entirely disagree with the statement of the so-called Labour representative, Mr. Flowers, that Labourites should support Mr. Beeby in the second ballot at Blayney. No doubt it would suit the present Government for Mr. Beeby to be returned. Ministers could still continue to besmirch the Labour movement, and at the same time to draw their Ministerial salaries, that as Labour members they have never honestly earned; salaries which are to them dearer than the welfare of the working class, from whom they have sprung, and whom they betrayed and disgraced. I charge the Premier and the Parliamentary Labour party of knowing of Mr. Beeby's treacherous intentions 18 months ago. Still they kept this renegade in a Ministerial position until it suited him to come out in his true colours. A certain member of Parliament who in the second ballot was returned by the votes and assistance of the Labour voters ever since his entrance into the House has been scheming to break up the party. He partly succeeded at the time of the Horne and Dunn fiasco, but he still persevered with Mr. Beeby and others, until at last his efforts were crowned with success. The same gentleman is a strong supporter of the great swindle so dear to the hearts of all land speculators, namely, freehold tenure. As a strong supporter of the Labour cause, but not of the spineless so-called Labour Government, I consider it is the duty of all true and stanch supporters of labour in the Blayney electorate to remain strictly neutral, and let Mr. Beeby sink into the political grave that he had opened for the Labour cause. I am a bitter opponent of the Liberal party, and should regret very much to see them gain the seat. Still, at the same time, I think it is better to be defeated with honour than to gain the seat and for ever to disgrace and besmirch the great principles and traditions of the Labour movement by assisting and voting in the second ballot for the return of Mr. Beeby.

I am, etc.,

MATTERS UNIQUE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The voting in Millthorpe in connection with Blayney (the adjoining electorate) occasioned much surprise by many of those who had previously voted for Liberals, including Masons, of whom Mr. Beeby is said to be a member, and were in evidence in his support. The farmers and settlers who hold their meetings in Millthorpe, and are living in the electorate, as well as the Lyndhurst and Orange, also split, and some 12 or more are indignant at their president (Mr. S. Whitme) in joining the ranks of the enemy, a party without a land or any other policy, and who, without explaining, went in contravention to his association. Some time ago the association decided to act non-politically, and if this is the reason for the president assisting Mr. Beeby some of the members have reason to remember him, though he asked for the past to be forgotten. This number of the league, at any rate, will show him no sympathy.

CASUALTIES.

FATAL PEA RIFLE ACCIDENT.

Valentine Grover, 14, a son of Mr. Montague Grover, journalist, was killed on Saturday through a pea rifle accident. It appears that shortly after lunch on Saturday deceased and his brother, who were staying at Eumeralla station, near Gulgong, went out together on a shooting expedition. On reaching a fence they pushed their rifles between the palings, when that belonging to Valentine Grover exploded, and the bullet entered the boy's brain. Assistance was immediately procured, and the injured boy was removed, under the care of Dr. Lees, to a private hospital in Gulgong, where he died later in the day.

WOMAN DROWNED.

Fishermen found the body of Lily Pring, 38, of Croydon, floating near Gladesville bridge on Friday afternoon. They handed the dead body over to the ferry steamer Kamiri, by which it was conveyed to Circular Quay. At the Sydney Hospital Dr. Curtis pronounced life extinct.

On the same ferry steamer subsequently the deck-hand found some woman's property, including a white linen handkerchief. On this was written, "Why did you not take me away from that unhappy place?"

A MINER'S DEATH.

BROKEN HILL, Saturday.

The inquest on the body of David Nicholson, fatally injured in the North Mine on Friday morning, resulted in a verdict of accidental death. The evidence given showed that, though eleven holes were fired, only eight exploded, and deceased apparently struck one of three missed holes in popping.

CHILD DROWNED.

WEST WYALONG, Saturday.

The six-year-old son of Mr. A. W. Cunnington, a farmer, of Hiawatha, West Wyalong, was drowned in a stock tank during the absence of his parents in town.

A brother, aged eight years, heard his screams, and seeing the hair of his head above the water waded in till the water reached his mouth. He then ran to where a labouring man was working, and the latter extricated the body from the water. Methods for resuscitation were unsuccessful. An inquest was held by Mr. J. N. Crowley, Coroner, and a verdict of accidentally drowned was recorded.

DEATH OF STATION EMPLOYEE.

HAY, Sunday.

Early this morning the body of a station employee, named Flynn, was found suspended by a sheet from the rafters of the stables of the Hibernian Hotel, at which deceased was staying. Flynn came in from Coolmbil station, Carrathool, three days ago for medical treatment.

A SPIRIT LAMP.

WOMAN DIES FROM BURNS.

Susanna McLachlan, 43, died in Nurse Whiting's private hospital, Neutral Bay, on Friday, from the effects of burns.

At about 5.30 a.m. the deceased, who had been boarding at 17 Spofforth-street, Mosman, put some benzine in her spirit lamp in mistake for methylated spirits. Immediately the match was struck there was an explosion, and the deceased, clothing and bedding, caught alight. A lady in the adjoining room ran in and wrapped a blanket round the burning woman. Drs. Poidevin and Maguire were called in.

VICTORIAN XI. V. COLTS.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

A match between the Victorian Eleven and thirteen Colts was played at the Melbourne Cricket Ground yesterday. The colts batted first, and after losing six for 239 declared the innings closed. Hotchin was top scorer, and made 70. The Eleven lost three for 144 (Baring 54, Hartkopf 52).

Come to the End of

Our Calendars.

Having sent out all we have, it will now be difficult to procure one, for the grocers have given them away almost as quickly as they got them. We would, however, still suggest you ask your grocer, if he has any left, to give you one before he gives them all away. They are better this year than any we have before issued, and people who like artistic things have not been satisfied with selecting one, but have tried to get the set, and so they have cleared us out much quicker than any previous year.

Now let us tell you about our Tea. To us the sale of "Robur" Tea is the most important thing in the world—we do nothing else but sell "Robur" Tea, and jolly good tea it is—as good as can be bought anywhere for the money. This knowledge gives us confidence to throw the whole of our time and money into pushing it. May we ask you to recommend your friends to give it a trial? Experts, who ought to know, say it is not possible to get better tea in the world at the price; to which we add, it is not possible to get purer tea at any price.

For high-class family use we recommend the No. 1 Grade; it has a delightful flavour, and is wonderfully saving.

SIX DAYS' CYCLING.

N.S.W. WINS.

MACNAMARA'S SPRINT.

AN EXCITING FINISH.

"Bravo, Mac! Bravo! Hurrah!"

The six-day wheel race had finished, and "Mac," by a brilliant half-lap sprint, had stalled off a sturdy and dogged effort by R. E. Spears, and thereby gained the first prize for himself and his partner, F. P. Corry. "Mac" is, of course, MacNamara, but the thousand of spectators vented their feelings by chanting "Mac, Mac, Mac!" as the New South Wales champion put up his final successful sprint.

The scene was a remarkable one at 10 p.m., when the four teams that had no chance of winning were called off the track, and the seven remaining braced themselves for the final effort over three laps.

The white faces of the spectators were clearly visible as they pressed forward towards the pickets in their excitement, and they formed a peculiar setting in the sombre background. As the riders dashed off at high speed, name after name was chanted, but that of "Mac" predominated.

Commencing the last lap MacNamara was in handy position, and just before reaching the northern pavilion a mighty roar announced the fact that he had "jumped." On he came, closely pursued by Spears. Both riders put in a desperate finish, but MacNamara held the advantage, and won amidst great excitement.

As the winner passed the post the spectators gave vent to their pent-up feelings by skying hats, sticks, and umbrellas. MacNamara was rushed by comrades, and carried shoulder high to the accompaniment of tremendous cheering to his quarters.

Thus ended the second great six-day race held in Sydney. The final scenes will not be readily forgotten by those who witnessed them.

The scores to the finish were:—

2 a.m.,	Saturday.—121 hours,	1560	miles.
3 a.m.,	Saturday.—122 hours,	1567	miles.
4 a.m.,	Saturday.—123 hours,	1572	miles.
5 a.m.,	Saturday.—124 hours,	1578	miles.
6 a.m.,	Saturday.—125 hours,	1587	miles.
7 a.m.,	Saturday.—126 hours,	1593	miles.
8 a.m.,	Saturday.—127 hours,	1598	miles.
9 a.m.,	Saturday.—128 hours,	1604	miles.
10 a.m.,	Saturday.—129 hours,	1610	miles.
11 a.m.,	Saturday.—130 hours,	1618	miles.
1 p.m.,	Saturday.—132 hours,	1652	miles.
2 p.m.,	Saturday.—133 hours,	1672	miles.
3 p.m.,	Saturday.—134 hours,	1693	miles.
4 p.m.,	Saturday.—135 hours,	1716	miles.
5 p.m.,	Saturday.—136 hours,	1735	miles.
6 p.m.,	Saturday.—137 hours,	1755	miles.
7 p.m.,	Saturday.—138 hours,	1772	miles.
8 p.m.,	Saturday.—139 hours,	1792	miles.
9 p.m.,	Saturday.—140 hours,	1811	miles.
10 p.m.,	Saturday.—141 hours,	1833	miles.

It was anticipated that at least 2000 miles would be covered by the riders this year, but they rode too cautiously.

Shortly after 5 o'clock, when the 1735 miles had been covered, a feeling of excitement was perceptible, for the spectators, who had been sitting back in comfort, began to lean forward and watch the circling competitors with more than usual interest. The crowd increased, and the stands were rapidly filling. Those who expected some excitement were not disappointed, for the changes and bursts of speed in an effort to break away followed in such rapid succession that it would be impossible to chronicle every move; but about 20 minutes to 6 R. J. Hazelton made a determined effort to break away. MacNamara and Crook pulled him back. Shortly after L. Hammond broke ground, but he was picked up. The Frenchman, Rousseau, then made a brilliant sprint, but he was overhauled before he could gain substantial advantage.

At about half-past 6 Hammond again shot out, and the pace became a cracker, the teams now changing every few minutes, and, as the weather was threatening, it looked a case of "now or never." There was little rest for anyone. Competitors, trainers, officials, and spectators were all at concert pitch; and so it continued until after 7.

There were cries from the crowd, "MacNamara," then "Spears." The Franco-German team, Rousseau and Applehans, who had ridden themselves into popular favour, received an ovation every time they changed about in their efforts to regain their lost lap. Considering that these two riders had only a half-day's training before they started on their long journey, they put up a remarkable performance, although defeated; and at the next carnival, to be held about January 24, 25, and 26, the local riders will have to look to their laurels. The crowd numbered about 25,000. Up till 8 o'clock the rain had kept off, and for the next half-hour matters were very busy. O'Shea and Smith, the New Zealand team, made quick changes, also Bert Scott and Keefe; but everyone was on the "qui vive," and no advantage could be gained. Applehans, amidst great excitement, put up a brilliant dash, but Crook brought the field up to him. During the last hour and a half Jack Summers and his team mate, N. Russell, made several plucky efforts to pick up lost ground; but they proved resultless. This continued right up to 10 o'clock, the crowd in the meantime cheering every rider who attempted a sprint.

As the hundred and forty-first hour was reached, the four riders representing the following teams who had lost one lap had to retire from the track:—Rousseau and Applehans (France), J. T. Summers and N. Russell (N.S.W.), F. D. and A. C. Walcott (N.S.W.), and L. Hammond and R. J. Hazelton (N.S.W.).

This left the seven sprinters—R. J. M'Namara, R. Spears, Bert Scott, E. Priestley, P. O'Shea, and C. E. Glencross to fight out the final mile sprint.

The time for the last lap, 510yds, is recorded at 29 4-5s. The pace could not have been slow, as this would average at least about 1m 50s to the mile.

The placing of the teams is as follows:—

R. J. M'Namara (final sprint) and F. P. Corry (stayer), N.S.W.	1
R. E. Spears (final sprint), N.S.W., and Don Kirkham (stayer), Vic.	2
Bert Scott (final sprint), N.S.W., and F. T. Keefe (stayer), Tas.	3
A. L. Crook (final sprint), N.S.W., and P. B. Henry (stayer), N.S.W.	4
E. A. Priestley (final sprint), N.S.W., and W. Erskine (stayer), N.S.W.	5
P. O'Shea (final sprint), N.Z., and A. B. L. Smith (stayer), N.Z.	6
C. E. Glencross (final sprint), N.S.W., and E. Turner (stayer), N.S.W.	7

The leading teams had all covered 1833 miles at 10 o'clock, as against 2086 miles 1680yds last January. The slow travelling is undoubtedly due to the fact that the bunch of riders had a wholesome respect for M'Namara and Spears, although it is possible that if the Franco-German team had an opportunity of a week's work prior to the start of the race the mileage would have been increased, as their plucky efforts in the later stages of the journey proved. While very slow times were put up hour by hour in the race just finished, the last hour resulted in 22 miles being covered. Whatever fault may be found with the riders for the slow pace during the week, the exhibition of speed in the closing session on Saturday night raised the crowd to enthusiasm, and the cry "another Australian win" echoed the public sentiment.

R. J. M'Namara, when about to leave the ground after his win, did not appear to be affected by his trying ride, although he admitted that he would be glad of a spell. He said he had no doubt about the result from the start, as he had confidence in his team mate. He paid a tribute to Spears by saying that his opponent had given him the hardest fight for the last few yards than he had hitherto experienced.

M'Namara won 10 handicap races from scratch in a country circuit extending over about a fortnight. He is a typical Australian, wiry, clean shaven, and sunburnt, and is a solid worker in his training. There is no doubt on his performances to date that he will be offered special inducements to visit the racing centres of the United States.

Mr. R. M'Cullagh, secretary of the Melbourne B.C. and the League of Victorian Wheelmen, was an interested spectator of the racing, and on leaving the ground said that he had completed all arrangements for running a six-days' race in Melbourne about the end of next month.

The winning team, R. J. M'Namara and F. P. Corry, had their Carbine fitted with Dunlop tyres. Don Kirkham, R. Spears, Fred. Keefe, and Bert Scott also rode Dunlop tyres throughout the race.

Mr. S. H. Fairland, secretary of the Sydney Cricket Ground, is to be congratulated on the efficient manner in which the staff under his control carried out the duties entrusted to them during the trying and strenuous week for the six-days' race. There was not a hitch. Even when a certain number of exuberant spirits rushed the ground in support of the League referee's protest against the slow pace being indulged in by the competitors, the ground staff had no difficulty in clearing the arena. Mr. Fairland, in referring to this incident, said that the crowd was a credit to Australia; in fact, it was the most orderly crowd of alleged disorderly persons he had seen.

NATIONAL INSURANCE.

SUPPLYING DOCTORS.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S PROPOSALS.

LONDON, Jan. 3.

The newspapers strongly criticise the speech made to the Advisory Committee on the National Insurance Bill by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Lloyd George, especially his proposals declaring that doctors on incomplete panels may take assistants or partners, whereupon the panels may be closed, enabling them to secure the whole of the insurance practice.

Mr. Lloyd George is promising to send the districts as many assistants as are needed. Where no panel exists, doctors may be imported. Their salary is to be £500 per annum, but they will not be required to give their whole time to insurance duties, inasmuch as they will be allowed to have private practice.

ATTITUDE OF THE B.M.A.

LONDON, Jan. 3.

The British Medical Association, replying to Mr. Lloyd George, states that it is doubtful whether one doctor in a hundred has freely joined the panel, economic pressure, the fear of introduction of outsiders, and the Government's threats compelling them to serve.

The association is now organising a campaign to secure to the insured a free choice of doctors, in accordance with section 15.

Mr. Lloyd George denies that the persons insured are entitled to arrange with the doctors, apart from the insurance committees or commissioners. Moreover, he adds, the Government will not allow any such arrangement.

Correspondents, replying to the Chancellor, declare that the discretion is absolutely vested in the committees, and not in the Government.

AIRMEN'S DANGERS.

LONDON, Jan. 3.

An army Bristol biplane was wrecked at Farnborough, in Hampshire. The pilot fell 50ft, but had a wonderful escape.

BERLIN, Jan. 3.

Two airmen were severely injured at Leipsig while undergoing tests for army pilot certificates.

Jan. 4.

An airman named Faller carried five passengers for an hour in a military biplane. This constitutes a record.

PARIS, Jan. 4.

EMPIRE TRADE COMMISSION.

LONDON, Jan. 3.

Members of the Empire Trade Commission are to sail for Australasia in the R.M.S. Medina.

In an interim report, the commission recommends that an increase in immigration is essential to the development of the Dominions' resources.

The commission was appointed to inquire into the trade of the British Empire, and includes representatives of all the Dominions. It has been sitting in London for some two months. Mr. Campbell, of South Australia, is the Commonwealth representative.

The Federal Government is making arrangements for the sitting of the commission in Australia. The commission will go to New Zealand first, and on returning will take evidence in Brisbane, and then in New South Wales, spending a fortnight in each State. It will then come to Melbourne, and after sitting for a week will go to Tasmania for a fortnight. There will be another week's sitting in Melbourne, and the commission will then go to Adelaide and Perth.

A BISHOP AND HIS STIPEND.

LONDON, Jan. 3.

Bishop Montgomery has spontaneously relinquished a considerable portion of his stipend as secretary to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, in view of the decrease of his family expenditure.

The Right Rev. Bishop Montgomery was Bishop of Tasmania in 1889-1901. He was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge. In 1881 he married a daughter of the late Dean Farrar, and they have six sons and three daughters.

SARDINE FISHING.

The abandonment of the industry affects 50,000 people.

TRAIN AND MOTOR CAR.

LONDON, Jan. 5.

While being used in conveying gold to pay wages, a motor car at Purfleet stuck on a railway crossing, with the result that a train smashed into it.

The occupants of the car escaped without injury, but the money was scattered in all directions, and the sum of £30 is missing.

OPIUM SALES SUSPENDED.

DELHI, Jan. 4.

Owing to the stocks of opium at Shanghai and elsewhere, the Government has suspended opium sales until the accumulation has been absorbed.

This decision inflicts heavy loss on the Indian revenue.

A recent cable from Shanghai stated that there was an accumulation of opium stocks, valued at £12,000,000, in consequence of China's systematic obstruction of the foreign opium trade, and a serious situation had been created. It was believed that China desired to repudiate the Anglo-Chinese treaty, and Sir John Jordan, British Minister at Peking, had therefore warned China that unless its observance was assured he would be compelled to draw the attention of the British Government to the matter.

BRISBANE, Saturday.

A sensation was caused in Ingham-road, near Black River, to-day by the report that a lion was seen crossing a creek in the vicinity and take shelter in the scrub.

At the latest reports a number of residents were out searching with rifles.

NEXT ELECTIONS.

ROLLS NOT READY.

CHAOS IN PRINTING OFFICE.

The political situation was discussed in Cabinet on Saturday and out of Cabinet yesterday.

Ministers are glancing farther ahead than Blayney. The chances are that the winner of the Blayney vacancy will never take his seat in the House. It is by no means certain, either, that a by-election for Yass will take place. It depends on circumstances. A general election looms ahead.

"Of one thing I feel confident," said the Premier (Mr. M'Gowen) yesterday, "We have not lost ground in the country. A very poor case has been made out against the Government at Blayney. We have yet to put our case, and when we do I think it will be favourably considered. One little but important thing which the conservatives have overlooked is the greater polling facilities that will govern the next general election. Hitherto, numbers of the working and middle classes have been disfranchised through the polls closing at 6 o'clock. Next election the polls under our Act will be open till 7 o'clock, and it is going to result in a large number of additional votes for the Government. Another feature of the Act is that no matter where an elector may be in the State, facilities will be afforded him to vote for the man of his choice in his own particular electorate."

Mr. Flowers (Vice-President of the Executive Council) endorsed the Premier's views. "We have a very strong case," he said. "We have done much to improve the condition of the working and middle classes, and they have little to thank the conservatives for. I don't think they will run the risk of losing concessions that have taken 20 years to win by putting the conservatives back in power. Our movement is a forward movement. As Mr. M'Gowen has often said, we have not lost an inch of ground in the last 20 years. We have gone forward all the time, and are still going forward. We are not a one-man movement. No matter who drops out the movement goes on."

SERIOUS DELAY.

The next general election must take place under the redistribution scheme approved by Parliament, and the Government is faced with a serious difficulty owing to delays at the State printing office.

No hint has been given outside of the serious state of affairs at the Government Printing Office. So great is the block that it almost amounts to chaos. This is accounted for partly by the system, which is held to be bad, and partly by the equipment, which is not right up to date. Private printing offices when there is a lot doing put on extra men and get it done. That means, of course, that periods of slackness follow, and some men go out of work temporarily.

The Government Printing Office has apparently followed the practice of spreading the work over a given period, so that there will be constant work for all hands. The result is that there is now an accumulation of matter which has put a brake on progress. The Printing Office at the present moment is absolutely congested, and if some desperate measure is not taken the Government, whatever its inclinations, may not be able to have a general election till the Parliament expires by the effluxion of time in October. The police are ready to start the collection, but they cannot commence till they get last year's rolls from the Government Printer.

In the event of the Liberals winning Blayney, and the Government not caring to chance the support of the five Liberal Independents, it cannot safely meet the House again. Therein lies a serious difficulty. It cannot go beyond July without asking for supply, and it cannot go to the country in July unless the rolls under the redistribution scheme are ready. Present indications are that an heroic attempt will be made to accelerate the printing of the rolls. As a last resort the Government may even find it necessary to get the rolls on this occasion printed by private firms.

The police collection throughout the State, when the Government Printing Office furnishes the required roll to work on, will take about six weeks. The lists they compile will then be sent on to the Chief Secretary, who in turn will send them on to the Government Printer. The State printing, on a moderate estimate, will take several months. When it is ready, the next step under the Act is to place the lists on exhibition for a month.

After the statutory period of exhibition, revision courts will be held, objections heard, and the lists revised. When the magistrate has certified to the revised lists they will be sent to the Government Printer for the final printing.

This second printing of the revised lists, which will then become the rolls, will, again, on a moderate estimate, take several months. It will therefore be seen that, even if the police collection begins at once, the rolls at the present rate of progress cannot be completed till late in the year—probably August or September.

INTERSTATE BOWLS.

SINGLE-HANDED CHAMPIONSHIP.

WON BY SAYERS, OF BALLARAT.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.

The final day's play in connection with the interstate bowling carnival took place on the Carlton green yesterday, in the presence of a large gathering of spectators. The playing green was in excellent order, but a strong and rather gusty wind at times proved most troublesome to the players.

The event decided was the single-handed championship of Australia, and out of the 342 original entrants only four remained—all Victorians namely, W. E. Sayers, W. Barr, E. M. Pascoe, and W. E. Marsh. The winner, W. E. Sayers, is a member of the Ballarat Club, and has been playing for about 10 years. He performed with exceptional ability all through, and those who saw him play at the Brighton green on the first day felt confident that he would win the event. W. Barr, the runner-up, is a member of the North Fitzroy Club; he has not been very conspicuous in single handed contests outside of his own club, but on one occasion was second in the champion of champions' tournament. He, however, has a wonderful record as a captain in rink play. Without in any way detracting from the winner's performance, it must be admitted that Barr did not play up to his usual standard in the final game.

IN THE SEMI FINALS.

The game between W. E. Sayers, of Ballarat, and W. E. Marsh, the M.C.C. representative, ended in favour of the former by 10 points, 21 to 11.

W. Barr, North Fitzroy, was opposed by E. M. Pascoe, of the Melbourne Club (Windsor), and at one stage Barr led by 15 to 9. Pascoe, who had been misjudging the length, then improved on his play considerably, and at the 19th head was only a point behind Barr, 17 to 16. From this point Barr never looked like a loser, and by the aid of 2, 1, and 3, won the game by 21 to 16.

In the final game between Sayers and W. Barr, the latter opened with a long end, and put his first two bowls in the ditch, and was lucky to only lose one out of the end. Barr then scored a point, Sayers following suit in the next and in the fourth end. Sayers was applauded for three fine shots, one right on the "Kitty," Barr failing to alter the position. Barr was cheered for two good shots in the next end, but Sayers made a drive, and took one out. Sayers then scored 2; the luck was against Barr in this head, as he just missed, and he was unfortunate again in the next end, as he touched the jack, but did not beat Sayers' two shots.

Barr played wide in the next two heads, out of which Sayers scored 3 and 1 (Sayers 14, Barr 2). Sayers followed with 2, 2, and 1 (19 to 2), and then Barr was applauded for an excellent shot in resting his opponent's second shot, scoring 3, which he followed up with a single. Sayers got in again with 2 and 3, Barr following with a single and a couple, the scores being 24 to 9 in Sayers' favour.

With practically a won game Barr now put in three fine shots, but Sayers, with a beautiful drive on the back hand, took the mall out and scored a couple, the feat being loudly applauded. Sayers followed with two more, Barr again just missing, but the latter scored a single and 3 in succession out of some wide play, and in the 23rd end had his only piece of luck in the game, as he squeezed between two bowls of Sayers in front, and got the shot when the latter was lying 2. Sayers followed with a couple, and what proved to be the last end was commenced.

Sayers drew within a foot with his first, but Barr got closer with his second and third. Sayers went about a yard past the jack, and Barr drew two more with three against him. Sayers again made a magnificent drive, took all Barr's bowls out, and left himself lying one and game. Barr did not alter the position with his last ball, and Sayers thus won the single-handed championship of Australia by 31 points to 14. The winner was cheered and congratulated on all sides.

Following are the scores:—

Semi-finals.

W. Barr (North Fitzroy), 21, beat E. M. Pascoe (Melbourne), 16.

W. E. Sayers (Ballarat), 21, beat W. E. Marsh (M.C.C.), 11.

Final.

Sayers (31) beat Barr (14).

The play-off for third and fourth places resulted in Pascoe beating Marsh by 31 to 16.

BITTEN BY ADDER.

A CHILD KILLED.

NABIAC, Saturday.

A five-year-old daughter of Mr. James Hardy, Tuncurry, was bitten by an adder on Friday last, and died shortly after.

Some years ago a bushman named James Scott was bitten by an adder near the same place, but the blackfellow who was with him lost no time in cutting the piece and sucking the poison out. The man recovered, though his vision was affected for some time after.

Mr. Thomas Brennan, of 29 Harrington-street, city, states that he went into the lagoon at Narrabeen on Thursday, and brought to land George Henderson. Mr. Brennan entered the water with his clothes on. When Henderson was first brought ashore, Mr. Brennan states, he was alive.

POSTAL CONFERENCE.

SENIOR INSPECTOR ENTERTAINED.

The conference of New South Wales postal inspectors entertained the president, Mr. E. W. Bramble, at a dinner on Saturday night, at Sargent's rooms, in Market-street.

Mr. H. T. Williams, metropolitan inspector, presided, and proposed the toast of Mr. Bramble's health, which was supported by Messrs. J. J. Molloy (Newcastle), P. J. Howe (Cootamundra), J. R. Nash (Bathurst), W. Tomkinson (Grafton), W. A. Varley (Armidale), W. Morris (Tamworth), M. O'Connor (Dubbo), S. C. Francis (Wagga Wagga), E. P. Ramsay, T. G. Geere, and C. C. M'Garry (city). The chairman then presented Mr. Bramble with a photograph of the inspectorial staff of New South Wales.

In response, Mr. Bramble reviewed the growth of the department. At the end of 1911, he said there were 1942 officers in the State, with 1723 separate mail services, travelling over 37,200 miles by road, and 33,725 miles by rail. There were 326 Government buildings, and 26,971 telephone subscribers.

The health of the Deputy-Postmaster-General, Mr. E. J. Young, was proposed by Mr. J. J. Molloy.

In responding, Mr. Young claimed that Australia gave, and had given, for years, greater facilities to the public in postal matters than were given by any other country in the world. Last year Mr. Henniker Heaton sent out a statement of about 40 improvements, which, he said, were being considered by Great Britain as increased postal facilities. With the exception of about three, they all had been in force in Australia for years.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN BOYS.

VISITING CONTINGENT.

The Young Australia League touring party from Western Australia reached Sydney by the Melbourne express on Saturday morning, and, headed by their own brass band, marched to the Town Hall, where they were formally welcomed by the Lord Mayor (Alderman Cocks).

The party, which is in charge of the founder of the league, Mr. J. J. Simons, numbers 138, and with them are Nurse Starkey, who accompanied the contingent that last year went round the world, Major Royce, and Messrs. L. Boas (president of the Young Australia League), A. H. O'Connor, F. D. Mercer, J. J. Andrews, and Sergeant F. Warden.

In welcoming them to Sydney, the Lord Mayor said that he was delighted to see such a movement in operation, for it would benefit them in an educational way, and give organised facilities for seeing the country. In his schooldays such opportunities as these were only afforded by the parents individually, but the league had got them by organisation.

Mr. Simons, in responding, said that they all belonged to one great Commonwealth, and that was the sentiment to be promulgated from one end of Australia to the other. The boys were glad to be in Sydney, because it was the great historical centre of Australia, and he felt sure its atmosphere and associations would be inspiring to them.

The lads then gave their cry, "Aus-Aus-Australia. Coo-ee. Coo-ee. Coo-ee." Cheers for the King concluded the function, and the young visitors then marched to the showground, where they are encamped. To-day they will visit La Perouse and Kurnell, and attend her Majesty's Theatre in the evening, and to-morrow they will go over some of the leading factories, and Wednesday will be spent at Katoomba. On Thursday there is to be a harbour excursion, and on Friday night the boys leave for Melbourne.

FINANCIAL.

SAVINGS BANKS COMPETITION.

ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST.

The intrusion of the Commonwealth into the savings bank business and the eviction of the State Savings Bank from its old abode at the post-offices are matters of vital public concern. But they are rather financial than political. The political aspect of the matter has ceased to be important. The Federal Parliament is empowered under the Constitution to legislate on the subject of banking, but the power is not an exclusive one. The States have an equal right, save that when the Federal law and the State law conflict, that of the Commonwealth prevails. It may be that the framers of the Constitution were ill-advised in allowing these functions to overlap, and, as events have turned out, we think they were. It would have been more satisfactory had the power been either given to the Commonwealth or retained by the State. In that way all possibility of duplication of institutions and insane competition with the taxpayers' money would have been avoided. However, under its constitutional authority the Federal Parliament passed the Commonwealth of Australia Bank Act, in which wide powers were given to the governor, Mr. Denison Miller being subsequently appointed to the position. Now, Mr. Miller, who stands high in the banking world, is giving effect to the Act he has to administer, hence the present trouble. In endeavouring to come to an unbiassed conclusion on this matter the man in the street is left pretty well to his own guidance. He cannot look for a disinterested statement of the position from the Prime Minister, or from those associated with him in the Federal sphere, because he is well aware that in high circles in the Commonwealth there is a feeling that the Commonwealth must be aggrandised, the States repressed. Nor is he on any safer ground if he takes the opinion of State politicians, for they, on their side, will make no sacrifice of political patronage that they can help, no matter what course the public interest demands. Nor would the inquiring mind be altogether wise to take too seriously what the governor of the Commonwealth Bank says, for he as a zealous officer is naturally desirous of making as good a show for his bank as possible; while, as to the officials of the State Savings Bank, they feel they are fighting for their very positions. Under these circumstances it behoves the public at large to carefully weigh the pros and cons. for itself.

THE POINTS FOR THE COMMONWEALTH.

In order to assist those desirous of coming to an unprejudiced conclusion on this matter, we have collated all the points that have suggested themselves both for and against the intrusion of the Commonwealth Bank, and in doing so have set forth the arguments on both sides as strongly as possible. It may be that the arguments given are not exhaustive, but they are sufficiently so for the purpose in hand. Those that may be used by the Commonwealth authorities in endeavouring to justify their attitude may be given thus:

(1) The power to carry on savings banks was given to the Federal Parliament by the Constitution, and it is the duty of the Commonwealth not to allow any provision of that document to remain a dead letter.

(2) A whole is greater than a part, so the credit of the Commonwealth is greater than that of any State.

(3) Some benefit is to be gained from uniformity throughout the Commonwealth, more particularly in connection with the transfer of money by the more migratory portion of our population.

(4) The post-office buildings being already under the control of the Commonwealth, and the staff being already organised and accustomed to the work, there is no necessity of any additional expense on the part of the Federal authorities.

(5) The organisation available to the Commonwealth is cheaper than that available to the State, for, if the State is to engage a separate staff to carry on the Savings Bank business, then one-half of the staff will be looking at the other half most of the time.

(6).—The Commonwealth can force the position by offering a higher rate of interest than the State can offer, because its expenses are so much smaller.

(7).—The State finances will not be prejudiced, but will actually be strengthened by the change, as the governor of the Commonwealth Bank is willing to invest the bulk of the New South Wales savings in New South Wales Government securities.

(8).—We understand that the Commonwealth Bank is offering the States to give them 75 per cent. of the new savings, which is just about what they get at present, and to take over the whole of the assets practically as they stand.

(9).—We are also told that there is a provision for the extinction of part of the State debt, a highly desirable consummation.

(10).—The State could still carry on its advances to settlers' dept. if it so desired, the money being found by the Commonwealth Bank.

THE POINTS AGAINST THE COMMONWEALTH.

Having set out the points in favour of the Commonwealth Bank, we shall now give those against it. This may be done as follows:—

(1).—The intrusion of the Commonwealth is a step towards unification. Gradually, as the Commonwealth gets the big monetary interests into its own hands, the States will dwindle into comparative insignificance. Already the Commonwealth has lent the States many millions. It has also taken over the note issue. Now it is trying to absorb the Savings Bank business, and so the process goes on.

(2).—It is urged that State local borrowings will be prejudiced, but this may have to be modified when Mr. Miller's proposals are made public. The State Treasurer has said nothing about it, but we are assured that 75 per cent. of new money has been offered to the State, leaving the present money where it lies. That this is likely to be so is borne out by the agreement which the Governor of the Commonwealth Bank has entered into with the Tasmanian Government, which contains such a provision.

(3).—But it may be further argued that, even if there is an agreement that a large and satisfactory portion of the new savings will be handed back to the States for developmental purposes, who is to say that this agreement will have any particular permanency? Did not the Federal Parliament go back on its promises in regard to the reserve of gold to be held as against the note issue, when the earlier statute had scarce left the printers' hands?

(4).—Depositors would not immediately, at any rate, benefit by the State handing over its Savings Bank business to the Commonwealth, as the State Bank now pays to its depositors 3½ per cent., while the Barrack-street Bank pays 4 per cent., and the Commonwealth Bank pays 3 per cent. only.

(5).—In connection with the State Savings Bank there is the advances to settlers' department, which is not likely to be taken over by the Commonwealth, even if it could under the Constitution.

(6).—The public at large never complained that the State Banks were not doing efficient work, nor was there any public agitation for a Commonwealth Savings Bank.

(7).—It is a well-honoured principle of business that it is ever a good plan to leave well alone. Another proverb expresses the same idea another way, when it says that it is better to have the devil you know, than the devil you don't know.

POINTS AGAINST DUPLICATION.

There are some other points that may be used either for or against the Commonwealth Bank, according to whether we regard it or the State bank as the intruder. At first sight it may appear ridiculous to put the matter this way, but it is not so foolish as it seems. There is no doubt that it is the Commonwealth that is the newcomer. But the Commonwealth is in possession of the field. It has the post-offices, which from time immemorial had been used for savings bank business, and nothing that the State can do can dispossess it. It is the Commonwealth, too, which has the old existing organisation. So the responsibility rests upon the State of creating the new organisation, or erecting new buildings, of employing new clerks, of getting new managers. In other words, through the perverseness of fate it is the State, and not the Commonwealth, that must duplicate existing machinery, and must take the financial responsibility for so doing. Here are some arguments that may be used against such duplication:—

1. The duplication of institutions means lower rates of interest for depositors, for it is they who will have to largely pay for the new buildings and the wages of the new staffs.

2. The duplication of institutions means a heavier responsibility on the taxpayer, for it is he who, in the last resort, is responsible.

3. The duplication of institutions will not induce a single person to save a single pound that is not saved now; it will merely give him a choice of bankers.

4. But the existence of another institution will undoubtedly mean that many small capitalists will take out portion of the money they now hold at current account with the ordinary banks awaiting investment, and lodge it up to the limit with the new bank, so that in the meantime they may get interest. This is a dangerous class of business for a savings bank to do, for it has not that permanency which is so desirable when interest is paid on monthly balances.

These are the main points for and against the Commonwealth Bank, and for and against duplication of institutions in the abstract. When we get a definite statement of what proposals have been made by Mr. Miller to the State Treasurer, then we will be in a position to form a just conclusion in the matter. There is no doubt that there should be no duplication. It is highly undesirable that there should be such. But as to whether the State or the Commonwealth should give way depends on what these proposals may have been. In the meantime, we can probably form a pretty good idea of the main features of the proposals by perusing the agreement entered into between the Commonwealth Bank and the Tasmanian Government, which is appended.

COMMONWEALTH AND STATE CONTRACT.

The following are the terms of the agreement entered into between the governor of the Commonwealth Bank of Australia and the Premier of Tasmania, under which the State Savings Bank was handed over to the Commonwealth:—

The Commonwealth Bank is to take over all the liabilities of depositors, amounting to £788,031, leaving the profit and loss balance, amounting to £5659, in the hands of the State. The assets, amounting to £793,690, shall be dealt with in the following manner:—The securities to be retained by the State Government, and debentures to be issued to the Commonwealth Bank, savings bank department, in lieu of same. Three per cent. stock, totalling £19,000, and 3½ per cent. stock, totalling £420,961, would all be exchanged for 3½ per cent. debentures at 95; and 3½ per cent. stock, amounting to £204,000, and 4 per cent. debentures at 95; and 3½ per cent. would all be exchanged for 4 per cent. debentures. The total debentures, amounting to £784,133, shall mature in 20 yearly instalments of £39,207 per annum, the first payment to be made on June 30, 1932, and the last on June 30, 1951. The Government will provide a sinking fund of 1 per cent., to be a charge on the consolidated revenue of the State, and to be deposited in the Commonwealth Bank in reduction of debentures in even thousands in the proportion of 3½ per cent. and 4 per cent. debentures issued. The remaining items on the balance-sheet, amounting to £31,229, will be handed over to the Commonwealth Bank as cash. The debentures will be issued under special Act of Parliament, if necessary, to give the same security as the present stock, but varying the due dates as above.

The scheme will relieve the Government of any payment of the principal of these loans before 1932, and then the payment will be made available in easy instalments. The 1 per cent. sinking fund will provide for a large proportion of the debt before it becomes due. As the amount of the new debentures will be £6982 less than those to be retained by the State, in addition to the £5659 from the profit and loss account, and as the probabilities are that the renewals of any existing loans will cost at least 4 per cent., the proposals are favourable to the State.

On the other hand, the Commonwealth Bank will give a straight-out security in the State of the amount specified of a rate that would permit of a payment of 3 per cent. interest to depositors, and provide sufficient margin for expenses and depreciation of securities.

The State is to have first call for State requirements on 75 per cent. of the increased deposits at current rates, and should the State at any time not require the amount, the governor of the Commonwealth Bank will be at liberty to invest the same either in the business of the bank or in the Commonwealth or in municipal securities. The whole of the staff at present exclusively engaged in savings bank business will be kept on.

THE EMPIRE'S WHEAT.

A new aspect to the advocacy of a duty on foreign wheat imported into England as a means of encouraging the import of wheat from the Dominions is given by the discovery that the Dominions grow more wheat than would supply the wants of the United Kingdom. This fact was pointed out by Mr. R. H. Rew in his paper on "Agricultural Statistics" read at the Dundee meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. But while the wheat exports of the Dominions in 1911 would have been more than sufficient to supply the needs of the United Kingdom, they were not all sent there. Great Britain received only 28 per cent. from British possessions. It appears that during that year Canada sent abroad more wheat than any other country in the world. India Mr. Rew regards as the most uncertain source of Imperial supply, although in good years it is one of the most formidable contributors to the wheat imports of the country. On the other hand, Canada has shown it to be the most trustworthy source of supply. During the last five years Canada has furnished 13.1 per cent. of the total consumption of wheat and flour of the United Kingdom, as against Australia's 7.5 per cent., India's 10.5 per cent., and other British possessions 0.2 per cent. For the same period the United States supplies averaged 19.4 per cent., and the Argentine 14.8 per cent. In 1911 the United States percentage fell to 14.2, and Mr. Rew adds that "the United States must be regarded as a diminishing exporter."

THE BUTTER MARKETS.

Prescott, Ltd., reports, concerning the Australian and London butter markets:—

Sydney.—The holidays seem to have upset the market, both in Australia and London, and, as a result, supplies have accumulated, and the market is easier. Local prices are unchanged at 104/ for first grade, and 98/ to 100/ for seconds. Production continues on a heavy scale, and the weather is having a bad effect on the quality.

Melbourne.—The demand is inactive, except for the best qualities. There is very little business doing for shipment to London. To-day's quotations are:—Superfine westerns and other choicest, /11¼; other brands, 1/ to /11¼. Arrivals for the week ending December 27 were 28,930 boxes butter and 140 tons cream. This shows a shrinkage compared with last week, but this is doubtless due to the holidays.

Brisbane.—The market is steady at 104/ this week, both local and export business being done at this figure. Last week's production is estimated at 14,000 boxes, but it is difficult to gauge accurately, on account of the holidays intervening.

London.—The market is quiet, owing to the holidays. Danish 130/, Australian best salted and unsalted 112/ to 114/. Total exports from the Commonwealth for the last four seasons are as follows:—

1909-10.	1910-11.	1911-12.	1912-13.

AMERICAN STEEL PRODUCTION.

American iron and steel quotations are distinctly above those of Germany, though they do not yet reach the height of the British articles. Yet United States production is increasing. October was a record month for production in the works of the United Steel Corporation. Approximately in that month one and a half million tons of ingots were produced, or at the rate of 18,000,000 tons a year. Steel manufacturers appear confident (writes the "Financier") that nothing can interrupt the prosperity the steel industry of the United States is now enjoying for a year at least. It is pointed out that the German steel industry has been prospering for the last three or four years, and has not suffered any bad effects to speak of from the mixed political situation. On the other hand, the steel trade did not start to show any material improvement until the first quarter of the current year. Having gained such remarkable headway, it is not to be supposed that the industry is going back to depressed times after such a short period of activity.

COPPER STATISTICS FOR 12 MONTHS.

The visible supply of copper in Europe at the end of the year was 43,241 tons. During the 12 months supplies to England and France totalled 487,853 tons, compared with 454,522 tons, in the previous 12 months. Deliveries in the 12 months were larger by over 40,000 tons than in the corresponding period of the preceding year; yet, at the end of the year stocks in the two countries were lighter by 15,000 tons. It simply means that manufacturers took more than the mines supplied, and shows the great activity prevailing in all manufactures of copper. The statistics for last year and the previous year may be compared thus:—

	1912.	1911.
	Tons.	Tons.
Supplies	487,853	454,522
Deliveries	512,386	471,844
Stocks, Dec. 31	42,150	57,283

At the Napier wool sales, Wellington, N.Z., Bradford wools were keenly sought for. American buyers were not operating freely, and wools suitable for that market showed a decline of from ½d to ¾d per lb. Best half-bred brought 12½d to 13½d, medium 10½d to 12d, fine crossbred 11d to 12¾d, medium 9¾d to 10½d, coarse 9d to 10d, lambs 8½d to 12½d. Fourteen bales of scoured pieces realised 1/3¾.

Nine hundred and twenty-four bales of wool were manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour on Saturday.

Four thousand six hundred and ninety-four tons of wheat and 63 tons of flour were manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour on Saturday.

EXPORT TRADE.

FROZEN RABBITS.

The following table shows the imports of frozen rabbits into the United Kingdom, during the first 10 months of the present year, as compared with those of the two previous years:—

New Zealand, cwt.	53,532	51,319	60,653
	331,618	390,946	480,145

It will be noticed that the Australian shipments show a distinct falling off. The total value of the 10 months' imports is set down at £41,033, of which sum Australian exporters secured £348,889.

PRODUCE.

RAILWAY MARKET

Conditions were little other than normal for a Saturday's market. The fact that it was near upon the opening of the month was neutralised by the lack of quality in the offering. Buyers assembled in moderate numbers to deal with a 50-truck yarding.

Little comment can be made. There was a noticeable decrease on medium grades of chaff.

A good deal of business was effected privately. Wheaten chaff touched 6/ as top sale, and oaten 5/9. Wheat fetched as high as 3/7½.

Produce placed in position for sale:—Chaff 44, hay 2, wheat 3, potatoes 1.

Manifest of projected arrival:—Chaff 48, hay 9, wheat 7, potatoes 3.

MINING.

NOTES.

The Stock Exchanges of Sydney, Melbourne, and Adelaide reopen this morning, after an adjournment over the Christmas and New Year holidays.

Taken altogether, the middle quotations of the London Stock Exchange on Friday disclosed a sound feeling generally for Australian silver and copper propositions. This will be seen by the following prices:—Broken Hill Proprietary, 44/9; North Broken Hill (new issue), 50/9; Broken Hill Block 10, 39/6; Briseis, 10/; Mount Lyells, 24/3; Chillagoes, 3/4½; Mount Elliotts, £7/17/6; Great Cobars, 86/10½; Mount Morgans, 63/9; Hampdens, 51/9; Zinc Corporation (pref.), 41/; Amalgamated Zinc, 36/6; Golden Horseshoes, 40/9; Kalgurli, 44/6; Ivanhoes, 70/; Great Boulder Proprietary, 11/9.

On the first day of the present year, the "Sydney Morning Herald" published an unofficial forecast of the operations of the Mount Morgan Gold-mining Company, for the half-year ended November 30, 1912.

After pointing out the very satisfactory results attending the adoption of an improved system of copper smelting, based on the pyritic copper-smelting practice in vogue at the Mount Lyell mine (Tas.), it was asserted the results achieved were so very satisfactory that it could be safely asserted, despite the fact of this remarkable copper-gold mine having been in active operations for close on 30 years, and paid £8,029,166 13s 4d in dividends, she was "starting upon a new career." Anyone reading in another portion of this issue the half-yearly reports of the directors, also of the general manager, will see that the statement is fully borne out. The statements contained in both documents are eminently satisfactory, and the shareholders will doubtless watch with keen interest the operations of the current half-year. Undoubtedly, a great deal of the financial success achieved—the profit earned was £253,126 7s 3d—was due to the fact that the average price obtained for copper was £80 3s 11d, as compared with £56 7s 8d, the average price realised during the corresponding half of the year 1911, irrespective of gold values in each case. Altogether, the reports are excellent reading, and should put shareholders in good heart in different parts of the world.

MOUNT MORGAN MINING COMPANY.

HALF-YEAR'S PROFIT £253,126.

BIG ADVANCE IN COPPER.

SUCCESS OF NEW SMELTING PRACTICE.

The report of the directors of the Mount Morgan Gold-mining Company for the half-year ended November 30, 1912, is one that cannot fail to command the warm approval of the shareholders. On the first day of the present year reference was made in the columns of the "Herald" to the great success already achieved by the adoption of a new smelting practice. The report to hand fully bears out the "Herald's" forecast, and indeed shows that the past half-year's operations were satisfactory at all points.

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The report of the directors is as follows:—

The total revenue for the half-year from all sources has amounted to £640,712.

The expenditure has been £387,585 12s 9d, which includes £65,430 6s 8d payments to the Queensland Government, £206,559 4s 10d for wages and mining contracts, and £117,645 1s 3d other expenditure (particularised in the balance-sheet and profit and loss account).

During the half-year 172,423 tons of ore, including 54,394 tons of basic ore from Many Peaks, were treated, producing 5004 tons of fine copper and 62,553 ounces of gold.

The surplus revenue for the half-year has amounted to £253,126 7s 3d, which, added to £11,871 11s 5d, balance of undivided profit brought forward from last year, gives a total of £265,000 18s 8d available for disposal.

One dividend of £50,000, being at the rate of 1s per share, was paid on October 1 last, leaving a balance at credit of profit and loss of £215,000 18s 8d, which the directors have applied as follows: £21,000 15s 6d to meet depreciation in plant and machinery; £20,000 to replace stores and stocks; £100,000 to the building fund; £50,000 in payment of a dividend at the rate of 1s per share; and £23,294 1s 2d to carry forward to next account. The above dividend of 1s per share will be payable January 2.

The stores and stocks (chiefly coke) having suffered depletion during the half-year, the board find it necessary to provide a sum estimated at £20,000 to replace the shortage. The item £100,000 applied to rebuilding fund is an instalment towards the cost of new furnaces, etc., and a rearrangement of the whole plant referred to in another paragraph and in the general managers' report.

The directors have continued the policy of selling copper for forward delivery, and with the assistance of their agents, Messrs. Aron Hirsch and Sohn, have on those terms disposed of all copper produced during the half-year, except 206 tons, which quantity will be sold next month.

The treatment of the copper at the Port Kembla Electrolytic Works has also given facilities for handling and realising it to the greatest advantage.

The average gross price obtained for copper thus realised was £80 3s 11d per ton, compared with £56 7s 8d, the average price realised during the corresponding half of last year, irrespective of gold values in each case.

Through the courtesy of the directors of the Mount Lyell Mining and Railway Co., Ltd., your board have had the benefit of a personal visit from and of the assistance of Mr. Robert Sticht, in correcting the metallurgical difficulties which had been met with since pyritic smelting began.

The plant and smelters at the Copper Reduction works, which have been in commission for the past seven years, cannot be made suitable for pyritic smelting, and, on expert advice the erection of new smelters and other plant for the treatment of the auriferous copper ore, combined with the pyritic ore from Many Peaks, upon the best known and most economical methods, has been determined upon. The expense of the new plant is estimated at £150,000, but it has been shown that the reduction in the cost of treatment of the ore will be so very considerable that your board have authorised the work being carried out in accordance with the plans designed by the general manager, Mr. B. Magnus, and approved by Mr. Sticht.

Alterations recommended have been made to the old plant, which have resulted in improved conditions, increased output, and reduced costs.

The board have also approved of the removal of the sawmill, and its re-erection at the Linda Tunnel, close to the supply shaft, and of the removal of the engineers' fitting shop to a position convenient to the copper reduction works. An extension of the railway to the supply shaft at Linda is being carried out.

A drive from the 1050 ft level is being carried for a distance of 100ft, with the intention of conducting boring operations with diamond drills from that point. Boring will also be carried out from the 950 and 650 feet levels to test the ground west of the present workings.

A considerable portion of the ore treated consisted of low grade material, and a further large proportion was won from areas not included in the reserves "blocked out," giving additional proof that the published ore reserves were calculated on a most conservative basis.

The difficulty of obtaining adequate supplies of coke and coal at reasonable prices has frequently given the board much anxiety and thought. The trouble has been very acute during the past half-year. In order to overcome these difficulties, and to secure regular supplies, it has been decided that it is necessary to acquire a suitable coal property, erect coke ovens, and produce coal and coke for own requirements. With this object in view an option has been taken over the two coal prospecting areas near the Blackwater railway station, on the central railway line. These properties are being subjected to a thorough examination by the company's officers, with the assistance and advice of coal experts.

The carrying out of all these undertakings will involve additional expenditure not included in the estimated cost of the new plant for the copper reduction works. Having to prepare for so large an expenditure, the board have decided to apply a considerable portion of the surplus income for that purpose rather than increasing the dividend at present.

It having been proved that the mundic ore can be treated more satisfactorily by other methods than at the gold reduction works, the whole of these furnaces have been closed down; much of the ore now goes to the copper reduction works for treatment.

Experiments are being conducted in concentrating the highly siliceous ores; it is too early to speak definitely upon the subject of concentration, but the results so far obtained are sufficiently encouraging to lead the board to look for complete success from this process.

The dams contain a sufficient supply of water to last for 15 months. A wing attached to the wall of No. 7 dam is being erected, which will impound an additional quantity of water.

GENERAL MANAGER'S REPORT.

The striking feature in the report of the general manager, Mr. B. Magnus, is the statement that of the 113,061 tons of ore sent to the smelters in the six months only 62,408 tons came from the high-grade ore reserves, whilst "24,264 tons came from the very extensive bodies of ore we have in the mine, which we do not take into account in our ore reserves. It is particularly significant," adds Mr. Magnus, "that this quantity of good smelting ore came from blocks of ore in the mine, which up to date have never been counted as reserves."

MANY PEAKS MINE.

During the six months 53,064 tons of ore, averaging 1.64 per cent. copper, were produced at the Many Peaks mine. Mr. Magnus remarks:—"The operations at this mine in the future may not be on so large a scale as during the period under review. The freight rate charged on this ore between Many Peaks and Mount Morgan is a very severe one, and does not encourage the shipment of low-grade ores over long distances."

COPPER SMELTER.

The following table shows the materials treated, assays, and production (leaving out fractions of tons):—

Material.	Tonnage.	Copper Obtained. Tons.	Copper. Per cent.	Gold Obtained. Oz.	Gold per ton. Dwt.
Copper ore	95,782	3,276	3.49	42,744	9.11
Gold ore	19,895	529	2.66	18,831	18.93
Many Peaks' ore	54,394	893	1.64	413	0.15
Purchased ore	178	22	12.64	9	1.03
Miscellaneous products	4,172	282	6.76	554	2.66
Total	172,423	5,004	2.90	62,553	7.25

In addition to this, there were used 34,363 tons of limestone and 20,702 tons of coke.

ORE RESERVES.

The general condition of the mine is very good. The table herewith gives particulars of the ore reserves and depletions:—

	High grade. Tons.	Medium grade. Tons.	Low grade not included in reserves.	Total. Tons.
Ore reserves, May, 1912	1,499,000	2,027,000	—	3,526,000
Smelted during 6 months	62,408	26,373	24,280	113,061
Mined, but not sent for treatment	3,751	3,414	2,331	9,496
Net reserves, November, 1912	1,433,000	1,997,000	—	—

The results of development on the 1050 level so far are encouraging. The ore so far encountered on this level has been in a drive put in preparatory to diamond drilling. There is on the surface sufficient ore in storage to maintain the smelter for some time, without mining ore, should that course ever be necessary.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Mr. Magnus observes:—"The ratio between tons of Many Peaks ore used and one ton of silica in Mount Morgan ore has decreased from 1.22 to 1 at the beginning of the period, to 0.557 to 1 at the end of the period. This is due to better furnace work and better experience in the handling of these ores.

"Since the shutting down of the Mundic works which, during the period of clean-up, produced 7089oz of fine gold, the smelter has been handling the grade of ore which formerly treated in these works. The handling of this siliceous ore in the smelter materially increased the cost of producing copper, because more flux is needed for these ores than is needed for our copper ore. In addition to this the blister produced from these gold ores does not add materially to the total blister produced, although the gold value in the blister is largely enhanced, with the result that, although the cost of producing a ton of blister is increased by handling gold ores, the net returns in profit are greater, as the maximum recovery of the gold is made from these ores.

"The discontinuance of operating the Mundic works, which are now finally closed down, has enabled a greater net profit to be made out of the gold ores.

"A start has been made with the construction of a new smelter, entirely independent of the present smelter, and embodying all the best features in modern copper smelters. A very large saving in operating costs will be made in this new plant, and even apart from the fact that the new smelter is amply warranted, due to the savings it will achieve, it is further warranted by the life of the mine, which very soon would demand smelters of larger capacity, and consequently it is advisable to have a new plant erected as soon as possible. Although a start has been made on the construction of the new plant, at the same time we are putting in improvements to the existing plant, all of which are warranted. We are installing large mechanically operated slag bowls, new matte handling system, and hope soon to begin the installation of specially lined converters.

"The difficulties formerly experienced with jacket troubles and short campaigns of the furnaces are disappearing, a marked improvement in both these conditions being already apparent.

"Large increases in wages have been made to the men connected with the smelting department. There is, at present, a scarcity of skilled men. In and about the smelter departments are employed 450 men.

"The expenditure for new plant will extend over a long period, and will, therefore, be no financial burden during any one period. The new plant, when finished, will be complete in every detail, and should avoid the incurring of any further large capital outlay for many years."

DECEMBER OUTPUT.

The fact that the smelters of the Mount Morgan Company dealt with 18,342 tons of ore last month, as against 25,719 tons in November, shows that the company's operations, as is usually the case at the end of the year, were affected by the Christmas and New Year holidays. As a matter of fact, the smelters closed down during the last eight days of December, and will not restart until January 9. At the same time, it will be noticed that, in addition to the decreased tonnage of ore smelted, the copper contents declined a fraction, whilst the gold contents receded 1.73dwt per ton of ore, as compared with that treated in November, but, still, the average quality treated in December—48.44 dwt—was above the average for the past half-year.

The details for the past six months are as follows:—

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

The Warwick Farm Racing Club has provided 675 sovs for the half-dozen events on the card for its January meeting on the 18th inst., of which 100 sovs goes to the Warwick Handicap and 75 sovs each to the other races. Entries are invited up to 4 p.m to-day by the secretary, Mr. H. B. Dando.

The weights for the Moorefield January meeting are promised this forenoon.

The Rosebery Racing Club holds a pony and galloway meeting next Saturday, and for the seven events on the card Mr. J. Underhill, secretary, will receive nominations up to 5 p.m. to-day. The prize-money aggregates £485, of which £60 goes to the Rosebery Handicap, while there are four events worth £70 each, and one each of £65 and £60.

The weights for the Challenge Stakes and Anniversary Handicap, the principal events in connection with the A.J.C. Anniversary meeting, will see the light tomorrow.

Backers were in great form at Canterbury Park on Saturday, when five popular selections claimed the attention of the judge, but in the other instance an outsider afforded a small measure of relief to the ringmen. The sport was free from accident, and the stipendiary stewards had a clean sheet.

Messrs. H. Chisholm and Co. hold a sale of blood-stock this afternoon at their stables, Randwick, the lots catalogued including racehorses in training and brood mares. Among the former are the Carrington Stakes winner Ruby Hampton, Abbcite, Jacamar, Venusia, Merel, Irishman, Maroomba, Fulminic, Royal Welcome, Bran Jan, Lord Hybla, Lady Merv, Mutilator, Kairoma, and other well-known performers; while the brood mares include imported Embrace (dam of Embracer), Clymena (imp.), Espionage (imp.), Gaussima (imp.), and Lady Abbess II. The sale commences at 2.30 p.m.

Though put up 15lb in the weights for her success in the Carrington Stakes, Ruby Hampton was sent out a warm favourite in a field of 16 for the Flying Handicap at Canterbury Park on Saturday. Of course, the quality of the field was not up to that she met in the big sprint race at Randwick a week before, but the extra burden did not seem to trouble her, for she was one of the first to find her legs, and, taking command in a few strides, never left the issue in doubt. Barley Water escorted the daughter of Jolly Hampden all the way, while Torula, who occupied a forward position throughout, filled the minor situation. Precious, who started second favourite, never gave her supporters much hope, though he had the benefit of the apprentice's allowance. Among the starters was the Fortunatus horse Arbute, who has been doing so well in Queensland lately, but he was never near the leaders, and was one of the last to pass the post.

The well-bred Lady Denman opened her winning account at Canterbury Park on Saturday in the Maiden Handicap, which attracted 15 competitors. For some time she disputed favouritism with Gold Laddie, but at the rise of the barrier she had a slight call in the market from the son of Ayr Laddie, while Delara and Simmereen were also well backed. The favourite made one act of it, for she quickly opened up a gap of daylight, and easily held her advantage to the end from Sabella and Gold Laddie, who had formed her immediate escort for the latter half of the trip. Lady Denman is by Maltster from Lady Rylstone (half-sister to those turf celebrities Lord Cardigan and Dividend), by Grafton (imp.) from Lady Trenton, by Trenton (son of Musket) from Black Swan, and, now that she has gained the winning list, such a stoutly-bred filly should more than pay her way. The field included the three-year-old filly Tipple, by Maltster from Disgrace, by Lochiel, for whom the Victorian sportsman who races as "Mr. K. S. M'Leod" gave 875 gns. as a yearling. She ran well forward for half the trip, but had nothing to say in the settlement of the question. Another well-connected horse, Malthus (full-brother to Alawa), took part in the contest, but he was just beaten out of a place.

Maltster was represented by a winner at Mentone (Vic.) on Saturday, when Widgiewa secured the First Division Handicap. Galliardia, the dam of Widgiewa, is by Trenton (son of Musket) from Paressuese, by Yattendon.

The Maltster filly Duko, who has been running prominently of late, was selected as the best of the 18 juveniles that were stripped for the Nursery Handicap at Canterbury Park on Saturday, Malt Lily and Forest Lily being also well backed. While out for her preliminary canter, Silver Grain, a full sister to the Australian Cup winner, Peru, got rid of her rider, who remounted, but again she played up, and dislodged him from the saddle. She was then led to the starting-post, and was again inclined to be fractious when Davies resumed his place as pilot. The favourite, however, easily repaid the confidence of her numerous admirers by never leaving the issue in doubt, scoring comfortably from the Antonio filly Purita, and the colt Chid, by the same sire. Duko is full sister to Woolerina, her dam, Suivre, being by Grafton (imp.) from Sequel, by Chester. As a yearling Duko was retired from the ring when bidding ceased at 375 gns. Duko hails from the same stable as Lady Denman, but is in different ownership. Both fillies were piloted by C. Bolton.

Owners and trainers who intend to be represented in the big handicaps of the autumn at Randwick, Caulfield, and Flemington, and also in the minor events on the card for the A.J.C. Anniversary meeting, are reminded that entries close at 4 p.m. to-morrow, and that early attention to business will prevent the risk of missing the lists of nominations.

The Clarence River-bred gelding Calvinia, who has been showing a good turn of speed in the metropolitan district of late, was regarded as the best of good things for the Park Stakes at Canterbury Park on Saturday, and his admirers were called upon to lay a shade of odds on the son of Tara, who carried the top weight (9st) in a field of half a dozen, while the Havoc mare Lorn was the best supported of the others. The favourite essayed to win all the way, and nearly succeeded, but the unthought-of Maygar tackled him at the home turn, and, sticking gamely to his task, gradually wore down the favourite, getting up just in time to beat him by a very narrow margin—so narrow, in fact, that few beyond the judge could tell the winner until the number went up for the 10 to 1 chance. Maygar is a northern district-bred mare by Lochnagar, and her recent public form was not encouraging for investment, hence her price in the betting market. Her win, however, was a pleasant break for the pencillers in the monotonous repetition of winning favourites.

Eight were stripped for the Canterbury Handicap on Saturday, the best fancied of whom was Strathroyale, who had the benefit of J. Pike in the saddle, and only a shade of odds was available about him at the rise of the barrier, while Merel was next in demand. Momarjay and Britanny on terms cut out most of the work, but the latter faded out of it when Strathroyale and Merle closed on them at the home turn. When fairly in line for the judge's box the favourite silenced opposition, while Merel cut Momarjay out of second money by a narrow margin. This was Strathroyale's second win since Mr. Bannatyne purchased him at auction for 220 gns. last spring.

There were half a score starters for the Welter Handicap at Canterbury Park on Saturday, and most money was invested on the chances of Santanno and En Haut, the former of whom had a slight market call at the rise of the barrier; while Wild West, Eunella, and Truxton King were also well backed at quoted prices. The Terembone gelding, Polo, who hails from H. Roarty's stable, set the pace to the bend, where he beat a retreat, leaving Truxton King at the head of affairs, with Santanno, Wild West, and Eunella just in his wake. Truxton King was beaten before reaching the distance, where Wild West temporarily fluttered his supporters, but Santanno had the ex-New Zealander in difficulties ere the half-distance was cast behind, and comfortably accounted for him from that point. En Haut was never dangerous, and was just beaten out of a situation, while Eunella, who was prominent in the latter half of the journey, got third place. The winner was bred by Mr. E. A. Shiel, and is by Positano (imp.) from Yo San, by Projectile from Loch Mea, by Lochiel from Lillias, by Roodee.

The anniversary reunion of the Bowral Jockey Club, on the local racecourse, has been fixed for the 27th inst, and the prize money for the half-dozen events on the card amounts to £63, of which £25 goes to the Bowral Cup, which is further enriched by a gold cup, to be won twice before finally becoming the property of the winner. Entries will be received by the secretary, Mr. J. White, Bowral, up to 8 p.m. on Friday, the 17th inst.

The conditions are announced for the principal handicap in connection with the Victoria Amateur Turf Club's autumn meeting, to be held at Caulfield on February 15 and 22. The event is the Oakleigh Plate, of 1350 sovs., second to receive 250, ad the third 100 sovs. from the stakes, 5½f. The acceptance fee is 20 sovs., or 2 sovs. if scratched before 4 p.m. on the Thursday before the race. Nominations will be received by the secretary, Mr. Thos. W. Moule, 491 Bourke-street, West Melbourne; up to 6 p.m. to-morrow (7st inst), and also at the office of the Australian Jockey Club, Sydney.

The Goulburn Racing Club holds a two days' race meeting on the 30th and 31st inst, the prize money aggregating 160 sovs., distributed ten events, the principal of which are the President's Handicap of 30 sovs., 1m and 70yds; and the Springfield Handicap, of 25 sovs., 1m and 70yds; while the other prizes range from 10 to 20 sovs. Entries will be received by the secretary, Mr. J. Norman Hay, up to 8 p.m. on Monday, the 20th inst., and up to 4 p.m. on the same day by Mr. H. B. Dando, at the office of the Warwick Farm Racing Club.

CANTERBURY PARK RACE CLUB.

JANUARY MEETING.

RUBY HAMPTON WINS FLYING HANDICAP.

STRATHROYALE, THE CANTERBURY HANDICAP.

The slight rainfall on Saturday morning caused the Canterbury Park management to consider the postponement of its January fixture, but eventually, as the weather cleared up, it was decided to go on with the racing. Despite counter attractions, there was a good attendance, and the rainfall did not adversely affect the going. The card was run through without mishap or unpleasantness, and the general arrangements were ably supervised by the secretary, Mr. W. L. Davis. Results:—

Barley Water jumped out in front from Torula, Ruby Hampton, and Salarino, but as they neared the course proper Ruby Hampton took charge, and rattled along the back stretch a length and a half from Torula, Barley Water, and Salarino, after whom came Parata and Precious. Rounding the bend Ruby Hampton increased her lead to two lengths from Barley Water, who had Parata and Torula at his heels, with Lotroma at the head of the others. Ruby Hampton turned into the home stretch clear from Barley Water, Lotroma, Torula, Parata, and Ayr Girl, and, coming on at her ease, won by a length from Barley Water, who was a similar trifle in front of Torula. Lotroma was close up fourth, followed by Salarino, Ayr Girl, and Precious, while Arbute and Tinvane were the last to get home. Time, 1m 14¼s.

Sabella and Tipple were the smartest off the mark, but when they had settled into their strides Lady Denman took charge, and passed the five furlongs post closely followed by Tipple, Sabella, Simmereen, and Gold Laddie. Racing along the back Lady Denman drew out three lengths from Tipple, Gold Laddie, and Sabella, after whom came Simmereen, and Pert. Gold Laddie moved up next the leader as they came round the bend, and they were followed by Sabella, Tipple, Simmereen, and Pert, with Malthus at the head of the others. Lady Denman turned into the straight a couple of lengths from Sabella, Gold Laddie, and Simmereen, and, coming on at her ease, won by three lengths from Sabella, who beat Gold Laddie by a head for second place. Malthus was close up fourth, followed by Simmereen, Pert, Delara, and Briarberry, with Boorumbeelah and Eloper at the tail of the hunt. Time, 1m 15¼s.

NURSERY HANDICAP of 100 sovs, with a sweepstakes of one sov each for starters added, second horse 20 sovs, and third 10 sovs from prize, 5f.

Duko was first to move, followed by Wee Bob and Chid, and Maltster's daughter showed the way past the half-mile post, with Wee Bob and Pompa at her heels, and Chid at the head of a clustered lot, which included Purita, King Murillo, and The Christian Brother. Save that Duko increased her advantage to three lengths, there was no change as they came round the bend and into the straight. Duko was not afterwards troubled, and won comfortably by two lengths from Purita, who had Chid at her girths. Pompa was close up fourth, followed by Malt Lily, The Christian Brother, Forest Lily, Stainer, and Spurn, with Crema at the tail of the main body, and Silver Grain last. Time, 1m 3¼s.

PARK STAKES of 100 sovs, second horse 20 sovs, and third 10 sovs from prize. 1m.

Mr. A. Roderick's ch m Maygar, by Lochnagar—Gladys May, 5yrs, 8st 7lb (W. Callinan) ... 1
Mr. Gordon Wallace's ch g Calvinia, 6yrs or aged, 9st (S. Lamond) ... 2

Other starters: Manipa, 7st 4lb (Eckersley); Happy Miss, 7st 4lb, inc. 4lb over (C. Bolton); Walbrook, 6st 11lb, inc. 1lb over (J. Williams).

Betting: 5 to 4 on Calvinia, 3 to 1 v Lorn, 7 to 1 each v Happy Miss and Walbrook, 10 to 1 v Maygar.

Walbrook and Calvinia made play, and the latter passed the judge's box closely attended by Happy Miss, Walbrook, and Maygar, with Lorn at the head of the others. That order was preserved out of the straight down the hill, and along the back stretch to the bend, where Calvinia was two lengths in advance of Happy Miss, and Maygar. Maygar challenged Calvinia at the distance, caught him inside the half-distance and beat him by half a head. Lorn was a length away third, closely followed by Happy Miss, Walbrook, and Manipa in that order. Time, 1m 43¼s.

CANTERBURY HANDICAP, of 100 sovs, second horse 20 sovs, and third 10 sovs from prize. 1¼m and 100yds.

Mr. D. Bannatyne's br g Strathroyale, by Strathroy—Budgeon, 5yrs, 8st 3lb (J. Pike) ... 1
Mr. T. C. Trautwein's b g Merel, aged, all. 7lb, carried 7st 2lb (W. Callinan) ... 2
Mr. I. H. Andrew's br c Momarjay, all. 7lb, carried 7st 6lb (W. Guy) ... 3

Other starters: Pan Out, 8st (S. Lamond); Sir Artegal, all. 7lb, carried 7st 5lb (E. Islip); Kyloe, all. 7lb, carried 6st 12lb (L. Watterson); Britanny, 6st 8½lb, inc. 1½lb over (K. Bracken); Nonentity, 6st 9lb, inc. 2lb over (G. Pinn).

Betting: 6 to 4 v Strathroyale, 3 to 1 v Merel, 4 to 1 v Kyloe, 8 to 1 each v Pan Out and Momarjay, 14 to 1 each v Sir Artegal and Britanny.

Strathroyale was first away, and showed the way round the bend from Britanny, Sir Artegal, and Momarjay, but as they came down the running Momarjay ran to the front, and nearing the judge's box was joined by Britanny, and the pair passed that point with Strathroyale at their heels, and followed by Merel, with the others bunched. Without change they raced along the side and back to the half-mile post, where Britanny and Momarjay were still disputing the lead a couple of lengths in advance of Strathroyale, Merel, Pan Out, and Kyloe. Pan Out ran up next to the leading pair at the bend, with Strathroyale and Kyloe just in her wake. At the home turn Momarjay shook off Britanny, and was followed into the straight by Strathroyale, who had the measure of the opposition ere the distance was reached, and coming on won easily by two lengths from Merel, who beat Momarjay by a neck for second place. Pan Out was fourth, Kyloe fifth, Sir Artegal and Nonentity next, and Britanny last. Time, 2m 16½s.

WELTER HANDICAP of 100 sovs, second horse 20 sovs, and third 10 sovs from prize. 1m.

Betting: 3 to 1 v Santanno, 7 to 2 v En Haut, 4 to 1 v Wild West, 6 to 1 v Eunella, 7 to 1 v Truxton King, 14 to 1 v Polo, 20 to 1 each v others.

Polo, Eunella, and Santanno were smartest off the mark, and Polo showed the way past the seven-furlongs post, closely attended by En Haut, Wild West, Truxton King, and Santanno. Racing down hill Santanno ran up next to Polo, who at the five-furlongs post was a couple of lengths from Santanno, after whom came Truxton King, Browlee, and En Haut. As they ran along the back stretch Polo was still leading, with Truxton King at his heels, and closely followed by Browlee, Santanno, Wild West, En Haut, and Eunella. Rounding the bend Truxton King headed Polo and turned into the straight with Santanno, Wild West, and Eunella in hot pursuit. Wild West and Santanno ran past Truxton King at the distance, whence Santanno drew clear, and coming on won by two lengths from Wild West, who had Eunella at his heels. En Haut was close up next, followed by Master Dix and Truxton King; then after a gap came Polo and N.S.W., with Hale in the rear. Time, 1m 44½s.

POLO.

The Sydney Polo Club was joined by several of the crack country players on Saturday, and began practice for the forthcoming tournament at the Kensington Racecourse. Some hard training was indulged in, which left its marks upon both men and ponies. The ground, however, was in good condition, and the ponies, considering that they have not so far had any hardening-up preparation, behaved splendidly. There was a good turn out, although the numbers would doubtless have been much larger but for the threatening nature of the weather. Players present included Messrs. Colin Stephen, Alfred Turnbull, "Dick" Garvan, J. L. Merrivale, Wills Allen (2), "Jack" Davis, from Scone, and W. Cope. Amongst the visitors were Messrs. Telford Simpson and Major Sitwell, of the Imperial Army. The ladies present were Mesdames Leslie, Percy and Bert Wills Allen, of Scone; Mrs. and Miss Garvan, who have just returned from England; Mrs. Bertie Kelly, and the Misses Irene Brown (of "Milestones" Company), Moller Little, and Cope.

The many friends of Mr. "Jack" Garvan will be pleased to know that he has quite recovered from his fall of last season.

The visiting players from Scone have taken up their quarters in Sydney, and purpose to remain here till the March tournament, in order to get as much practice as possible. The official opening of the season will probably take place next Saturday week.

BOWLS.

SATURDAY'S PLAY.

WELCOME HOME TO BOWLERS.

Saturday's bowling programme was considerably interfered with by the rain of Friday night. In fact the majority of the matches were abandoned, because the greens were not fit to play upon.

Several games were played, however, on Saturday, and chief among them were the afternoon and evening festivities at Randwick, when Messrs. G. Raffan and J. C. Waine, two of the New South Wales team who recently toured Great Britain, were welcomed home. Details of the club and other events:—

WELCOME HOME AT RANDWICK.

The members of the Randwick Club had a gala day on Saturday. The members attended in large numbers, and the selection committee arranged rinks. The centre of attraction naturally rested on the play of the returned travellers, who secured the services of Messrs. Hedges and Kiss as lead and second player respectively, and they had against them a very strong rink, led by Mr. McClure, but Mr. Raffan's quartette proved too strong for Mr. McClure's team, and when play ceased the cards showed:—

Hedges, Kiss, J. C. Waine, Raffan	34	—
Williams, John Forsyth, Lewis, McClure	—	17

At 6 o'clock the company partook of the meal so well known to bowlers as a "leg o' mutton supper." The president, Mr. John Forsyth, occupied the chair, and he had on his right and left the guests of the evening, also the Mayor of Randwick, Alderman Gilderthorpe, and the member for the district, Mr. David Storey.

The usual loyal and other toasts having been honoured, the chairman called upon the company to drink to the health of Messrs. Waine and Raffan.

Messrs. Raffan and Waine responded.

Mr. Waine said that what impressed the people of Great Britain wherever he went was that a party of 42 people could come thousands of miles to play a game of bowls, pay all their own expenses, costing hundreds of pounds.

VICTORIA PARK CLUB.

This club had arranged a gala day, but owing to the softness of the green it was decided to abandon the official opening until January 27. A scratch match was played on Saturday between teams chosen by the secretary and vice-presidents.

CYCLING AND MOTORING.

NOTES.

The Tasmanian junior cricketers visited the Sydney Cricket Ground to view the six-days' bicycle race during the week, at the invitation of the promoters Bikerina, Ltd.

Mr. Chud Goodwin, a well-known cyclist at Lithgow, who is now in the cycle trade at Dubbo, was so interested in R. E. Spears' chance of winning the final sprint in the six-days' race that he came to Sydney, and was a frequent visitor on the ground. He presented a special gold medal for the most meritorious ride by individual team member.

The monthly meeting of the Enfield-Burwood B.C. is to be held to-morrow (Tuesday) night.

The South Sydney League B.C. (late Peerless Club) is holding a general meeting to-night (Monday).

MOTOR CYCLING.

In connection with the motor cycle reliability trial the president of the Motor Cycle Club of N.S.W. states that Mr. A. L. Maddocks did not arrive at the G.P.O. until about 6.35 p.m. He was delayed by puncture troubles—six in one day.

The competitors in the motor cycle trial are to be entertained by the Barnet Glass Rubber Company this evening at 6 o'clock, at a dinner at Sargent's Cafe. After dinner the Motor Cycle Club of N.S.W. is giving a theatre party to the visiting Victorians.

Mr. C. Mundy, a Victorian motor cyclist, who was successful in the recent motor cycle reliability contest from Melbourne to Sydney, intends making an attempt on the Sydney-Melbourne record recently established by Mr. J. Fair, who covered the distance from capital to capital in 29 hours 45 minutes. Mundy is riding a 3½-h.p. Rudge, fitted with Continental tyres.

NOTES ON THE RACING.

J. M. Firth scored his first success in Enid (late Donnelly II.) on Saturday, when he piloted her home the winner of both the initial heat and the final of the Flying Squadron's race.

Since he took the boat over from George Holmes a couple of months ago, her performances have been somewhat indifferent; so that her fine showing in both events on Saturday came as a surprise.

In the first heat Blanche, the limit boat, made good pace on the reach to Taylor Bay, where she had 12m in hand from Enid, which was followed in turn by Eunice, Donnelly I., Sonia, Australian, Nimrod, and Wilhelmine. Eunice's chance was not improved by getting the ballooner overboard near the mark.

Donnelly I. fouled the mark in rounding, and was disqualified; whilst half-way across to Shark Island, Australian's jib halyard carried away, and spoilt what looked like a good chance of winning. This was the worst of bad luck for Webb and his men, who had the boat sailing beautifully at the time.

Firth kept Enid going splendidly on the work across the harbour, and she was only 8s behind Blanche at Shark Island, Eunice being third, 57s astern, with Nimrod following 25s later.

Blanche looked like winning, but did not square anything until well up to the finish, and was therefore easy prey, not only for Enid, but also for Eunice, while she was only 4s ahead of Nimrod crossing the line.

The limit boats Lilian and Advance had no difficulty in keeping the others astern in the second heat; in fact, Lilian practically had the heat in hand from the start. Nicely suited by the conditions, she went so well that she finished up a very easy winner.

The work from Taylor Bay to Shark Island in this heat saw Kismet assume third place, with Scot, Livona, Mona, Pastime, and Quilbree following. Golding had dropped out, having been disqualified for not giving way to one of her rivals when they met. It was a great race home between Kismet, Livona, and Scot, and they crossed the line in this order.

Just as Australian did in the first heat, Kismet soon caught Nimrod (which, by the way, carried a fine new suit of sails) in the final. Blanche still led at the Taylor Bay mark, but only by 18s from Sonia, the others following in the order of Lilian, Advance, Enid, Scot, Livonia, Eunice, Kismet, and Nimrod.

The race looked open until half the beat to Shark Island had been negotiated, when Enid's fine windward work made her prominent, and before reaching Shark Island she looked a sure winner.

At this mark she had a lead of 45s from Advance, the order and times being:—Enid, 5h 10m 20s; Advance, 5h 11m 5s; Livonia, 5h 11m 30s; Kismet, 5h 11m 40s; Scot, 5h 11m 55s; Lilian, 5h 12m 5s; Sonia, 5h 12m 14s, then came Nimrod and Blanche, followed by Eunice, the last-named having done badly over this part of the course.

Enid now had matters all her own way, but the race for the other places was full of interest. Dunn sent the spinnaker and ringtail up on Kismet, but the former at first blew over her head, and the big extras really did not do any better for her than the ballooner which Livonia squared did in her case. Both boats drew up on Advance, but, although the finish was a good one between these three, the order was unaltered crossing the line. Scot had to be kept hard at it to beat Lilian, and only did it by 5s.

The last-named's performance was the most disappointing of the lot, as she was much fancied after her fine win in the second heat.

J. M. Firth made no mistake in handling Enid, and his win was a popular one.

SWIMMING.

SATURDAY'S CLUB EVENTS.

SOME GOOD PERFORMANCES.

Several amateur clubs and one league club opened the second part of the season on Saturday with members' handicaps over various distances. The form shown was distinctly promising for good displays at the coming State championship carnival. Perhaps the best swim of the day was that by Cecil Healy, who, in the Manly Club's event (150 yards handicap), covered the distance in 1m 38s, only 1s worse than his own Australian record. The race was also remarkable for the large number of starters—56. Some excellent performances were also established in the Rose Bay Club's 100yds handicap by members of the club's team in the State teams' championship. A. Wickham was timed to swim 58 2-5s, his brother exactly the same time, and W. Longworth 59s. The Longworth brothers were prominent throughout the race, which was won by N. Longworth in 1m 24 1-5s, while R. Longworth swam the distance in 1m 5s. The Premier Club (Sydney), decided a 75yds general and a 60yds junior handicap, in the former of which good times were registered. Barry made his first appearance since his return from a holiday trip, and was credited with 41 3-5s for the 75yds. The other members of the team to defend the club's title in the teams' championship accomplished the following times, namely, L. Boardman, 41 4-5s; H. Boardman, 42s; P. Boardman, 43 4-5s; and F. Cummins, 43 3-5s. The Bondi Club's 100yds handicap was won by the club champion, F. Coulson, in 1m 5s, after swimming third in a 300yds handicap earlier in the afternoon.

Amongst the ladies' clubs the outstanding performance was Miss Fanny Durack's 1m 12s for 100yds, which, although 4s worse than her own record, is a better time than any other girl has ever accomplished. Miss Durack also swam third in a 50yds breast-stroke handicap, and a free style handicap over the same distance. The principal event of the six events held by the Sydney Ladies' Club was responsible for great improvement by Miss D. Farmer, who won the 100yds handicap in 1m 30s, 6s better time than her performance of a few weeks ago. Miss Mary Russell again showed her superiority in diving over her fellow members of the Metropolitan Ladies' Club. Altogether, the second part of the season opened very auspiciously.

BACKING THE FAVOURITE AND (SURPRISING THING)
DRAWING A WINNER.

"When you go to Randwick," remarked Snows' Dress Goods Buyer, as he sidled up to the house scribe, "you don't know what horse is going to win, so you just back your fancy, and HOPE FOR THE BEST."
"There's a difference, however, when you go into the World's markets to buy Dress Goods for Sydney Womenfolk."
"You back your fancy, but you must KNOW—not hope—that your fancy is a winner."
"Now, the point, is," he continued, "VOILES were my fancy. I backed them. And, in the Dress Goods Race,

VOILES HAVE WON
FROM THE RISE OF THE BARRIER.

"Voiles have been flying out while other good things have dropped to a steady jog jog. When the figures go up, you'll find Voiles miles ahead."
The Odds are Hundred to One against your finding better Value than

BEDTIME.

"IN BED we laugh, IN BED we cry,
AND, born in BED, in bed WE DIE."

According to the lines quoted, it would seem that in the 16th CENTURY, at any rate, it was considered a good thing to spend a considerable TIME IN BED, although another AUTHORITY who flourished something like a COUPLE OF CENTURIES later, and doubtless represented MORE ADVANCED THOUGHT, writes thus:—

"AND THE BEST of all WAYS
To LENGTHEN our days
Is to STEAL a few hours FROM THE NIGHT, my dear."

All will admit this BED BUSINESS is a SERIOUS MATTER. Even to SEEING to the MAKING OF THE BEDS is among the most important of a true HOUSEKEEPER'S duties. She must see that ALL IS SNUG, that smoothness and ABSOLUTE CLEANLINESS prevail, and that Blankets, Sheets, Quilts, Pillowcases, and all the rest of the ORTHODOX PARAPHERNALIA are as they should be. She will probably, if she be the EXCELLENT WOMAN we take her for, fully recognise that it is PART of the BUSINESS of 1910—1911—1912.

DURING

No doubt many people will wonder how on earth so many people could be induced to have their teeth attended to. The reason is close at hand. I have spent a ton of money telling the public all about my easy way of treating teeth without the least bit of pain and those who were fortunate enough to hear about it have quickly told others—hence my marvellous success.
Now I have never claimed superior SKILL as a dentist by announcement or by word of mouth, but I have claimed SUPERIORITY OF PAINLESS METHODS, and I still claim them, and will continue to do so till such time as someone invents something superior to take their place—thus far, that has not been done—and I think it will be a very long time yet before such takes place.
My claim to extract any tooth WITHOUT PAIN is backed up with an offer that I'll forfeit £50 if there's any, which should in itself be a sufficient guarantee that my method must be A1, otherwise how could I afford to make such an offer?
